GRIMES-HURLEY

A wedding, beautiful in its simplicity was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage last evening at nine o'clock, when Miss Ruth Summerlin Hurley and Benjamin Franklin Grimes, of Smithfield and New London, Conn., were united in holy wedlock by the bride's father, the Rev. Bernard T. Hurley.

A background of greenery in the east window of the living room, interspersed with floor baskets of trailing spirea and white iris, and seven branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, formed the setting for the bridal scene.

The beautiful betrothal and ring ceremony of the Methodist Church was used.

Mrs. Clarence Morse, Jr., sister of the bride, presented a program of nuptial music. During the ceremony "Angel's Serenade" by Braga was softly played. The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were played.

Mrs. Morse wore a powder blue costume, with navy accessories and a corsage of red American beauty roses.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Marian Franklin Hurley. She wore a teal dress with turf accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses.

The groom entered with his best man, Clarence Morse, Jr., of Elizabeth City.

The bride wore a redingote costume of black crepe with dusty pink trim. Her off the face hat of black straw was enhanced with a dusty pink veil. Her corsage was of white sweetheart-roses, valley lilies and swansonia. For travel she wore a black faille coat.

Mrs. Grimes is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Bernard T. Hurley, of Williamston. She was graduated from Smithfield High School, Louisville College, where she was May Queen and a member of Sigma Iota Chi sorority. She later attended Flora McDonald College in Red Springs.

For several years she has been engaged in secretarial work. At present she is secretary for Mr. R. L. Coburn, of Williamston.

Mr. Grimes is the son of Mr. William F. Grimes and the late Mrs. Attila Hood Grimes, of Smithfield. He was graduated from Smithfield high school and attended Lenoir-Rhyne College. He is now in the submarine service of the United States Navy.

He left immediately for a short wedding trip to unannounced stops. Mrs. Grimes will return to the home of her parents the latter part of the week and Mr. Grimes will report for duty in New London, Conn., Friday.

Linoleum Provides New Cotton Outlet

New York City—Virtual disappearance of burlap from the market has resulted in a new use for cotton. A large linoleum manufacturer here has resorted to cotton backing instead of burlap.

The change to cotton has been predicted for some time, with scientists having done research on cotton backing for linoleum for the past several years.

The cotton fabric in the backing is a specially treated heavy duty sheeting which is said to wear equally as well as the burlap formerly used.

New Cotton Fabric Glows In Darkness

Cleveland, Ohio—Unusual but useful is a new cotton fabric being introduced on the retail markets here. It's a cotton backed oilcloth which stores up light under normal conditions and releases it during blackouts.

The new cotton material, expected to be in demand during National Cotton Week, May 15-23, is impregnated with luminescent pigments which store up light from any source for release when normal illumination fails or must be turned off.

Made in rolls that can be cut to any size, the luminous cotton can be used to edge steps and hand rails in homes and office buildings, to make arm and hat bands, and guide lines for exits.

HALL-SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Smith, of Kinston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Themise Catherine, to William Carlyle Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hall, of Williamston. The wedding took place in a private ceremony in the First Baptist Church, Kinston, last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Hall is a graduate of the East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, and is now teaching in the Greene County schools at Maury. The groom, a graduate of Mars Hill College, is now employed as manager of the Economy Auto Store in Plymouth. The young couple will be at home on Main Street, Plymouth, after May 1st.

Rehabilitate Eyes Wrinkleproof Suit For Military Service Gets Women's O.K.

New York City—As more and more women go into defense factories and have less and less time to spend in household duties, a new wrinkleproof cotton suit developed this season is expected to gain wide popularity during the spring and summer season.

Resembling closely in appearance the sharkskin fabric which has been discontinued due to military demands for chemicals needed in munitions production, the cotton fabric meets requirements of the military forces is shown in a survey disclosing that 437 men, rejected because of visual shortcomings, undertook corrective measures and upon re-examination were accepted for service, reports the Better Vision Institute.

Of those whose eyes were rehabilitated, 262 were admitted to the Air Corps, 82 to the Army and 93 to the Navy. Eyesight was improved by visual training alone, by lenses alone, and by both lenses and training. The cases were reported by 253 eyesight specialists in 41 states.

The remarkable success in tuning up the eyesight of these men so that they could go back and meet the stiff visual requirements of the air and other forces should be an object lesson to millions of men and women in the United States with functional and refractive shortcomings in vision," comments the Institute.

"Surveys of factory, office and other workers have disclosed wanton disregard of the need to take adequate measures for the conservation of eyesight. Millions of persons, studies indicate, pay little or no attention to their visual inefficiency and take no steps to rehabilitate their eyes so that they can better adjust themselves to the exacting requirements of modern life."

"In the nation's all-out effort for victory, visual efficiency is as important on the production line as it is on the field of battle. Half-seeing soldiers cannot win a fighting war, nor can half-seeing industrial workers win a struggle for production and more production. America needs to conserve and mobilize to the fullest extent its visual resources. America needs vision for victory."

Cotton is of such great importance in meeting military and civilian demands that the United States is now consuming more than 45,000 bales each day.
