

Kaus Shows Open At Fairground Monday

The W. C. Kaus Shows, Inc., featuring the sensational flying La Forms, internationally famous aerial act, will open Monday, April 20, at the Williamston fairgrounds under the auspices of the American Legion.

The typical atmosphere of flags, banners, all relaxing in the gaiety of the carnival amid a new setting on the midway this year and will exhibit many new and novel tented theatre shows. Among those listed on the program is George Baldwin and his all star studded sepiu swing revue. Unlike other plantation shows the swing revue gets started as a fast stepping jitterbug contest and then swings along in the manner most liked through Dixieland, songs, dances and real southern music help chase your blues away.

Special attention will be shown the kiddies and an extra special Saturday matinee will be run with all rides at half rate through the courtesy of your local merchants.

The W. C. Kaus Shows will maintain through the Williamston American Legion protected free parking right on the fairgrounds.

Doled Selling Now Offered Purchasers

Last week the Office of Price Administration took official action on its automobile rationing rules—the new orders aim at moving 360,000 cars to essential users in the next year. Sales of leading-bakery companies are running 10 to 30 per cent above a year ago. Housewives are buying more cakes and cookies to save wear and tear on the family sugar bowl. The baker's sugar supply is limited too; he can only use four-fifths as much sugar per month as he used in the corresponding month in 1941. Result: thinner icings on the new "streamlined" cakes. It is no longer possible to buy 10 to 20 pounds of nails without answering a few questions. The customer will have to prove that his need is essential from the standpoint of contributing to the war effort in some way.

Several new rides have been purchased and to those who want a snappy sensational thrill of a dive bomber, the Eyerly rolloplane will suffice.

The big free attraction of the midway will be none less than the five flying La Forms, direct from the sawdust trail of the big top. This act has appeared in all the metropolitan cities of the world and will be shown at Williamston for the first time ever on a carnival midway.

Defense stamps will be sold at all cash boxes of the shows and a special smoke for the Yanks nite will be featured later in the week.

New Guinea Airfield After Jap Bombers Attacked

Billowing skyward in huge rolls, black smoke darkens a New Guinea airfield at Salamaua after hangars and other installations had been set afire by Japanese bombing planes. Dairy Farmers Plan Now for Next Winter

If normal rainfall occurs this summer, dairy farmers of North Carolina will produce the extra 79 million pounds of milk asked of them in the "Food-for-Freedom" program says F. R. Farnham, Extension dairyman of N. C. State College. He predicts that a better feeding program, a pasture improvement program based on applications of lime and phosphate, and an increased number of milk cows will enable the milk goals to be met.

"However," he added, "if we are to follow through with a continued increase of dairy production, it is of the utmost importance that farmers plan now to grow those crops that will furnish feed for cows next winter. The dairy herd must be adequately fed after the fall frosts kill the grass in pastures."

Farnham says that every farmer who plans to milk five or more cows will need an acre or more of good silage corn. Each cow will need at least three tons of silage to carry her through next winter, when the feed ration includes, also, a good quality of legume hay and a liberal grain ration. "Silage is a cheap source of succulent roughage," the Extension dairyman said. "A yield of from 10 to 12 tons of silage corn per acre is quite common in the State. There is probably no other crop that will produce more digestible nutrients than an acre of corn yielding 10 or more tons of silage per acre."

Farnham reports that milk production is being increased rapidly all over the State, especially in the Piedmont and Western North Carolina. He says that milk receipts at the Shelby receiving station of one of the large dairy manufacturing plants showed an increase of 68 per cent in one week.

Dr. Pepper Clock Now on "War Time"

That means, some days, because of rationing, you may have to pass up one Dr. Pepper hour

TODAY the famous Dr. Pepper clock has its "war time," too!

You see, some of the ingredients we use in making Dr. Pepper are now rationed.

For that reason, on some days you may have to pass up one of those three Dr. Pepper enjoyment hours.

In these times more than ever, you do need that extra spark of energy you get when you drink a cold, satisfying bottle of Dr. Pepper at 10, at 2 and at 4 o'clock. But, if your dealer is out of Dr. Pepper at one of these hours, don't blame him. We simply cannot supply him with all the Dr. Pepper you folks are asking for.

So that all may be served

When you do find Dr. Pepper at your dealer's, enjoy one cold bottle—and when available take one carton home for the family to enjoy. Don't ask for more than your share, because your neighbor and his kiddies get tired and thirsty, too. Leave some for them!

For our part, we shall continue to make Dr. Pepper with the same pure, wholesome ingredients—the same cheerful drink that picks your energy up. And we shall see that every one of our dealers gets his fair share of our present, regulated quantities and at no increase in price.
