Legion Auxiliary Will Sell Poppies

"Wearing a poppy is the individual way of honoring the men who have sacrificed their lives in the nation's service.

"Ever since the first World War the poppy has been worn in tribute to the men who gave their lives in that conflict. Now new names are being inscribed among America's heroic dead. The poppy is for them too. It is a symbol of our sorrow and pride. It is a pledge that we will always remember them and serve on in the cause for which they died.

"The poppy springs from the blood and tears that are the price of victory—the price of freedom in this world of conquest and oppression. Again and again Americans have had to pay this price to win and maintain their existence as a free nation. When we wear the poppy this year we will be showing that we are not shrinking from paying that great price once more in order that we may pass on to Americans to come the heritage of a free America.

"As we honor those who give their lives, we should think, too, of those who sacrifice health and strength, and of the families left in need because a father or son has served his country. They are still within the reach of our help. Let us be generous in our contributions for the poppies. Every penny of the money given goes to support the work The American Legion and the Auxiliary are doing for the disabled and dependent families of the first World War and of the present conflict."

The John Walton Hassell Post of the American Legion Auxiliary will sell this poppies in the county this coming Saturday.
