BIRTHDAY DINNER

Friends and family gathered at the home of Mr. Eli R. Edmondson near Hassell on Sunday to celebrate with him his 74th birthday. It was a great pleasure to them to be with Mr. Edmondson, who is one of the outstanding men in his community. He has always been a leader in all movements good, having served for 30 consecutive years on the school board in his district and being instrumental in getting the six months school term for Hassell earlier than many other communities.

The love and devotion of friends, children and grandchildren to this grand old man were evident all during the day and he greatly enjoyed the fellowship of the occasion which really was a celebration of his own birthday of last Friday, September 25th, and that of his wife, who passed away six years ago, whose birthday would have been today, September 29th.

The guests were invited to a long table in the grove, which was centered with a two-tiered cake, trimmed in yellow and green on which seventy-four candles were burning. Mr. Elbert Peel, of Williamston, made a few appropriate remarks and presented the children and grandchildren with $100 bonds, gifts from Mr. Edmondson. A bountiful southern dinner with all the trimmings was served after thanks were returned by Mr. W. L. James. Mr. Edmondson received many gifts from his friends and relatives.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Edmondson and son, P. C., Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Eli Edmondson and son, Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Edmondson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Edmondson and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Edmondson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Ayers, George, Jr., Ruby, Mildred and Margaret Ayers, of Hassell; Mr. W. L. James, Mr. and Mrs. George C. ## Lumber Shortage Threatens Defense

Producers of brick and other clay products were urged by WPB recently to gauge production to meet an anticipated increased demand for these materials for use in the place of lumber in both temporary and permanent structures.

Ben Alexander, special assistant on lumber in the Office of Industry Operations, called upon all manufacturers of brick, tile and gypsum board, and on the membership of unions within the industry to aid in averting a "serious temporary shortage of lumber."

"Because of Lend-Lease requirements, and heavy construction programs of the Army, Navy, and National Housing Agency," Mr. Alexander said, "it is estimated that the available supply of lumber will fall 6,000,000,000 board feet short of meeting this year's estimated 38,000,000,000 board-foot requirements."

It is believed that at least 2,000,000,000 board feet of lumber could be saved by increased utilization of brick and tile, and an additional 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 feet saved by use of gypsum board. Adequate brick, tile and gypsum board for such uses can be produced by expanding the present output of the industry, which is now working at only 30 per cent of capacity. Annual capacity production of the brick and tile industry is estimated at the equivalent of approximately 13,000,000,000 bricks.

WPB has been assured that there is an adequate supply of skilled workmen to handle additional construction.

State College Hints For Farm Homes

By RUTH CURRENT

Your gloves, handbag, your umbrella—and other accessories like these are not the most important items of your wardrobe but they deserve extra care these days. Clothing specialists suggest that the habit of losing gloves and umbrellas is a good one for America women to break. Buy a glove-holder to attach to your pocketbook if you are inclined to lose your gloves, or sew a name tape on the inside seam.

Take a tip from the sales person and put your gloves on just as she tries them on you: Ease fingers on first; then thumb and palm. Turn rings so the settings are toward palm of your hand. The best way to take most gloves off is to loosen each fingertip, turn the cuff back over the fingers and draw the gloves off. Suede gloves are an exception; try to work them off easily without turning back the cuff or pulling the fingertips.

After you take off a pair of gloves, pull them gently into shape, blow into the fingers, and lay them in tissue paper in a flat box.

Don't let your gloves get too dirty before you clean them. Watch for rips in your gloves and mend them promptly. Always use cotton thread in sewing leather. Silk thread will cut the leather and pull out.

A silk umbrella that is not used for a long time needs a shower bath once in a while. Clean a silk umbrella by brushing it with a soft cloth.

Clean an oil-silk umbrella by washing with mild soap and water. Rinse off and dry in the shade before closing. Handle oil-silk umbrellas very carefully in cold weather or the oil-silk will stiffen and crack.
