

Vaccinate Fall Pigs For Cholera

Pork is an essential war food, and North Carolina is one of the major pork-producing States of the east. Dr. C. D. Grinnels, veterinarian of the Agricultural Experiment Station at N. C. State College, makes an urgent plea to all swine growers to protect their fall pig crop from diseases.

"North Carolina is near the big eastern centers of pork consumption," said Dr. Grinnels. "We are also close to some of the important packing plants from which meat is shipped to our soldiers and allies overseas. Therefore, we have a patriotic duty to supply as much pork as possible, especially in view of the transportation shortages and the need to conserve shipping space from the Mid-west to the Atlantic Seaboard."

The veterinarian warns farmers especially to guard against losses from cholera in their swine herds. This is one of the deadliest pig diseases. Pigs should be vaccinated against cholera, particularly so if there should be an outbreak of the disease in the neighborhood.

To this warning Dr. Grinnels added another: "Be sure that the pigs are in proper condition before vaccination, and see that they are adequately cared for during the post-vaccination period."

"Last spring's pig crop suffered some losses due to these two diseases. Pigs should be examined before vaccination to make sure that none of them are suffering from other swine

PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Fires on farms take approximately 3,500 lives and destroy about $100,000,000 worth of property each year, says R. W. Graeber, Extension forester of N. C. State College. He urges that rural people and hunters who frequent the woods, and that auto drivers who smoke, be careful with their matches. "We cannot spare the manpower or the timber this year," he said, "because all human and forest resources are needed to win the fight for freedom against the Axis enemies. A cigaret butt, a lighted match, or a smoldering campfire may aid the Axis."

1943 AAA FARM PROGRAM TO STRESS LEGUME SEEDING

Seeding of winter legume crops this fall is the best way to bolster production of important war crops next year, and at the same time beat the threatened shortage of nitrogen, according to G. T. Scott, chairman of the State USDA War Board, with headquarters at State College. Legume seedings are needed in North Carolina to replace application of nitrogen fertilizer which will be reduced because large quantities of commercial nitrates are going into manufacture of munitions, Scott said. Growing of winter legumes—mainly crimson clover and Austrian winter peas—is recognized as one of the best methods of restoring productive vigor to the soil. Many war crops, such as peanuts and soybeans, are soil depleting.

At present, North Carolina farmers already have received or have been shipped 4,822,500 pounds of Austrian winter peas, 350,000 pounds of rye grass, and 1,356,500 pounds of crimson clover.

Under the 1943 AAA program, he said, greater interest is being placed on seeding of winter legumes as cover and green manure crops. The rate of payment for establishing and burning under a good stand of winter legumes has been increased from $3 to $4 per acre. Harvesting winter legume seed in a workmanlike manner or leaving all the legume forage on the soil as a "go-down" cover crop will earn $3 per acre, as compared with $1.50 per acre under the 1942 program. Those credits are a part of the maximum production practice allowance which may be earned on an individual farm.

"We can't trust to luck with mismanaged land," he said. "We must run our farm plants at the greatest speed they can stand without burning out the soil."

These cover crop seed will be furnished farmers by the AAA and costs will be deducted from any payments due the farmer under the AAA program.

PUT A GOOD WINTER COVER ON YOUR LAND

Cover crops, especially the more desirable legumes, are heavy feeders on potash. Be sure that they get enough to enable them to make a vigorous growth to hold the soil in place during the winter. Cover-crop fertilizers usually should contain about equal amounts of phosphate and potash.

Potash also speeds up early spring growth and helps to provide a large amount of green matter high in nitrogen and minerals to turn under for the main crop to be planted in the spring. See your county agent and fertilizer dealer about the economy of using potash to insure good winter cover crops.

Just how important the automotive mechanic's work is to the nation will be clear to all who consider the following facts:

● Automobiles and trucks form the sole practicable means of transportation for war workers and war materials in many communities throughout America.

● In some sections, 78% to 100% of the workers drive by automobile to vital war plants.

● 2,314 U. S. cities, with a population of 12,524,000, depend on private cars for transportation.

The automotive mechanic—the trained Chevrolet Victory Service Man—is the lifeguard of America's millions of cars and trucks. Help him to help you and America by getting a skilled service check-up at regular intervals.

54,000 communities depend entirely on motor vehicles.

● Six out of every ten farms use one car or more; 67% of farm car mileage is necessity driving.

● More than 65.2% of all war plants reporting in Michigan (a typical war production state) depend on trucks to haul their incoming and outgoing freight.

● Trucks haul nearly 100% of the milk supply of most large cities—and 58% of all livestock marketed in the U. S.

● Trucks are the sole transportation system serving our 54,000 communities not reached by railroads.
