SALE EXTRAORDINARY.

Our Annual White Goods Sale, One Day, Friday,
May 8th. Positively One Day Only.

Every year we hold a white goods sale, a sale of one day's duration at which time we put on sale all our white dress fabrics. Now a word of explanation of this sale. This is no schemers sale to try to shove off a lot of old hard stock, remnants, seconds, but strictly high grade stuff, the kind you want and will buy before the season is over. It has never been the policy of this store to sell one article that we thought would injure our reputation as a SQUARE DEAL STORE.

Remember this is not a special sale as generally understood by the public in this community, but a sale that is watched for from season to season in the larger cities by the thrifty, the ones who would know a bargain when they saw it.

We don't load this sale down with "adjectives" and Printers ink, but we will load it down with goods of quality at prices that will convince you if you care to call and see. We shall look for you. Remember it's for one day only.

FRIDAY, MAY 8th.

We will mention a few prices: 12 1-2 cent lawn goes at 7 1-2 cents; 29 and 35 cent Persian Batiste, 46 inches, 22 1-2 cents; 45 cent Persian Batiste, 46 inches, 34 cents; 19 and 25 Persian Batiste, 40 inches, 16 c'ts; Cross Barred Muslin 25 and 35 cent values, great, 15 cents; 15 and 18 ct. values, great, 12 1-2.

The following from The Jackson, Tenn., Times, will be read with interest in this city, where Mrs. Dickinson, who was Miss Katie Thorp, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Thorp, formerly lived and was a popular member of Rocky Mount society:

"From five to six o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. R. E. Dickinson entertained some fifty of her lady friends with a very beautiful reception at the residence of Mrs. N. S. White, 594 E. Main street.

"The house was darkened and very brilliantly illuminated by electricity and the decorations were especially beautiful and striking. The hall and parlor were in red, crimson roses being used in lavish profusion, and red candles in the candelabra, while the green of numerous fine pot plants and graceful trailing vines formed a pleasing adjunct to the bright colors of the flowers.

"The dining room and library were in yellow. Yellow shades mellowed the brilliancy of the light, and yellow candles burned in the candelabra.

In the library Marechal Neil roses were used and in the dining room yellow carnations.

"Mrs. Lee Rafalski met the guests in the hall, and in the parlor Mrs. Dickinson was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Nolan S. White and Mrs. Clarence E. Pigford.

"After visiting the parlor the guests passed into the hall, where Miss Elizabeth Perkins presided over the punch bowl with easy grace.

"In the dining room Mrs. John W. Buford received and Misses LeLieseline White, Louise Nance, Loraine Wisdom and Mary Murray served the refreshments, a salad course followed by cream and cake.

"Then the library was visited, where Miss Anna Murray, assisted by Miss Margaret Withers, dispensed fragrant Mocha from the smoking coffee urn.

"A fine string band, stationed on the first landing of the stairway, discoursed sweet music, and upon the whole it was such a delightful function that the ladies found it hard to tear themselves away, and compliments were heard on all sides upon the affable courtesy of the hostess and the charm of the entire entertainment."
