If your subscription has been paid in advance but has recently expired and if the carrier calls on you for ten cents for the week past, you may know that your paper has been changed from our paid-in-advance list to our weekly collection list and that the carrier will have to pay the office for your paper, whether you pay him or not, until you are paid in advance again. This explains why, if you do not settle promptly with either the carrier or the office, your paper will be discontinued. The carrier cannot afford to pay us for a paper that he gets no pay for.

Prosecutor Sawyer and Trial ustice Spence are right in directing the police to enforce North Carolina's new railroad crossing stop law. It's enforcement should not be confined to Elizabeth City but should extend to all railroad crossings throughout this section. In other sections sheriffs in certain counties had deputies at a number of railroad crossings to direct the attention of motorists to the new regulation. But in these other counties also the railroads had erected stop signs at the crossings as the law requires them to do. In this section the Norfolk Southern does not seem to have complied with the law. While we are after the motorist, why not jack up the railroads ?

This rain didn't come a mite too soon, 'pears to us.

What some folks need to make them a success is not an efficiency but a deficiency expert.

One observes from the upstate papers that cotton blooms hereabouts are as early as those the locals.
