SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1923.

Wouldn't it be fine if Elizabeth City had a Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt to elect president of the Albemarle District Fair Association.

President Harding's oath never to mistreat a dog or a horse could not be construed, The Advance takes it, to include the Democratic donkey or the G. O. P. elephant.

Old Jess fought his last fight before a full house and quit, reports say, something like $100,000 in pocket. The Advance hopes there'll be a nest egg left after he pays his debts, and that he'll be able to steer shy of bankruptcy for the remainder of his days.

The Associated Press, The Advance observes, has taken notice of the new bus service established in Elizabeth City for the convenience of the shopping public and is sending the story of it to The Associated Press dailies in the State. It's news, all right, but it makes good advertising for Elizabeth City.

The German reparations note, which England is undertaking to answer, stipulates a virtual moratorium of four years before reparations payments are begun. What Germany and the allies of France in the war may as well understand in the beginning is that France is not going to get out of the Ruhr on the basis of a German promise to pay.

According to the Edenton News the boll weevil has been found in Chowan this summer. Last year it was but a few weeks after the weevil reached Chowan before it was found in Pasquotank. Pasquotank farmers may be expected to be on the alert for the first sign of the pest in their cotton fields, but it is a rather different sort of alertness from that with which they watch for the first cotton bloom.

The only baseball game played by Edenton mentioned by this week's Albemarle Observer was one in which Edenton defeated Aulander, 3 to 2. This, according to the Observer, was a very good game. The inference is that those in which Edenton was defeated were punk. "Interest in baseball seems to be lagging in Edenton," naively remarks Editor Story. And that was before Friday's slaughter when Edenton bit the dust 14 to 4. The Advance wouldn't be a bit surprised to hear now that interest in baseball in Edenton has practically disappeared.

The Suffolk News is very busy telling its readers that the policy of the News is not dictated or controlled by News advertisers. The News says in so many words that statements to this effect will be made and reiterated in its columns until people are brought to realize their truth. But a newspaper gets about as far with such statements as this as a woman can by proclaiming her virtue. The only way a newspaper can gain the confidence of its readers in its integrity and independence is by daily demonstration over a period of years. And there one has one of the reasons why a newspaper can not be made overnight.

In The Social Circles

Entertains At Bridge

Miss Evelyn Hughes entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon at her home on Pennsylvania Avenue in honor of her guest, Miss Lillian Pitt of Tarboro. Sandwiches and an ice course were served. The guest of honor received a prize and the top score prize was won by Miss Dorothy Jones. Miss Hughes' guests were: Miss Lillian Pitt of Tarboro, Marie Jackson of Edenton, Helen Perry, Mary Gilbert, Valeria Scott, Katherine Pinner Katherine Spence, Lina Stevens, Dorothy Jones, Ruth White, Isabel Meekins, Lillian Hooper, Katherine Penn of Greensboro, Margaret Foreman, Mildred Hughes and Mrs. Buck Avant.

Euzelians Enjoy Picnic

The Euzelian class of Blackwell Memorial Sunday school, about 75 strong, including husbands and babies, enjoyed their annual picnic at Bartlett's Beach Friday afternoon. Everybody except the chaperones went in bathing. Next there were games on the big plot of grass by the riverside, after which such appetizing outdoor refreshments as "hot dog" sandwiches and lemonade were eagerly consumed. Then the party returned home safely without misadventure in spite of the fact that it was Friday the Thirteenth. Mrs. S. C. Newbold is teacher of the class. Dr. J. H. Thayer, pastor and Mrs. Thayer and James Henry Thayer Jr., were also among the picnickers.

GALLANT HERO MUST FIGHT REVOLUTION SINGLE HANDED

The national capital is the locale of a portion of "Red Hot Romance," a John Emerson-Anita Loos production at the Alkrama theatre today. The story is from the pens of Mr. Emerson and Anita Loos, and is a delightful satire on the Graustark type of tale—wherein the American youth goes to a mythical kingdom, falls in love with the princess, and wins her after felling all her royal lovers.

BELL GIVEN PRIEST IS FOUND IN ABBEY

Belfast, July 14.—The ancient ecclesiastical bell of Nendrum, given to St. Mochoai on his ordination by St. Patrick, has been found by workmen during the course of excavating the ruins of Nendrum Abbey.

The workmen found the bell hidden in an angle of the ancient foundations for the walls, while clearing away the debris which had collected for centuries.

The bell is made of riveted wrought iron, originally covered with a coating of bronze, and except for a crack at the base and a portion of the handle, which has been broken off, it is in perfect condition, though much corroded.

Here is a shoe that is sure to suit you— I have worn Rice & Hutchins shoes for ten years and wouldn't wear any other kind.
