Fruit Growers On Inspection Tour

Henderson County Plans Campaign in Interest of Better Fruit Growing

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Through the cooperation of the Henderson County Fruit Growers, the Hendersonville Chamber of Commerce and the State Division of Horticulture, and in the interests of better fruit growing methods, an orchard tour of Henderson county has been arranged by H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist of Western North Carolina, it was announced today at the department of agriculture here. The tour is to be made on August 30.

Leading orchards in Henderson county will be visited by the fruit growers of the section going on the tour and while inspections of various orchards are being made field instructions concerning pruning, spraying and fertilization, will be made by experts, it was announced.

One of the features of the day's program will be an address on "How Fruit Spur Growth and Pollination Effect the Yield of Fruit Trees" by Professor E. C. Aucter, head of the horticultural department of the University of Maryland.

Other specialists to go on the tour will be Mr. Niswonger, extension horticulturist, and Professor C. D. Matthews, chief of the division of horticulture of the agricultural experiment station at State College here.

All persons in the vicinity of Henderson county who are interested in fruit growing are privileged to go on the tour, which will begin at the county courthouse at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, said agricultural officials here.

"THE MASQUERADER" IS STAGE RECORD BREAKER

"The Masquerader," the first National attraction which is today's feature at the Alkrama, comes to the screen from the stage with a record that has probably never been equalled. For more than three years it has served as a vehicle for Guy Bates Post, following a stupendous run in the big cities, with a prolonged tour that covered every part of America, Canada and Australia.

The screen version comes to materialization with every augury of success, for it combines the same qualifications that were responsible for the triumphs given it on the stage. Richard Walton Tully, who produced the stage play, is also responsible for the cinema production, the picture marking his debut in the motion picture field. Guy Bates Post resumes his accustomed roles of John Chilcote and John Loder. James Young directed the picture which had the discerning hand of Wilfred Buckland as art director in the arrangement of scenes and appointments.
