

HEALTH CRUSADE IN THE SCHOOLS

Sponsored by North Carolina Tuberculosis Association in the Schools of the Whole State.

Sanatorium, Sept. 26.—North Carolina has around 753,000 children in its public schools enrolled in grades from 1 to 7. To keep them growing in both mind and body for the next six, eight or nine months is the double task committed to the teacher.

A few years ago, training the mind was one thing and keeping the body well and strong was another. Today it is a well established fact that if the brain is to grow and develop normally, along with it must grow and develop a strong, sound body. A proper functioning body is essential to a properly functioning mind. So related is the growth and development of the mind to the growth and development of the body that no modern progressive school system of today attempts the first without giving consideration to the other. Almost every worth while school in the country has inaugurated some method of teaching the fundamental rules of health to the children, which at the same time helps them to put their knowledge into practice.

Probably the most popular and successful health movement that has been worked out in the schools in this country is the modern health crusade, developed and practiced by Mr. Charles M. DeForest of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York City. Since the inauguration of this movement four or five years ago, millions of American children have been given training in forming good health habits. In North Carolina alone 96,000 children were given this training last year.

The Modern Health Crusade in the schools is a system of teaching that imparts good health habits. Its basis is practice and not mere precept. Under it the children do the duties explained in hygiene and physiology that are too often left undone. Through play and romance and various other appeals suited to child psychology, it gives children the motive needed for the every day practice of hygiene.

The results of Crusade work in the schools have been found to be physical and moral improvement, prevention of disease, and better attendance and deportment in schools. It links the school and the home in health work. Children not less than eight years old may qualify as Modern Health Crusaders while the program is elastic enough to be adapted to the needs of children in the sixth, seventh and even higher grades.

The North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, headquarters of which are at Sanatorium, sponsors the Modern Health Crusade Movement in this State and furnishes the supplies for inaugurating the system in the schools.

U. S. POSTAL BANDS HOLD RADIO CONCERTS

New York Sept. 26.—What purposes to be the biggest contest ever held will occur on Monday evening October 15 when twenty nine United States postal bands situated in all the principal cities in the United States will hold a radio concert contest. This was decided at the Convention of the National Letter Carriers Association held last week at Providence when Emory Johnson, the motion picture producer and the Film Booking Offices of America offered a cash prize of five hundred dollars and a beautiful silver cup to the best mail man band in America.

With the decision to hold the contest the radio was immediately accepted as the best means of reaching the public for their decision. In the United States there are twenty-nine large postal bands scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. The plan calls for the concerts to be held on Monday evening October 15th simultaneously all over the country.

Ballots will be printed in the radio sections of daily newspapers and in addition to this over a million and a half ballots will be distributed by letter carriers to people on their various routes who own receiving sets. The name of each band and the station they are broadcasting from will be printed on each ballot so that it is possible to tune in on three or four different concerts before the contest finishes. The ballots when filled out by those who listened in are to be returned to their mail carrier of the radio edition of the papers who will in turn forward them to the film Booking Offices where they will be counted.

Two weeks will be allowed to count the votes and the winners will be announced by radio on the evening of November 1st.

The $500 cash will consist of three prizes. The first will be three hundred dollars and to the first prize winner will also go the award of the cup. $150 will be the second prize with fifty dollars as the third.

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES RUN INTO MILLIONS

Mexico, Sept. 26.—Claims for damages to foreign property resulting from the Mexican revolution already filed with the National Claims Commission total more than $250,000, according to the commission's last report.

Should a revolutionary claims convention be adopted after resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico, as proposed in the understanding reached at the pre-recognition conference, this amount will be enormously increased as numerous American and other foreign claims have not yet been filed with the national commission, but are held up for settlement through diplomatic channels.

Getting Ready For Big Football Game

Contract Let For Erection Of Grandstands On Riddick Field, State College

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Contract for the erection of wooden stands on Riddick Field at State College, to accommodate 4,150 spectators, has been let to W. B. Barrow of Raleigh. Work will begin immediately and the job will be rushed to completion in time for the first major home game, that with the University of South Carolina, on October 13. J. M. Kennedy, also of Raleigh, is the architect.

The new stands will be located along the eastern side of the field, where the embankment was cut away during the summer, and they will be permanent, or rather they will remain in place until the Tech Athletic Association is able to replace them with concrete construction.

For the last several years temporary bleachers have been used on the east side of the field for the football games and when the baseball season came around the stands were removed to make room for the spring sport. This practice, while expensive and troublesome, was necessary on account of the limited space. With the embankment cut away, however, considerably more than the regulation distance for baseball is available, even with the bleachers in place.

The new stands will be built from a platform at least three feet high which will give spectators seated on the bottom row an uninterrupted view of the playing field over the heads of persons standing in front.

Additional bleachers will be erected also at the south end of the field, next to the railroad, and the line of concrete stands along the western side will be supplemented with wooden construction providing seats completely around the field. According to Professor Thomas Nelson, of the faculty athletic committee, who is in charge of the seating arrangements, more than 9,000 people can be seated at the Fair Week game with Carolina, and there will be standing room for three to four thousand more.

There will be 3,150 reserved seats on the Carolina side of the field, and 2,049 on the State College side. Tickets for these two reserved sections will go on sale about October 1. The price will be two dollars each. Mail orders should be addressed to Professor Thomas Nelson, State College Station, Raleigh, who advises that the purchaser should specify his preference as to the side of the field and enclose ten cents additional for registering the tickets.

CHARLOTTE FINAL WINNER IN SERIES

Wilson, Sept. 26.—Charlotte of the South Atlantic League yesterday defeated Wilson of the Virginia League 3 to 2, and thus ended the post season series by winning four games to Wilson's two.

"She Looks Well In Anything"

Of course she does! But it's no gift of the gods—just good taste plus common sense. She "looks well" in anything she puts on" because she is careful never to put on anything she will not look well in!

It's not a matter of money, either. Rather of wisdom in selection. No woman can dress well on money alone! We know a lot of women, and you do, too—women of modest means who find our fashion service the golden yet inexpensive key to successful dressing.
