ENGLAND SAYS HER TAXES TOP THE LIST

London, Oct. 3.—At current rates of exchange taxation in Great Britain is almost three times as heavy per capita as in the United States, according to official figures compiled in London. The latest figures drawn up show that in Britain the taxation is $72.44 a head, in the United States $25.70, in France $24.33, and in Italy $11.81.

In issuing these comparisons, the British have challenged as a complete misrepresentation of their own official figures the scale which M. Dimnet of France presented to the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., recently. He was quoted as saying that Prime Minister Baldwin had given figures showing the taxation in France was $88 a head, in Great Britain $83, and in the United States $28 a head.

Heretofore figures given by Mr. Baldwin and the British treasury as to taxation a head in various countries have always been in the respective currencies of such countries, it is said. The latest are:

Great Britain (1923-24) L.15.18.1
U. S. A. (1923-24) $25.70
France (1923) Pes 441.5
Italy (1922-23) Lire 275.3

The British suppose M. Dimnet may have arrived at the figures he gave by conversion into dollars at par exchange, which they hold to be wholly misleading.

in Washington Heights. He placed Clark Griffith, who had achieved success as a manager in Chicago, in charge of an all-star organization selected to represent New York in the junior circuit. A peace agreement was signed between the American and National Leagues shortly afterward.

Players whose names are now set down in baseball's corridor of fame wore the first Yankee uniforms. They included Jack Chesbro, Harry Howell, Jesse Tannehill, Jack O'Connor, John Ganzel, Jimmy Williams, Herman Long, Wild "Cotton" Keeler, Dave Fultz and Lefty Davis. Within a year Jack Powell, Al Orth, Tom Hughes, Jim McGuire, Kid Elberfeld and Pat Dougherty were added.

Griffith piloted the club until late in the season of 1908 when he resigned in favor of Elberfeld. George Stallings took charge in 1909 and held on until late in 1910 when Hal Chase became manager. Chase was succeeded in 1912 by Harry Wolverton, then came France Chance, who led until September 1914 when he resigned after failing to make a pennant contender of the club. Roger Peckinpaugh finished the 1914 season, the last of the Farrell regime. In 1915 Colonel Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston purchased the club, paying something around half a million dollars for the franchise, players, and other property.

Until this time the Yankees had been "in an outers." Ruppert and Huston immediately began building up with new players. Bill Donovan was employed as manager. His club in three seasons could do no better than fourth, however, and Miller Huggins was placed in charge. Huston and Ruppert continued their generous outlay of money for stars. Babe Ruth who had won fame as a pitcher and hitter with the Boston Red Sox, came to New York.

With Babe came luck. In 1921 Yankees won their first pennant. Ruth set a new all-time record for home runs with 59 that year. The Yankees started the world's series impressively but cracked and the Giants won the championship after eight contests. In 1922 the Yankees again won their race but failed to take a game from the Giants in the world's series. They tied one game and lost four.

After their lease on the grounds in Washington Heights expired in 1923 the Yankees shared the use of the Polo Grounds with the Giants for nine years, but after their unusually successful seasons of 1921 and 1922 the Yankee owners decided to build their own park. The Yankee stadium, greatest baseball plant in the world, was opened to the public this year.

After some negotiation Colonel Huston, half owner, of the Yankees sold his interest early this year to Colonel Ruppert for about $1,500,000, netting a gross profit of more than $1,000,000 in eight years.

In 1915 the first season under the Ruppert-Huston ownership the Yankees' attendance was 256,000. Since the war the attendance has averaged annually more than 1,000,000.

In the 21 years of American League baseball in New York the Yankees have finished as follows: 1903, fourth; 1904, second; 1905, sixth; 1906, second; 1907, fifth; 1908, eighth; 1909, fifth; 1910, second; 1911, sixth; 1912, eighth; 1913 seventh; 1914, sixth; 1915, fifth; 1916, fourth; 1917, sixth; 1918, fourth; 1919, third;
