

Ives-Gregory

At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the First Baptist Church was solemnized one of the most beautiful and impressive weddings of the autumn season when Miss Dorothy Gregory became the bride of Mr. George Allen Ives of New Bern.

The decorations of ferns, ivy, and cathedral candles, formed a lovely background for the wedding scene, and the exquisite music by Mrs. I. M. Meekins, completed the atmosphere of dignity, beauty, and happiness that symbolizes a real wedding. Just before the ceremony Mrs. J. P. Greenleaf sang "For You Alone" in a very charming manner with a violin obligato played by Miss Minnie Nash.

Miss Helen Street of Forest Hill, Maryland, and Miss Sarah Watt of Reidsville, bridesmaids, wore shaded gowns of green chiffon and carried arm bouquets of pink snapdragons.

Miss Olive Wood and Miss Lescelles Griffin, both of Elizabeth City, bridesmaids, wore shaded gowns of rose chiffon and carried arm bouquets of pink snapdragons.

The flower girls, little Misses Virginia Worth and Lillian Small, wore black velvet dresses and carried baskets of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. C. E. Griffin of New Bern, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of apricot georgette, trimmed with lace, and carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. S. W. Gregory. She wore a beautiful gown of crepe Roma trimmed in rhinestones, and her veil of white tulle was caught with a coronet of orangeblossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a pearl brooch, which was a gift from the bridegroom, and had been handed down in his family for two generations, having been given to his grandmother on her honeymoon by his grandfather.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. H. Templeman, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The bridegroom had for his best man, his brother, Mr. C. L. Ives, Jr., of New Bern.

The wedding was followed by a reception at the home of the bride, where many beautiful gifts had been sent in attestation of the popularity of one of the city's most beautiful and most charming young women.

Mr. and Mrs. Ives are spending their honeymoon in the North and upon their return will make their home in New Bern.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. C. L. Ives, Sr., father of the groom; Miss Laura Ives of New Bern, Mrs. A. Potter of Boston, Miss Mamie Dean of Norfolk, Mr. C. E. Griffin of New Bern, Miss Mattie Griffin of New Bern.

Entertain Bridal Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Small entertained the Ives-Gregory bridal party Monday evening, following the rehearsal for the wedding which took place at the First Baptist church Tuesday. A buffet supper was served in the dining room and coffee was poured in the living room. The decorations used were white chrysanthemums and yellow candles. The guests were: Mr. George Allen Ives, Miss Dorothy Gregory, Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Worth, Mrs. J. P. Greenleaf, Mrs. I. M. Meekins, Mrs. Ned Griffin, Misses Lescelles Griffin, Olive Wood, Minnie Nash, Virginia Worth, Lillian Small, Sara Watts of Reidsville, Helen Street of Baltimore, Mattie Griffin of New Bern; Messrs Charles Ives of New Bern, Paul Mingele, of New Bern, Charles Cowell of Washington, Jule Etheridge of Norfolk, Evans Blades, and Dr. J. W. Selig.

Wedding Luncheon

Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Gregory entertained at a luncheon at The Linden Tuesday for the Ives-Gregory bridal party and the families of the bride and bridegroom. The tea room decorations were white and green, with a shower bouquet of bride's roses and tulle suspended from the chandelier in the center of the room over a long table with streamers of tulle running from the chandelier to all corners of the room. Concealed

SEES COLLAPSE OF ANTI-JEW DRIVE

American Jewish Committee Thanks Agitation Against Smitic Race Wearing Out in This Country and Others.

New York, Nov. 7.—What is called the "collapse of anti-semitic agitation in the United States," and the fact that no attempt on any considerable scale was made during the past year to revive this propaganda, has had a "most salutary effect in minimizing anti-Jewish activities in Europe," according to the sixteenth annual report of the American Jewish Committee made public here. The report credits the collapse of the anti-Jewish propaganda to the vigorous protests of the press, the church, and other American organs of public opinion.

Louis Marshal of New York is president of the committee, whose members include many of the most prominent Jews in America. The report was prepared by its executive committee, which includes Albert D. Lasker, Julius Roenwald and General Abel Davis of Chicago, Oscar S. Straus, Abram I. Elkus, Justice Irving Lehman, Cyrus L. Sulzberger, Lewis L. Strauss, and Mr. Marshal of New York, Dr. Cyrus Alder and Horace Stern of Philadelphia, Felix Fuld of Newark, N. J., A. Leo Weil of Pittsburgh, A. C. Ratschky of Boston, Colonel Isaac M. Ullman of New Haven, and Paul L. Feiss of Cleveland.

The past two years have seen a noticeable improvement in the condition of the Jews in Eastern and Central Europe, according to the report, "although in many lands oppression, persecution and invidious discrimination still prevail. Even there a reasonable hope for eventual if not speedy betterment is justified."

"Iniquitous anti-semitic propaganda on the whole, has met with general condemnation in western Europe, except in Germany where anti-semitism has been adopted as a rallying cry by a number of minor political groups and especially those of reactionary tendencies. It is evident from their proceedings that anti-semitism is the hand-maiden of the broken remnants of militarism and Junkerdom and of those forces which are bent on overthrowing the republic and of combatting free and liberal government."

"With anti-semitism discredited in the more enlightened countries of the world, it cannot long survive in central and eastern Europe."

"The improvement in the economic, political and spiritual condition of the Jews due to post-war reconstruction, is also evidenced by the falling off of Jewish immigration to the United States, the report continues. Some monthly quotas for Poland and other countries were not filled, and although this may partly be explained by lack of means to make the trip, the betterment of conditions generally has had much in the bouquet were small bags of rice tied with white ribbons which fell at the plate of each guest as the ice course was being served and showered the bride and groom. The place cards were miniature brides and bridegrooms. Four courses were served and the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Griffin, New Bern; Mrs. A. Potter of Boston, Misses Dorothy Gregory, Lescelles Griffin, Olive Wood, Laura Ives, New Bern; Sara Watts, Reidsville; Mattie Griffin, New Bern; Helen Street, Baltimore; and George Allen Ives, New Bern; C. L. Ives, New Bern; Charles Ives, Jr., New Bern; Chas. Cowell, Washington; Paul Mengel, New Bern; Jule Etheridge, Norfolk; John Jones, New Bern; Dr. J. W. Selig, W. B. Blades, New Bern.

to do with it, although in Poland "political conditions leave much to be desired."

"There has been a tremendous revival of cultural life in Poland, Roumania, and to a lesser extent, in Latvia," according to the report. "The number of Jewish schools is increasing by leaps and bounds, old schools are being rebuilt and new ones established, modern text books are being published in many places, new publications are springing up, and even the theatre, that unmistakable concomitant of normal life, is again coming into its own."

"In every country with the exception of Russia, Poland, Hungary and Latvia, the government is encouraging this renaissance of intellectual life among the Jewish masses."

Every state created by the Peace Conference is endeavoring to honor the letter and spirit of the Minority Rights guarantees, with the exception of Austria, Latvia, Poland, and to a much lesser extent, Roumania, the report concludes. Lithuania is singled out as being "conspicuously progressive" in safeguarding the rights of minorities.

ANOTHER CONFEDERATE VETERAN PASSES AWAY

Edenton, Nov. 7.—Another old Confederate veteran has passed to the great beyond. A man of sterling qualities, whose friends are numbered with those whom he has ever met, for everyone loved him, and sadness reigns at the thought of the passing of this kind and loving husband and father.

Mr. A. T. Bush, who has been in declining health for the past two years, and for the last few months an invalid, calmly breathed his last at 4:30 Tuesday morning and, as one witnessed the passing of this kindly man there was a realization that everlasting life is not far distant as the illumination of peace showed in the wan features of him who had just passed from death to life.

The deceased celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday in July last so he
