The average of beds per house 3.6. Among the occupations of the mothers were: farmers, sewing, cotton mill workers, boarding house keepers, clerks, caretakers and bookkeepers and a berry crate maker.

All of the Mothers' Aid families except 9 had received help from other sources before becoming beneficiaries of this state aid. The agencies that had assisted them were churches, relatives, charitable and civic organizations.

No juvenile court records were listed for any of those 100 families. In 35 cases physical examinations had been made. In 13 of the 100 cases the mother could not sign her name. The majority of the mothers go no higher than the sixth grade for an education, but they were described as being interested in the education of their children.

These mothers receive a total of $1,939 per month from the State and county to help rear their children in their own homes. The average for each woman is $19.39. Nineteen women receive from $10 to $14; 23 from $15 to $19; 35 receive $20; 8 receive $25; 10 receive $30; 3 receive $35; and 2 receive $40.

Miss Emeth Tuttle Tells How Mother's Aid Works

Interesting Facts are Brought Out in Data Concerning First 100 Cases Helped Through This Department of Public Welfare Work in North Carolina

Raleigh, July 11.—According to a summary of the first 100 cases of Mothers Aid in North Carolina made public by the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, the average recipient of Mothers' Aid in this state is a widow and a church member, 35 years old, who has lived all her life in the country or in a small town in North Carolina, and who has three or four young children. She receives $19.39 per month from the state and county to help her rear her children in her own home.

Complete information in regards to each recipient has been secured by Miss Emeth Tuttle, Director of Mothers' Aid for the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. Data regarding the first 100 cases granted this aid was recently summarized for the board by George H. Lawrence, who has charge of Mothers' Aid work in Orange and Chatham counties. Mr. Lawrence will summarize the data on the second 100 cases as soon as they're completed.

Other factors brought out in the first 100 cases are as follows: Fifty-four per cent of the mothers live in the country; 36 per cent live in towns under 20,000 population; and 10 per cent live in cities. Eighty-two per cent have lived in North Carolina all their lives; 11 per cent have lived in this state from ten to 36 years and 7 per cent have lived in this state from 7 to 10 years.

Fifty-one per cent of the members who receive aid are members of the Baptist Church; 20 per cent are Methodists; seven per cent are Free Will Baptists; six per cent are Presbyterians; 15 per cent are members of nine other Protestant denominations; and one per cent do not belong to any church.

Eighty-five per cent of the husbands of these 100 women are dead. Of the 15 living six have deserted their wives; four are disabled; three are imprisoned; and two are insane. Forty-eight per cent of the husbands were farmers while the other 52 per cent were divided among 28 different occupations. The average length of time that a husband had been dead before the woman received Mothers' Aid was two and one-half years.

The total number of children under 14 years old in these 100 families was given as 391. The number in each family range between one and eight. In 43 of these families there are 75 children who are 14 years old or over. Eighteen children were recorded as being born after the death or disablement of their father. None of these were listed as illegitimate. Only 68 cases were recorded for this information, of which 55 were dead and ten disabled.

Only 19 women in the entire 100 own their homes. The average number of rooms per house is 3.9 and London, July 11.—The large garden hat for the large garden party is finally here. It is a drooping affair with a wide brim, yet it manages to avoid the mushroom shape.

London, July 11.—With the bright red gown prevalent today one does not wear bright red shoes and stockings. In order to avoid too dazzling an effect, one wears shoes and hosiery in some neutral shade.

New York, July 11.—Bright yellow costumes seem to be more and more in favor as the season progresses. A bathing suit in brilliant primrose taffeta shown here today is trimmed with rubberized silk in orange and crimson.

Paris, July 11.—Leopard fur now is being cleverly used on summer coats and even on frocks. It is set off best by black, and often for the collar and cuffs on a black top coat or the vest of a black frock meant for cool days.

London, July 11.—The medieval pageantry connected with the British exposition has already had its effect on clothes. Old Italian buckles, brooches, and other ornaments are appearing here and there on new gowns.

New York, July 11.—It seems impossible to eliminate the gold and silver ornamentation where shoes are concerned. Even some of the new-plush back satin pumps have a narrow gold or silver line around the top.

SOME PEOPLE BELIEVE That using gas is expensive. They are usually those who never have used it. You should hear what is said by others who, once enjoying the use of it, have moved to a place where they can't get it. Such people invariably remark, "I think I miss my gas range and my gas water heater more than anything else."
