So This Is Wyoming!

Spurns Prince

This is the prettiest girl in Wyoming. Her name, Dorothy Logan, and she lives in Douglas. She will be Princess Petrolia of Wyoming at the exposition in Tulsa, Okla., next month.

Here is a young woman who once turned down a prince from the Prince of Wales. She is Mrs. Essoe Allen of Los Angeles. Five years ago she was visiting in Lethbridge, Alberta, and was the prince "Eddie" invited her and asked her to be a dance partner. Dressed only in her street clothes, she demurred. But the prince persisted, so she changed her mind and accepted him for several numbers.

Birthday Surprise

A delightful surprise birthday party was given Miss Lennie Sawyer Monday night at her home on Bell street. The home was artistically decorated with ferns and cut flowers. Music and games were enjoyed and afterwards delicious refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Elsie Long, Ruth Sawyer, Blanche Sawyer, Lennie Sawyer, Lillian Ambrose, Opal Creel, Maggie Sawyer, Lillian Vanhorn, Mrs. Lillian Creel and Mrs. Maud Holmes, Messrs. Eddie Davis, Henry Fulton, Horace Long, Graham Moore, James Baker, Edward Holmes, Herbert Powell, Ralph Pipkins, Ebert Holmes, Morris Pritchard, Wallace Basslight, Tommy Basslight and Wiley Long.

ROCKEFELLER FUND FOR WELFARE WORK

Will be Used for Development and Extension of the State Board's Program

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—From the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, the North Carolina State Board of Charities and Public Welfare last month received a grant of $30,000 to be used for the development and extension of the State Board's program of public welfare in four counties in this State. This sum is to be given in installments of $10,000 a year for three years, beginning July 1, 1924. An equal sum has been given by the Rockefeller Memorial to the School of Public Welfare at the University of North Carolina. The State Board and the School of Public Welfare will cooperate in the project in the four counties. It has not yet been decided which counties will be chosen.

Announcement of this grant was recently received by Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, Commissioner of Public Welfare, in a letter from Dr. Beardsley Ruml, director of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial. Mrs. Johnson had been in communication with Dr. Ruml for some time. Dr. Howard W. Odum, director of the School of Public Welfare at the University, first interested Dr. Ruml in the public welfare work in North Carolina. Dr. Ruml came to the State twice last spring, when he conferred with Mrs. Johnson and Dr. Odum in regard to the work in progress and planned by the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare and the School of Public Welfare. He invited the Commissioner of Public Welfare to confer with him further in New York in June. The result was the grant announced in his recent letter.

The fund is entirely unrestricted.

ed as far as its administration is concerned; that is, the $30,000 will be administered by the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare as it considers wisest. It will be used in four counties willing to cooperate fully with the State Board and in which the public welfare work is efficiently conducted.

The Commissioner states that part of the fund will probably be used in the counties included in the project to employ more officers who will divide among them the manifold duties for which the county superintendent of public affairs alone is now responsible. The object, she says, will be to make the four counties demonstration counties in order to show the effectiveness of public welfare work when a sufficient number of capable officers are available to carry out the program. The work, however, will not be arranged on

Fashion News Notes

London, September 19.—The gown of a million heads shown so successfully at the recent fashion exhibit in the Holland Park rink, has been adopted with enthusiasm by dancers at the Savoy, the Berkeley and other fashionable places. The frock is one glitter of glass beads, mounted on black Georgette.

London, Sept. 19.—If you happen to possess a prayer mat from Turkey, you have the foundation for the latest theater wrap. This wrap is of woolen cloth, hand embroidered, with a reproduction of the designs which prayer mats employ. It is striking, and not too pretty.

New York, Sept. 19.—Perhaps it is because the eye has grown accustomed to the velvety outlines of suede, but the tan or carmel kid shoe seems the height of both swank and neatness when worn today with street or afternoon costume. For evening wear, the satin pump still is the favorite.

New York, Sept. 19.—Fans are growing larger. The few long plumes mounted on an ivory such an elaborate scale as to make it impossible for the counties to continue it in a similar manner after the funds are withdrawn, according to Mrs. Johnson. Members of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare have expressed their lives as highly gratified by this grant from the Rockefeller Memorial.

the afternoon frock.

New York, Sept. 19.—Rose leaf and turquoise are the new and delightful shades for silk underwear. Some times the two shades are combined in one garment, the roseleaf being trimmed with folds of turquoise Georgette.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The high crowned hat, always rather reminiscent of a coachman's headgear, now frankly takes on a coachman's trimming. This is a high pompadour—in this case of uncurled feathers—that towers on the right side even above the top of the crown.

Paris, Sept. 19.—One large square cut diamond and one large square cut sapphire, side by side in a platinum carved ring, is the approved betrothal symbol, just now. The diamond is cut only on the edges and looks remarkably like a piece of clear glass.

New York, Sept. 19.—Muskat in a silver finish is among the fashionable furs at present. These furs also include Jap mink, and a new pelt called rock sable, which turns but to be ringtail opossum.

New York, Sept. 19.—The corsage of brocade is being duplicated in the pure rubber and the silk rubber now so much in favor. The new corset is to have a sufficient amount of boning to support the figure, but not enough to make this combination of corset and brassiere anything but easy and flexible.

New York, Sept. 19.—Two wrist-bags appear equally "fash" this season. One is the large flat affair of plant leather, fast usually with a key lock. The other is the loop with a short strap, a little smaller than in former years.
