New York, Oct. 22.—Some are "neekers," some wear knickers and some just get a laugh. That in brief describes the costume of the younger set at the moment.

Next to having an English polo player wrapped up in one, the next best thing in flapper circles is to be all wrapped up in an English burberry coat of water proof tweed with a plaid pattern.

Of course things in the flapper years seldom are what they seem, and this extends to dress as well as ideas. For example the ensemble suit is extremely popular.

Fashion News Notes

Paris, Oct. 22.—The evening frock made up largely of tulle is in high favor at present. Often this type of frock has a long, slender body of satin or metal cloth, reaching below the hips.

London, Oct. 22.—The topper—the high silk hat of man's formal wardrobe—is now on the feminine head. Of latter's plush, this creation has a hard and flat cocard of ribbon.

seem to be "in" for another season. They come from Italy and edged at top, and bottom by a narrow China now, at least as often as row band of pale brown rabbit from Spain, and the newest ones fur are embroidered only in one corner.

New York, Oct. 22.—Black and brown, the smart colors just now, are cleverly combined in a pull-on hat of black felt. This has a
