

Daylight Ahead In Spat On Stone's Confirmation

To Forego the Quarrel Will Deal Wheeler New Hand in Cases Pending Against Him in Montana and Washington. Conscript Fathers Begin to See

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Senate is beginning to see daylight ahead in the controversy over the confirmation of Attorney General Stone as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

To halt the confirmation and insist on a dropping of the proceedings against Senator Wheeler was one course discussed but abandoned, for even a minority of the Senate cannot be placed in the position of asking a special favor for any of its members as a price of approving a nomination.

The other course is to confirm Mr. Stone and insist that the Wheeler case be considered on its merits. Under a new Attorney General it would be considered anew anyhow. Charles Beecher Warren is to be the new head of the Department of Justice. He understands politics and the ways of politics much better than Mr. Stone. He is a partisan, of course, but a diplomat too, in fact he is so much of a diplomat that some continue to associate his name with a possible succession some day to Mr. Kellogg as Secretary of State.

In any event, Mr. Warren knows that a procedure against a United States Senator involving political phases is not only tactless but futile, and that time and money can easily be wasted in a controversy that can be pushed aside if the facts of the case warrant it.

There are all sorts of impressions as to the merits of the Wheeler case but his staunch friends in the Senate insist that when all the data is presented he will be found not guilty of the charges being bandied about now. The Government, on the other hand, has not a doubtful case but a strong chain of evidence. Mr. Warren is the type of man who will make that clear to public opinion before attempting to carry the case on at all.

The line between a Senator's duties to a constituent in Federal matters for which he receives no pay and service to a constituent for legal matters before state court or in private consultation is not always easy to draw any more than is the line of ethics in practice of Federal office holders resigning their jobs only to reappear before the very same men with whom they had been associated or whose appointments they had helped to secure.

The start of the Wheeler case was a technical matter of this kind. Since then there have been whisperings that further evidence has been developed. Washington is full of rumors but many of them are discounted because the Department of Justice under the Daugherty regime had a reason for exposing the Montana Senator if it could and until the evidence is made public the burden of proof will remain on the accusers.

So the Senate probably will confirm Mr. Stone which means his elimination from the Wheeler case. Should it ultimately turn out that the proceedings were baseless, it would be a subject for debate as to the wisdom of the appointment and since the radicals have been attacking the judiciary right along they probably will make the most of the incident in their next campaign. President Coolidge stands by Harlan Stone, however, and has not for a moment considered withdrawing his nomination. He takes full responsibility for Mr. Stone just as he does for all his Federal appoints and it will be interesting to see how many votes of the minority party in the Senate are cast for Mr. Stone.

But Flo was late in finding this beauty, for Jacques Charles, beauty connoisseur of Paris, had already given her the title of "America's most beautiful woman."

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain, irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then set normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.
