TEXT: "And the field of Ephron, which as in Machpelah which was before Mamre, be field and the cave which was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, that are in all the berders round about, were ade sure wels Abraham."—Gen. XXII.,

17, 18 Here is the first cometery ever laid out, Manipedali was its name. It was an arbores-ter ocauty, where the wound of death was and being able to irribe the King of Terrors, proposes here, as far as possible, to cover up up his ravages. He had no doubt previously noted this region, and now that Sarah his witch had diel—that remarkable person who at inasty years of age had born to her the works, had expired—Abraham is negotiating for a family plot for her last slumber. Abbrou owned this real estate, and atter, in mock sympathy for Abra-ham, refusing to take anything for it, now sticks on a big price—four hum-red sheels of siver. This centers y lot is atter, and the transfer made, in the pres-tion of witnesses in a public place, for there-were no deeds and no balls of record in those early times. Then in a caven of imestone were no deeds and no balls of record in those early times. Then in a cavern of limestone rock Abraham put Sarah, and, a few years after, brunself followed, and then Isaac and Reickah, and then Jacob and Leah. Em-bowared, picturesque and memorable Mach-paish! That "God's acre" dedicated by Abraham has been the mother of innumera-ble mortuary observances. The necropolis of every civilized land has vied with its me-troredis.

The most beautiful hills of Europe outside at cities are covered with of be great cities are covered with obelisk and theral vase and arched gateways and col-muse and parterres in honor of the inhu-nited. The Appian Way of Rome was ordered by sepulchral commemorations. For this purpose Pisa has its arcades of mar-le sculptured into exquisite bas reliefs and he features of dear faces that have van-thed. Genon has its terraces cut into inbs; and Constantinople covers with cy-ress the silent habitations; and Parishasits ere-Lachaise, on whose height rests Balzac press the silent habitations; and Paris has its Pere-Lachaise, on whose height rests Balzac and David and Marshal Ney and Cuvier and La Place and Moliere, and a mighty group of warriors and poets and painters and mu-sicians. In all foreign nations utmost genius on all sides is expended in the work of in-terment, mumification and incineration. Our own country consents to be second to monein respect to the lifeless body. Every city and town and neighborhood of any in-telligence or virtue has, not many miles away, its sacred inclosure, where affection has engaged sculptor's chisel and florist's spade and artificer in metals. Our own city has shown its religion as well as its art, in the manner in which it holds the memory of toypress Hills and its Evergreens and its Cal-vary and Holy Cross and Friends' cemeteries. All the world knows of our Gresawood, with All the world knows of our Gresswood, with now about two hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants sleeping among hills that over-look the sea, and by lakes embosomed in an vers, our American Westmin Eden of flot Abbey, an Acropolis of mortuary architec-ture, a Pantheon of mighty ones ascended, elegies in stone, linds in marble, whole gen-erations in peace waiting for other genera-tions to join them. No dormitory of breath-less sleepers in all the world has so many mighty dead. less sleepers in all the world has so many mighty dead.

Among preachers of the gospel, Bethune and Thomas De Witt, and Bishop Janes and Tyng, and Abeel the missionary, and Beecher and Buddington and McClintock and the state of the gospel, Bethune and Tyng, and Abeel the missionary, and Beecher and Buddington and McClintock and the show of the same state of the gospel, Bethune and Tyng, and Abeel the missionary, and Beecher and Buddington and McClintock and the show of the same state Marion Sims, and Dr. Valentine Mott, with the following epitaph which he ordered cut in honor of the Christian religion: "My implicit faith and hope is in a merciful Re-deemer, who is the resurrection and the life. Amen and Amen." This is cur American website as an area to mass the Mach ichpelah, as sacred to us as the Mach-lah in Canaan, of which Jacob uttered that pastoral poem in one verse: "There they puried Abraham, and Sarah his wife; there they buried Isaac, and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leah." they buried Isaac, and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leak." At this Easter service I ask and answer what may seem a novel question, but it will be found, before I get through, a practical and useful and tremendous question. What will Resource the definition of the constant's? First, I remark it will be their supernatural beautification. At certain seasons it is cas-tomary in all lands to strew flowers over the mounds of the departed. It may have been suggested by the fact that Christ'y tomb was in a garden. And when I say garden I do not mean a garden of these lati-tindes. The late frosts of spring and the early frosts of autumn are so near to each other that there are only a few months of flowers in the field. All the flowers we see to-day had to be petted and coaxed and put under shelter or they would not have bloomed at all. They are the children of the conservatories. But at this season and through the most of the year, the Holy Land conservatories. But at this season and through the most of the year, the Holy Land is all ablush with floral opulence. You flad all the royal family of flowers there, some that you supposed indigenous to the far north, and others indigenous to the far south—the deixy and hyscirift, croccis and anamone, daily and hysolatifa, croccus and anamone, tulip and water lify, geranium and ramuncu his, mignonette and sweet marjoram. In the college at Boyrout you may see Dr. Post's collection of about eighteen hun-dired kinds of Holy Land flowers; while among the trees are the oak of frozen climes, and the tamarisk of the tropics, wainut and willow, ivy and hawthern, ash and elder, pine and sychimere. If such floral and bo-tanical beauties are the wild growths of the fields think of what a garden must be in Pal-estine! And in such a garden Jesus Christ slept after, on the soldier's spear. His last drop of blood had cangulated, and then see how appropriate that all our comseries should be floralised and tree shaded. In June, Gregnwood is Brooklyn's garden. swood is Brooklyn's garden. "Well, then," you say, "how can you make out that the Resurrection day will beautify the cemeteries? Will it not have them a plowed up ground? On that day there will be an earthquake, and will not this again the polished. Abardeen granite, as well as the plan shot flatten afford but the two <text> quarters? And if he can return the nerves, why not the muscles, which are less in-genious? And if the muscles, why not the bones, that are less wonderful? And if the voice and the brain and the muscles and the bones, why not the entire body? If man cau do the phonograph. God can do the resurrection. Will it be the same body that in the last day shall be reanimated? Yes, but in-last day shall be reanimated? Yes, but in-finitely improved. Our bodies change every saven years, and yet, in one sense, it is the same body. On my wrist and the second finger of my right hand there is a scar. I made that at twelve years of age, when, disgusted at the presence of two warts. I took a red hot iron and burned them off, and burned them out. Since then my body has changed at least a half dozan times but those scars moves it is the same my body has changed at least a half dozan times, but those scars prove it is the same body. And we never lose our identity. If Gon can and does sometimes rebuild a man five, siz, ten times, in this world, is it mysterious that He can rebuild him once more, and that in the resurrection? If He can do it ten times, I think He can do it eleven times. Then look at the seventeen-year locusts. For seventeen years gone, at the end of seventeen years they appar, and by rubbing the hind leg against the wing make that rattle at which all the husban-men and vine dressers tremble as the inmen and vine dressers tremble as the in-sectile host takes up the march of devastation. Resurrection every seventeen years! Another consideration makes the idea of resurrection easier. God made Adam. He was not fashioned after any model. There was not fashioned after any model. There had never been a human organism, and so there was nothing to copy. At the first at-tempt God made a perfect man. He made him out of the dust of the earth. If out of ordinary dust of the earth and without a model God could make a perfect man, surely out of the extraordinary dust of the mortal body, and with millions of models. God can make each one of us a perfect being in the resurrection. Surely the last under-taking would not be greater than the first. See the gospel algebra: ordinary dust minus a model equals a perfect man; extraordinary a model equals a perfect man; extraordinary dust and plus a model equals a resurrection body. Mysteries about it? Oh, yes; that is one reason why I believe it. It would not be much of a God who could do things only as far as I can understand. Mysteries? Oh, yes: but no more about the resurrection of yes: but no more about the resurrection of your body than about its present existence. I will explain to you the last mystery of the resurrection, and make it as plain to you as that two and two make four, if you will tall mehow your mind, which is entirely in-dependent of your body can act upon your dependent of your body, can act upon your body so that at your will your eyes open, or your foot walks, or your hand is extended. So I find nothing in the Bible statement concerning the resurrection that staggers me for a moment. All doubts clear from my mind, I say that the cemeteries, however beautiful now, will be more beautiful when the bodies of our loved ones come up. They will come in improved condition. They will come uprested. The most of them lay down at the last very tired. How often you have heard them say: "I am so tired!" The tact is it is a tired world. If I should go through this audience, and go round the world, I could not find a person in any style of life ignorant of the sensation of fatigue. I do not believe there are fifty persons in this audiance who are not tired. Your head is tired, or your back is tired, or your foot is tired, or your brain is tired, tired, or your brain is tired, or your nerves are tired. Long jourbereavement, or sickness application, or bereavement, or sickness have put on you heavy weights. So the vast majority of those who went out of this world weat out fatigued. About the poorest place to rest in is this world. Its atmosphere, its surroundings, and even its hilarities are hausting. So Goistops our earthly life, and mercifully closes the eyes, and qu'ets the feet, and folds the bands, and more especially gives quiescence to the lungs and heart, that have not had ten minutes' rest from the first have not had ten minutes rest from the first respiration and the first beat. If a drummer boy were compelled in the army to beat his drum for twenty-four sours without stopping, his officer would be court-martialed for cruelty. If the drummer boy should be commanded to beat his drum for a mark without ensuing day and night he week without ceasing, day and night, he would die in attempting it. But under your vestment is a poor heart that began its drum beat for the march of life thirty or forty or sixty or eighty years ago, and it has had no furlough by day or night; and, whether in conscious or comatose state, it went right on, conscious or comatose state, it went fight life for if it had stopped seven seconds your life would have closed. And your heart will keep going until some time after your spirit has flown, for the auscultator says that after the flown, for the auscultator says that after the hown, for the also interface says that after the last expiration of lung and the last throb of pulse, and after the spirit is released, the heart keeps on beating for a time. What a mercy then it is that the grave is the place where that wondrous machinery of ventricle and estimates and belt. and artery can halt! Under the healthful chemistry of the soil all the wear and tear of nerve and muscle and bone will be subtracted and that bath of good, fresh, clean soil will wash off the last good, fresh, clean solt will wash on the last ache, and then some of the same style of dust out of which the body of Adam was constructed may be infused into the resur-rection body. How can the bodies of the human race, which have had no replenish-ment from the dust since the time of Adam in paradise, get any recuperation from the store-house from which he was constructed without our going back into the dust? That without our going back into the dust? That original, life-giving material having been added to the body as it once wes, and all the defects laft behind, what a body will be the resurrection body? And will not hundreds of thousands of such appearing above the Gowanus heights make Greenwood more besutiful than any June morning after a world saw ever. You put into a factory cot-ton, and it comes out apparel. You put into a factory lumber and lead, and it comes out planes and organs. And so into the factory of the grave you put in pneumonias and con sumptions, and they come out health. You put in groans, and they come out health. You put in groans, and they come out hallelujabs. For us, on the final day, the most attractive places will not be the parks or the gardens or the palaces, but the cameteries. We are not told in what season that day will come. If it should be winter, those who come up will be more lustrous than the snow

We are not told in what season that day will come. If it should be winter, those who come up will be more listrout sitian the snow that covered them. If in the auturin, those who come up will be more gorgeous than the woods after the frosts have penciled them. If in the spring, the blodm on which they tread will be dull compared with the rubi-cund of their checks. Oh the perfect resur-rection body! Almost every one has some defective spot in his physical coastitution; a dull ear, or a dim eye, or a rheumatic foot, of a neuralgic brow, or a twisted muscle, or a weak side, or an inflamed tonsil, or some point at which the east wind or a season of overwork assunts him. But the resurrection body shall be without one weak spot, and all that the doctors and murses and apothecaries of earth will there-after have to do will be to rest without inter-ruption after the broken nights of their earth-ly existence. Not only will that day be the bastification of well kept cameteries, but some of the graveyards that have been neg-lected, and been the pasture ground for cat-tie and cooting phaces for svine, will for the first time have attractiveness given them. It was a shame that in that place ungrate-ful generations planted no trees, and twisted no carbands.

ful generations planted no trees, and twisted no garlands, and sculptured no marble for no garlands, and sculptured no marble for their Christian ancestry; but on the day of which I speak the resurrected shall make the place of their feet glorious. From under the shadow of the church, where they slumbered among nettles and mullen stalks and thistles, and slabs aslant, they shall rise with a glory that shall flash the windows of the village church, and by the bell tower that used to call them to worship, and above the old spire beside which their prayers formerly ascended. What triumphal procession never did for a street, what an oratorio never did for an street, what an oratorio never did for an acadeny, what an orator nevar did for a brilliant auditory, what obelisk never did for a King, resurrection morn will do for all

This Easter tells us that in Christ's resur This Easter tens in that in Christ's resur-rection our resurrection, if we are His, and the resurrection of all the pious dead is as-sured, for He was "the first fruits of them that slept." Renan says He did not rise, but five hundred and eighty witnesses, sixty of them Christ's enemies, say He did rise, for they saw Him after He had risen. If He did not size here did size anend coldiers her they saw Him after He had risen. If He did not rise, how did sixty armed soldiers let Him get away? Surely sixty living soldiers ought to be able to keep one dead man! Blessed be God! He did get away. After His resurrection Mary Magdalene saw Him. Cleopas saw Him. Ten disciples in an upper room at Jerusalem saw Him. On a mountain the eleven saw Him. Fivehundred at once saw Him. Professor Ernest Renan, who did not see Him, will excuse us for tak-ing the testimony of the five hundred and eighty who did see Him. Yes, yes; He got away. And that makes me sure that our de-parted loved ones and we ourselvas shall get away. Freed Himself from the shackles of clod, He is not going to leave us and ours in the lurch.

There will be no door knob on the inside of our family sepulchre, for we cannot come out, of ourselves; but there is a door knob on the outside, and that Jesus shall lay hold of,

The Way in Which a Pasha Chastlace Ilis Faithless Harem.

A horrible story comes from Morocco

A large box was recently brought from the interior to the port of Mazagan for shipment. When opened a ghastly sight was revealed. In the box, packed closely together, were the bodies of 16 young women, one man and a negress. All the victims had been decapitated and their heads were missing. Their bodies were embalmed and had evidently been in the dition in which they were found for a long

The slaughter has been, to all appearan the work of some pasha, who thus visited ven-grance on his barem for unfaitbfulness. WAYNESBURG, Pa.—Zach Taylor was hanged at 11.12 o'clock. He was pronounced dead twelve minutes later. On the scaffold he reiterated his innocence of the crime. Taylor was concerned in the murder of William McCausland, the Allegheny drover. George Clark, his brother-in-law, suffered death a few weeks ago for the same crime. Mc-

Causland was found in the woods with a bullet hole through his head and his pockets rifled. Clark, Taylor and James Neff were arrested and all were convicted, but Neff applied for a hange of venue to Washington county, and upon a second trial was acquitted.

A COLORED MAN'S CRIME.

EBENSBERG, Pa .- Charles Carter, colored was hanged here at 1.51 F. M. Carter's crime was committed in Johnstown on November 3, 1889. On the night of the murder Carter and John Mathews, also colored, had had some trouble about one of the women in a disreputable house, and Carter threatened to shoot Mathews. When the latthreatened to shoot Mathews. When the lat-ter entered the room he shot him several times with a pistol and Mathews died the next day. Carter was captured at Harrisburg, Pa.

PEACE AT HARLAN COURT.

The Turner and the Howard Factions Agree to Stop Shooting Each Other.

"The Harlan County, (Ky.) Circuit Court is in session under the protection of State troops Hi Hall, one of the leaders of the Turner faction, got a sentence last week of twenty-one years in the penitentiary. He expected to be acquitted. This sentence sea ed the other o tlaws, and a meeting was held at the place of trial. Both the Howards an the Turners were represented in large numbers. There were the Spurlocks, the Days, and others on the Howard side. They were headed by their o ptain, Wils Howard. Of the Turner faction were Jack and Andrew Turner and thirty-five or forty others. They were all omewhat disposed to peace. Judge Boyd thought trouble was coming and made a request for more soldi-rs. Guards were stationed at each end of the four surects leading into Court House Square and no armed person was allowed to pass. Two soldiers were al o placed at the Court House door to search all who w shed to enter.

Apparently without any preconcerted ar-rangement Wils Howard, the Spurlocas, the Turners and the Days got together and agreed to suspend hostilities and bury the hatchet forever. It was also agreed that should any more bushwhicking take place, both sides would turn out and hunt the assassin.

HOT BLOODED YOUTHS.

A Fight Between a Couple of Boyish Rivals in Love.

Henderson, Ky., was thrown into a state of excitement the other evening over un altercation between two young men which resulted in murder.

in murder. It seem that James Wells, a sixteen year-ald boy, and Eugene Cornell, probably two years his senior, have been paying attention to the same young lady, whose name was not learned. They met on the street and began quarreling, which soon led to blows. Cornell picked up a barrel stave and struck wells on the head. The latter drew a revol-ver, when Cornell inrued and ran for his life. Wells gave chase and fired two or three time, one that taking effect and country Cornell's denth.
