CLEVELAND!

It is at this late hour settled that Grover Cleveland will be the next President of the United States as the following States give him 270 votes, to which may be added Ohio and other States not heard from: Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Virginia, Illinois, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Delaware.

The greatest victory that was ever won was won on the 8th of Nov. for Democracy.

North Carolina is safe, having elected her State officers, legislature and a majority of the Congressmen.

ELSEWHERE we give space to an article on co-operative creameries by F. E. Emery, State Agriculturalist. It shows how farmers by co-operation can diversify and change their present unprofitable system of farming.

We propose to use our influence to get our farmers fully interested in the creamery business which will soon lead to diversified farming and stock raising. Until a change is and the cry of hard times will be an every day word. Other sections of this State have adopted the system of co-operative dairy farming and have prospered, then why should we not try it? Let each farmer at once become interested and we will soon be able to start a creamery.

We took a decided stand against the People's party movement in the beginning and we warned the people to stay out of that party, because it had no hope of relief. We know the masses were honest in their convictions, but we had cause to believe that the leaders were after reward and not relief for the people, enough saw the trick in time to stop it, and now that the great Democratic party has come out victorious, we ask our friends to consider and see that we were right, and in the future be on their guard and do not be led away by men who seek reward at your ruin. Rejoice with us in the success of the only true Peoples' party—Democracy.

COOPERATIVE CREAMERIES

It is very desirable that the farmers and especially those who wish to restrict areas in cotton, should look into some of the advantages of co-operative dairying and make an effort to recuperate their losses by this means. If they will but give this system a fair trial we are sure they will be pleased with the result as well as find their farms gaining in fertility with the change in farming and the larger amount of manure they will be able to save and use. Much labor is saved and the resulting products are more uniform and will bring more money where this system is in use than where each farm manufactures its own butter. Not only this, but more cows can be kept insuring greater returns in cash than could be hoped if all the making and selling were done by the farmer and his family.

It is well within bounds to assert that nearly every town in N. Carolina having any facilities at all for shipment and sale of dairy products could build and operate a creamery of from 200 to 500 cows capacity and that such building and all the apparatus needed for successful operation need not cost over $2,000 for the handling of the milk of the smaller number or $3,000 for the larger number of cows.

There are numerous firms in the North and Northwest whose sole business it is to make and furnish creamery supplies, and they will undertake to start and operate them until someone in the organization can master the details and the enterprise managed by home talent. All there is to do to start a creamery or Butter and Cheese factory is to form an association in which ALL the members have an interest. Each one should subscribe a given amount of stock which may be limited, and all should be pledged to furnish milk from a definite number of cows.

The form of organization may be similar to that of an alliance with the special object named, and certain rules to be observed in delivery of milk, pay for butter, &c., laid down.

Elect officers, begin paying in your subscriptions and have the officers open correspondence with some of the following firms for kinds and prices of apparatus while the Executive Committee proceed to select a site and put up the Creamery building: Mosely & Stoddard, Rutland, Vt.; D. H. Roe & Co., 54-60, N. Clinton street, Chicago, Ill.; Borden & Selluck Co., Chicago, Ill.; DeLaval Separator Co., 74 Cortlandt street, N. Y. city; Cornish, Curtis & Green, Ft. Atkinson, Wis.; Barrill & Whitman, Little Falls, N. Y.; Vermont Farm Machine Co., Bellows Falls, Vt.; John Boyd, Chicago, Ill.

By the time your building is ready you can have found plenty of approved apparatus, so that your enterprise can be started at one of the above amounts or even less, depending somewhat on your diligence in finding good apparatus and living discounts from trade catalogue prices, and on the faculty of the committee for building cheaply and substantially at the same time.

Under date of 1879 Prof. L. B. Arnold gives a list of apparatus needed for cheese making alone for 400 cows which amounts to $702 30, adding to this for butter and cheese too from the same milk, the total apparatus needed could then be purchased for $957.20. Prices on these are no higher now than then, and you probably can get better articles now. Having the apparatus for $1,000 in round numbers and with lumber as cheap as now, you are more than likely to erect a substantial building for $1,000 more, and have a capacity to use the milk of 400 cows at a cost of $2,000.00.—F. E. EMERY, Agriculturalist, N. C. Expt. Station.

Gully, its new owner, has secured the services of one of the best cotton mill men in the South as its superintendent, and at an early day the machinery will be set going and kept on full running time.

Charlotte News: It is a pretty long tramp from Charlotte to Washington, but either Mr. J. M. Creighton or Mr. Jasper Alexander will take it after the election. They were talking politics this morning and before they had parted they made a bargain. If Cleveland is elected Mr. Creighton is to walk to Washington. If Harrison wins Mr. Alexander is to take the tramp.

Newbern Journal: A severe loss has befallen Messrs. Charlotte Observer: The hosiery mills at Scotland Neck and Kinston are receiving more orders than they can fill, while similar mills are in course of erection at Tarboro and New Bern. The Tarboro cotton mills made a profit of 20 per cent. for the past year, and have just declared a dividend of 8 per cent.

Asheville Democrat: Ella, a 12 year old daughter of John A. Lyttle, residing on South Main street, while cutting a mantle on Tuesday afternoon, knocked a box of dynamite caps into a stove exploding the caps, knocking the girl down, breaking window panes and bursting a kettle of water on the stove. Portions of the shells imbedded themselves in the girl's body, inflicting painful, though not dangerous wounds.

The pain will cease with the first dose, and its continued use will effect a marvelous cure. If life is worth $5, go to the druggist and get Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy, or send to Drummond's Medicine Co., 48 50 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will send you a large bottle by prepaid express. Henry E. Veil. In memory of Henry E. Veil who quietly bid adieu to his earthly home on the morning of October the 30th 1892, of consumption, being a sufferer for some time. He was a true communicant at St. Luke's Parish for two years. He leaves a wife, five children and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

When these we love are snatched away by death's resistless hand, Our hearts the mournful tribute pay That friendship must demand.

GOOD REASONS.

- Messenger.
- A Virginia paper publishes a statement made by a farmer who has retired from the Farmers' Alliance, evidently in much disgust at the way things were managed. His reasons are indeed good and will hold water, and in North Carolina as well as Virginia. Here are the reasons:
1. Because it is run by lawyers without clients.
  2. By doctors without patients.
  3. By preachers without pulpits.
  4. By women without husbands.
  5. By farmers without farms.
  6. By financiers without finances.
  7. By educators without education.
  8. By statesmen out of a job.

Young Decker, Republican, in this State, said the Third party was composed of "trash and nobodies." He might have added—soreheads, ignoramuses and hungry office-seekers.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The man who lives too fast is sometimes driven by fear that he may live too fast.

Most men feel that generosity ought to be encouraged—other people's generosity, of course, they mean.

Experience helps a man in almost everything in this world, excepting in getting a timid girl to become his wife.

There isn't a man living who would be wholly satisfied if he could know exactly what the papers will say about him the day after he dies.

It isn't always the boy with the widest expanse of turn down collar who behaves the best when he sits on the front seat at a church entertainment.

It takes a very lion-hearted man to pass on the streets a crowd of boys with snow-balls in their hands and keep his face straight to the front without feeling a sort of cold chill running up and down his spine.

It is always amusing to see the little girl of twelve faintly holding up her skirts as she goes over a muddy crossing, although of the matter. The man who never went to the theatre in his life is usually the man who declares loudest against the immorality of the stage. If by chance he attends a performance, he is rarely disappointed to find that it isn't anything like half so bad as he expected.

It is a common saying that a man does not value that which costs him nothing, like many of our common sayings, it isn't true. There are few things that a man values more than the pass which gives him a ride free while everybody else on the train has to pay regular fare.—Ez.
