Silver Cups For a Cruiser.

An artistic set of silver punch cups to be presented to the cruiser Raleigh by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Haywood, of Haw River, N. C., has just been completed.

Mrs. Haywood, who is a daughter of Governor Holt, of North Carolina, was sponsor for the cruiser at the time of her christening. The cups are twelve in number and weigh 100 ounces Troy. Each cup is four inches high and three inches in diameter, resting upon four dolphins, whose bodies curve gracefully about the body of the cup. They are highly polished and lined with gold. They are of the same design as the massive punch bowl which was presented to the cruiser by the citizens of North Carolina when she first went into commission.

The Raleigh is a second-rate cruiser that formed part of Admiral Dewey's squadron and is now on the Asiatic station. - Baltimore Sun.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARY F. JOHNSON, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs. Pinkham helped her:

"My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

AN AFFAIR OF THE NATION

It has been said of Americans that they are "a nation of dyspeptics" and it is true that few are entirely free from disorders of the digestive tract, indigestion, dyspepsia, Stomach and Bowel trouble, or Constipation.

The treatment of these diseases with cathartic medicines too often aggravates the trouble.

THE LOGICAL TREATMENT

is the use of a remedy that will build up the system, thereby enabling the various organs to act as Nature intended they should. Such a remedy is found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Here is the proof.

In Detroit there are few soldiers more popular and efficient than Max R. Hewes, first sergeant of Co. B. His home is at 416 Third Avenue. For four years he was a bookkeeper with the wholesale drug house of Farrand, Williams & Clark, and he says: "I have charged up many thousands of orders for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but never knew their worth until I used them for the cure of chronic dyspepsia. For two years I suffered and doctored for that aggravating trouble but could only be helped temporarily.

"I think dyspepsia is one of the most stubborn of ailments, and there is scarcely a clerk or office man but what is more or less a victim. Some days I could eat anything, while at other times I would be starving. Those distressed pains would force me to quit work. I have tried many treatments and remedies but they would help only for a time. A friend induced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and after taking a few doses I found much relief and after using several boxes I was cured. I know these pills will cure dyspepsia of its worst form and I am pleased to recommend them." - Detroit (Mich.) Journal.

The Faithful Mascot.

They tell a touching story of one of the regimental mascots—a dog in the Sixth Cavalry—and there are a dozen soldiers who will swear that it is true.

There was one man of the Sixth who had always been good to this dog, and would give it a piece of bacon from his own scanty store, and pet it and remember it when things were badly. This man was killed at St. Juan Hill just after his troop had forded the river and come into open ground before starting on the charge. And all day long he lay there in the long grass, dead, the bullets and shells singing over him, and nothing mattering any more. Soldiers pressed on, wounded men staggered back, many passed near him, but no one touched him or cared for him, since there was nothing to do—he was dead.

But the dog found out somehow that its master was lying there on the ground, the hot sun burning him, the cold night chilling him, and came there with a dog's faithfulness and licked the white face and stretched itself out on the still body and stayed there, guarding its master, until the soldiers on burying detail came the next day and laid the remains in a grave. - Leslie's Weekly.

Presence of Mind.

A melodrama of the most stirring kind was being given at a theatre in a small provincial town, says London Tit-Bits. In one of the critical scenes the hero suddenly became aware of the fact that he had come to the stage minus his poniard. Without a moment's hesitation, he made a dash at the traitor, exclaiming: "Die, villain! I meant to strike thee with my dagger, but I left the weapon in my dressing room, and will, therefore, strangle thee in the presence of this indulgent audience."

It is scarcely necessary to add that this variation from the original brought down the house.

French Chicken Salad.

Take a large, cooked chicken, remove all the fat, skin and bone and chop the meat in small pieces, with an equal quantity of white celery chopped fine. Mash the yolks of six hard-boiled eggs, and mix them to a smooth paste with a tablespoonful of salt, the same quantity of white pepper and a large teaspoonful of mixed mustard. Add two large tablespoonfuls of olive oil and one of good, strong vinegar, alternately, a little at a time. Take some fine, tender lettuce leaves and the whites of the boiled eggs and chop them together very fine. Put the chicken in the middle of a large dish, making it into a circular mound with a slightly flattened top, and pour the dressing over it. Lay the chopped lettuce and whites around the heap of chicken. Chop some pickled red beets and cucumbers, and arrange them in a pretty pattern over the yellow coating of the chicken. Garnish the edge of the dish with white celery tops and parsley.

Household Hints.

Sugar in the water for basting meats will add to their flavor. This is especially true of veal.

To have broiled ham at its best boil the ham so that it is nearly cooked, let cool in the water, then slice to broil.

When cooking onions place a pail of cold water at the kitchen door, which will prevent the smell from ascending.

To whiten the kitchen table, spread it all over with a thin paste made of chloride of lime and hot water; leave on all night and in the morning wash off.

To remove iron rust from marble, use a solution of one part of nitric acid in twenty-five parts of water. Apply carefully to the spots only, then rinse with water and ammonia.

solve mysteries I add to the mystery that we have already wondered at—namely, why preachers should keep on after all the hearers are tired. So I gather up into one great armful all the whys and hows and wherefores of your life and mine, which we have not had time or the ability to answer, and write on them the words, "Adjourned to eternity." I rejoice that we do not understand all things now, for if we did what would we learn in heaven? If we knew it all down here in the freshman and sophomore class, what would be the use of our going up to stand amid the juniors and the seniors? If we could put down one leg of the compass and with the other sweep a circle around all the insupportables, if we could lift our little steelyards and weigh the throne of the Omnipotent, if we could with our seven-day clock measure eternity, what would be left for heavenly revelation? So I move that we cheerfully adjourn what is now beyond our comprehension, and as, according to Rollin, the historian, Alexander the Great, having obtained the gold casket in which Darius had kept his rare perfume, used that aromatic casket thereafter to keep his favorite copy of Homer in and called the book, therefore, the "edition of the casket," and at night put the casket and his sword under his pillow, so I put this day into the perfumed casket of your richest affections and hopes, this promise more than Homer ever wrote or sword ever conquered. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter," and that I call the "edition celestial."

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

The New Belts.

The new belts are of soft silk or satin ribbon, four inches wide, says Demorest's Magazine. They are just the length of the waist measure and are clasped in front by buckles not over an inch or an inch and a half wide. The narrow clasp naturally holds the ribbon in folds. At the sides the ribbon is allowed to widen to at least two inches, and in the back nearly the full width of the belt is revealed. This arrangement gives the very long-waisted effect in front which is just now so fashionable.

Spiced Grapes.

Squeeze the pulps from the skins of several pounds of grapes and then boil and press through a colander to get rid of the seeds. Place in a preserving kettle over the fire and add three and one-half pounds of sugar, one and one-half ounces of whole cloves and the same amount of stick cinnamon. Place the spices in a bag and let the sugar and vinegar come to a boil, and then put in the pulps and skins of the grapes, adding the bag of spices. The whole should be allowed to boil for an hour and a half, and should then be put in stone jars and served with oysters or meats.

Virginia Caramel Cake.

This calls for two-thirds of a pound of butter, one scant coffee-cup of milk, two cups of granulated sugar, four eggs beaten very light, two scant cups of well-sifted flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, stirred in at the last moment; bake in a quick oven in three layers. Make the caramel of one-half cup of milk; butter the size of a walnut, and three-quarters of a pound of chocolate; cook in a double boiler, stirring often until a bubble rises, but do not let it boil. Add three tablespoonfuls of vanilla extract after you take it from the fire. Use as fast as possible; it thickens as it cools. Spread the layers and cover the top quickly. Use the same dry.

Meat Omelet.

Take one pound of finely chopped beef and to it add one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of black pepper and six eggs. Beat the yolks of the eggs until they are quite light, and add the beef and mix well, then beat the whites to a stiff froth and drop them into the mixture. Put a piece of butter and one of beef suet in a pan over the fire, and when it is hot drop the omelet into the pan with a spoon and fry until it is a light brown, then drain on brown paper and serve at once on a dish on which has been placed a number of chopped potatoes and a spoonful of minced parsley. Arrange the omelets as a border with a few pieces of celery here and there.

The Merrimac's Flag.

Lieutenant Richmond Pearson Hobson, in his personal story of "The Sinking of the Merrimac" in the Century, says:

With regard to the ensign, I had asked Captain Miller about the ensign of the Merrimac. He said that he had already considered the matter, but had found that the strippers had taken off the ensign and the contents of the signal-chest, and even the signal-halcyards. In fact, the men had been so keen for relics and souvenirs, that nothing seemed to have escaped. He said that he had, however, an enormous flag, blue field, or background, with "Maine" across it in large letters, which he proposed to have bent on. But I was particularly anxious for a large national flag, and put it down on the list of items for the executive officer to get us on the New York. I was a little afraid they would not let us have the flag, so I asked the executive officer not to say anything about it to the captain until we were gone, and told him that I should not hoist it while running in, or while doing so could in any way affect the success of the effort, but that I did wish very much to hoist it after firing the torpedoes as the vessel sank. The executive officer was not convinced, and his instinct of the risk involved was true; for though the captain let me have the flag without asking any questions, and it was bent on the halcyards at the bridge ready for hoisting, it was never hoisted, for after the work was done, and the Merrimac was sinking, and a strong impulse set in to have the flag flying, it was clear, lying at the muzzles of the enemy's guns, that any move to hoist it would betray our position and cost the life of all. Responsibility for the group forbade the attempt.

A Preacher on Fire.

At Chacombe Church, Banbury, during the harvest thanksgiving services on a recent Sunday evening, according to the Westminster Gazette, the vicar, the Rev. G. J. Hammon, while holding forth with his usual stirring eloquence, was suddenly disturbed by several members of the congregation rising from their seats and exclaiming: "You're on fire, sir!" On putting out the fire with his hand the reverend gentleman thanked his informers and then proceeded with his discourse as if nothing had happened. Afterward it was found that the long lawn sleeve had been burned, the reporter pathetically adds, "beyond repair." Congratulations were accorded to the vicar on his escape. The flames nearly reached his head before he discovered the cause of alarm.

Julius Caesar Caught Scorching.

The announcement that Julius Caesar was summoned for scorching on a bicycle must cause a smile upon the most serious face. There were many smiles at the Haywards Heath Petty Sessions.

Julius Caesar did not appear at first, and the historic name seemed more out of place when bawled by a leather-lunged constable outside the court.

People began to think that a wag-gish cyclist had been playing larks with the rural constable, and had given a wrong name, but presently a young gentleman stepped into the box and all smiles ceased. "Are you Julius Caesar?" quoth the clerk. "Yes, sir," replied the scorcher. - Sussex (England) News.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
