Know Each Other

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.,
 Dean of the Moody Bible Institute,
 Chicago

TEXT—For what is our hope, or joy or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye, in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ, at His coming? 1 Thess. 2:13.

What more interesting and tender question do Christians ever put one to another than this—Shall we know each other in the life to come? The Bible nowhere definitely answers that question, but the inferences are many of an affirmative kind. For example, there is the universality of the belief or hope of such recognition, which is expressed on every tombstone and heard in the hymnody of the church in all the centuries. A belief of a few men in a few places is not a sufficient ground of evidence, but a belief of all men in all places is very different. God would seem to be the author of a belief like this, and, if so, there must be a ground for it. In the second place, the reasonableness of the idea strengthens the conviction of its truth. For example, the resurrection of which the Bible speaks is one of individuals, but individuals are capable of identifying themselves only as they identify others with whom they were associated. If, in other words, we shall know ourselves in the resurrection, then we must know others who have helped to make us what we are. But the object of the resurrection is equally convincing, since it is to bring reward to the righteous and punishment to the wicked. These rewards and punishments are based upon the deeds done in the body, but to remember the deeds, we must remember those for or against whom the deeds were done.

What the Bible Says.
 In the third place, while the testimony of the Bible in this respect is not definitely clear, it is inferentially so. Certainly Christ's words to Martha with reference to the resurrection of her brother Lazarus, imply that in the resurrection they would be known one to another. Read the story in the eleventh of John to prove this. Furthermore, we have the teaching of Jesus in the parable of the unjust steward, recorded in Luke 13, where he says: "Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations." It is difficult to interpret this in any other way than that in the life to come those saints of whom we have made friends here by our treatment of them will know and welcome us into the joys beyond. And Paul's words in the text are to the same purport.

Possible Objections.
 It is no objection to this that Jesus teaches in another place, (Matthew, 22:30) that in the resurrection there is neither marrying nor giving in marriage, for such relationship is not necessary to identify nor the spiritual joy of it.

Some would say that in the life to come many friends would be missed who have not died in the faith of Christ, and that from such a point of view recognition and reunion would make for sorrow instead of joy. But as Bishop Mant says:

"Fear not, the prospect of the realms of love Shall mar thy bliss, or thence sad lights arise To blunt thy sense of heaven's ecstasies: There, if thy heart with warm devotion glow, Meet for thy place, 'twill solace thee to know"

No friends of thine, mid those thee keen agonies In that dark prison-house of torment lies: For none is there but is of God the foe, And alien thus from thee. The ties of blood, And earth's most sacred bonds, are but a twine Of grosser matter, compared with what is owed To Him, the Lord of all! On Him rely: He shall thy heart of every care unload, He bid thy day with cloudless lustre shine."

The practical effect of such a hope as this is an extended one. In the first place, it brings us strongly under the power of heavenly realities. In the second place, it induces us to form only holy friendships that can be continued through eternity. In the third place, it affords the most precious consolation to the bereaved.

"As year by year we lose Friends out of sight, to know How grows in Paradise our store!"

Let the fact be emphasized in closing, that we are talking about Christians and not the unbelieving people of the world. True Christians are those who have received Jesus Christ as their Saviour by faith, and who, regenerated by his holy spirit, are following him as Lord and master. It is these who have this hope before them, and only these. Let us then ask ourselves with candor, as in the sight of God, whether we belong to this blessed company.

TERRIBLE AGONIES WORSE MISERY

Advices From Durant's Neck Tell of Mrs. Bazemore's Trying Ordeal, and Her Condition at Present.

Durant's Neck, N. C.—Mrs. Emma Bazemore, of this place, says: "Words fail to express my appreciation and gratitude for the benefit I received from Cardul, the woman's tonic. I suffered agonies from womanly troubles. I tried different doctors, but they didn't help. The last one I went to said I needed an operation, so I agreed to it, and bore those terrible pains. I felt better, but only for a short time, and soon the misery was worse than ever before. I began to use Cardul, and it made me feel entirely different. Now I am the picture of health, weighing 170 pounds. Before I started the treatment, I could not do my household work. Now I can do my work, and I feel so much better."

Cardul, the woman's tonic, acting in its gentle, healing way, upon the womanly organs, helps to restore your natural vigor, and to build up the womanly constitution.

If you are tired, worn-out, weak, nervous, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, do what over a million other women have done—try Cardul. It cannot do you harm, and is almost sure to help you, just as it has them. Begin taking Cardul today.

 "I wonder why so many trains are late!" said young Mrs. Torkins as she watched the man chalk up the figures on the blackboard.

"Well," replied her husband, "for one thing, traffic is much heavier than it used to be."

"Of course! And the heavier a load is, the harder work a locomotive has to pull it!"

Matter Easily Explained.
 Two lawyers met on the street. "I've been wondering about you," said one. "What were you wondering about me?" "Well, I've heard you address a jury and I thought that you were the most eloquent man in Cleveland. Then I've heard you make an after-dinner speech at a banquet and you were—pardon me—pretty rotten. Now, how is that?" "I'll tell you. When I'm talking to a jury my dinner depends on my speech. When I'm talking to a bunch of diners I've already had my dinner."

HOW IT WAS.
 "How did yo' all get yo' nose busted?"
 "I done slipped down an' plumb lit on my back."
 "But, name o' goodness, sah!—yo' nose isn't located on yo' back."
 "No, sah; an' needer was Brudder Jones."

THE KNOW HOW To Feed Children and Get Good Results.
 There are more nervous persons made so by undigested food lying in the stomach than the average individual would suppose. If food remains undigested in the stomach, it begins to ferment, set up gas and a large portion is thus converted into poison. That's why imperfectly digested food may, and often does, cause irritation of the nerves and stupor of the mind—brain and nerves are really poisoned. "My daughter had complained for some time of a distressed feeling in the stomach, after eating, which set me thinking that her diet was not right," writes an anxious and intelligent mother. "She had been fond of cereals, but had never tried Grape-Nuts. From reading the account of this predigestible food, it seemed reasonable to try Grape-Nuts for her case. "The results were really wonderful. The little brain that seemed at times unable to do its work, took on new life and vigor. Every morning, now, before going to school, she eats the crisp little morsels and is now completely and entirely well, she seems to have a new lease on life—no more distress in the stomach, no headache, but sound and well every way." INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 30

REVIEW.

READING LESSON—Hebrews 11:1-19. GOLDEN TEXT—"Our fathers trusted in Thee: They trusted, and Thou didst deliver them." Ps. 2:4.

The Scripture lesson before us is suggested for reading purposes only. In these verses we have rehearsed the principal events (saving Easter) of which we have been studying this past quarter, but presented from the view point of the values and victories of faith. The golden text suggests three things, first the God of the fathers; second, the trust of the fathers, and third, the deliverance of the fathers because of their trust in God. Therefore it seems to be logical for us to think of these lessons from the standpoint of faith.

The first lesson of this quarter is suggested in verse three of our reading lesson. God is the creator and works by his divine fiat, framing these visible things from those that are not; working or framing them by his "word." So God today through the "Living Word" makes himself known to all men. He is the God of all resource, and places those resources at the disposal of men, becoming to each under varied circumstances all that is needed. Verily "God is love."

Second Great Fact.

The second lesson presents to us the second great fact of the "beginnings," viz., that man is to have dominion over all of these created things, and that woman is to be his helpmeet. Again, there is set before us man's relation to the Creator, a relation of trust, and when that relation failed we have presented in this and the succeeding lesson, the disastrous effect of disobedience. Where trust is active there has always been deliverance. Where trust has failed, disaster has inevitably followed. The great central truth of these two lessons is the folly of doubting and disobeying God's Word.

Returning to verse four of the reading lesson attention is called to Abel (Lesson IV.) as an illustration of a man whose faith in God expressed itself in the sacrifice he offered to God. Abel's gift was one of sacrifice and not that of the labor of his own hands.

The great fact of lesson five is that Noah obeyed God by preparing for the coming judgment long before there was any external evidence of the flood. He was "moved with godly fear," he saved his house, he condemned the world, and he became heir of the righteousness which is according to faith." Those who believe God's word, live; those who disbelieve God's word, perish—John 5:24.

The sixth lesson, which also considers the life of Noah, presents for our consideration God's everlasting covenant.

In verses eight to twelve of the reading lesson, the writer seizes upon three supreme events in the life of Abraham when faith was manifest. If we properly present these three we shall summarize the remaining lessons of this quarter saving that of Easter, lessons seven to and including the eleventh. The first great event is of course God's call to Abram.—Heb. 11:8. He must leave kindred, native land, yet, even his father's house.

The second great illustration of faith was that Abraham should obtain God's promises.—Heb. 11:9-10. This he did by obeying the call to become a sojourner in a land not his own, looking for a city whose builder and maker is God.

Necessity of Faith.

The third illustration, Heb. 11:11,12, was Abraham's willingness to part with his son Isaac in obedience to God's command to offer him as a sacrifice. True faith holds back nothing from God. Notice in this illustration how Sarah's name is linked with that of Abraham. How it is declared that she received power to conceive through faith and because she counted him faithful who promised, there sprang of one "so many as the stars of heaven in multitude and the sands which is by the seashore innumerable."

Thus the message of the past quarter is the revelation of God and of the necessity of faith in him on man's part. Some may have chosen to use the lesson of Isaac and Rebecca, rather than the suggested Easter lesson. We judged the Easter lesson of the greater value.

Therefore in the final lesson, that of Easter Sunday, we behold God's matchless grace and mercy in that he rolled away for those of loving, simple childlike faith, the stone of their difficulty.

"Cherish the hope that the world is traveling towards the dawn. Man's day begins with the morning and ends with the night, but the day of God begins with the night, and ends in the glorious dawn."—D. F. B. Meyer. It might be well to require several written stories of about two hundred words each from different members of the class, relating these beginnings. The Creation; The First Sin; The Two Brothers; The First Immigrant; Lot's Choice; The First Easter. Surely there is an abundance of material to make review Sunday one long to be remembered.

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep It Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

Dorothy Johnson.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says:

"I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.
