Mexican News

Anti-American demonstrations in northern Mexico continue, according to official advices, particularly in the states of Chihuahua, San Luis Potosi and Nuevo Leon.

Americans are leaving Mexico in steadily increasing numbers. Under the previous instructions, state department agents in Mexico are giving every possible aid. In addition border agents have been instructed to urge those seeking to return to Mexico to stay on the American side.

The spread of the anti-American agitation in Mexico may delay the sending of a reply to General Carranza's note demanding recall of the American troops. Creation of an international commission to discuss all difficulties is known to have been suggested, under existing treaties, and it is understood the proposal is still before President Wilson.

At El Paso, Texas, United States customs officials are warning Americans that owing to conditions in Mexico, it is inexpedient to attempt to visit the interior of that country.

DOMESTIC

An anti-American riot, incited by a mass meeting to protest against the continued presence of American troops in Mexican territory, was put down in Chihuahua City by the military after a demonstration had been made against the American consulate and stones hurled at the Foreign club in the belief that it was an American institution.

A proposal to General Carranza that the United States and the Mexican de facto government submit the whole subject of their relations to an international commission is being seriously considered by the United States. Such a proposal, if it is made, will serve as a reply to the Mexican note demanding withdrawal of the American troops, and may contemplate adjustment of many unsettled differences that for years have caused accumulating embarrassment in the relation of the two countries.

European War

King Constantine, of Greece has signed the order demobilizing twelve classes of the army, amounting to 150,000 men. There is general rejoicing over the decision. It is not thought the present government will be able to continue in power after the army is disbanded.

The demobilization of the Greek army is regarded as the direct outcome of the energetic measures by the entente allied governments recently taken in making joint representations to King Constantine, followed by an embargo virtually closing Greek ports.

The Greek commander of the port of Salonika has been replaced by a French naval officer, and entry to the port has been refused to Greek ships from Kavala. Moreover, an embargo has been placed on Greek ships in French ports.

Fort Vaux, lying some five miles northeast of Verdun, which for weeks past the French had been stubbornly defending against terrific onslaughts by the Germans, has at last fallen into the hands of the Teutons, according to Berlin. The men who defended the fortress to the last surrendered to the Germans, who also captured a large number of guns, machine guns and mine throwers.

Germans and British are fighting desperately in the vicinity of Ypres, both sides using their artillery in heavy bombardments and their infantry in occasional attacks. In an infantry attack against the ruined village of Hooge, east of Ypres, the Germans captured the British front-line trenches running through the village, but all their attacks elsewhere failed.

From the Pripet river southward to the Rumanian frontier the Russians, according to Petrograd, are continuing to develop success against the Germans and Austrians. In the fights along this front of some 250 miles, the Russians already have made prisoners of 480 officers and more than 25,000 men and captured 27 guns and more than 50 machine guns.

Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff, and who were drowned with him, were Hugh James O'Beirne, former councillor of the British embassy at Petrograd and former minister at Sofia; O. A. Fitzgerald, Earl Kitchener's private military secretary; Brigadier General Ellershaw and Sir Frederick Donaldson.

A dispatch from Saloniki says the proclamation by General Sarrail of martial law in the entire zone occupied by the entente allies, a step taken as a result of the occupation of Fort Rupet by Bulgarian and German troops, has been favorably received by the population. The crowds manifested their friendly sentiments by shouting "Long live the allies."

Gaines by the Russians over the Teutonic allies, by the Turks over the Russians and by the Germans over the British are recorded in the latest official communications from Petrograd, Constantinople and Louan.

The news that Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and his staff, who were proceeding to Russia aboard the cruiser Hampshire, were lost off the Orkney Islands, was the most stunning blow Great Britain has received since the war began.

The sudden blow struck by the Russians along the entire Galician front of 275 miles from the Pripet to Rumania, is, in the unanimous opinion of the military critics, a brilliant beginning of the long awaited Russian offensive.

A profound sensation has been caused by the speech made before the reichstag by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, in which he declared that any further suggestions of peace by Germany would be futile and evil.

The prosecution begun the presentation of the case at the courtmartial of Captain Bowen-Colthurst, charged with the shooting of F. Sheehy Skeffington, editor of The Irish Melntyre, during the recent Irish rebellion. The defendant is accused of murder.

PLAN CAMPAIGN ON ILLITER

INSTITUTE WORKERS GIVE NOTICE OF CONTINUANCE WORK WITH ZEAL.

DISPATCHES FROM RALEIGH

Doings and Happenings That Mark the Progress of North Carolina People Gathered Around the Capitol.

A definite plan of action for further inroads into the column of adult illiteracy in North Carolina will be formulated at a meeting in Raleigh on June 20 participated in by representatives of the Woman's Clubs, Junior Order United American Mechanics, State Department of Education, Farmers' Union, North Carolina Teachers' Assembly and other organizations and institutions which have undertaken the work. This was the announcement made by Secretary W. C. Crosby of the Community Service Bureau, before the last session of the Teachers' Institute conducted in the Senate chamber.

One hundred and fifty teachers in the state who will give their entire time to the work of moonlight schools and thus take the burden off the day teachers, is the goal of the hopes of the leaders in the activity. This, it is estimated, will cost $65,000.

Dr. Joyner called the teachers to increase their efforts in this matter by urging them that the work will be carried on even more vigorously this year. He likewise urged the bringing in of as many outsiders as possible, to take up the work of teaching, for the purpose of relieving the active day teaching force of the additional strain. He particularly emphasized the duty of the institute conductors to carry enthusiasm for the work into the counties of the state where they will hold institutes, spreading the assurance that the campaign is not sporadic but continuous and not to be given up until adult illiteracy is as nearly wiped out as possible.

"According to definite reports from county superintendents," said Mr. Crosby, "947 moonlight schools were conducted in 83 counties with an enrollment of 8,443 of an average age of 35. Fourteen counties have not yet made any report while only four have reported that they had no moonlight schools.

"Almost without exception those counties that have as yet done little or nothing in night schools are planning to do a double portion during the coming year—and those that have done most are planning to do even more. Most of the county superintendents refer to the work for the coming year in general terms. But forty-three answered definitely the question: How many moonlight schools will be needed and demanded in your county next year? The total for these counties is 855. From this, it will be seen that at least 2,000 moonlight schools will be needed and demanded during the coming year—and how to provide them is the great problem confronting the leaders in the state. Although more than five thousand teachers volunteered last year and actually taught a thousand schools—a glorious success for the movement, we think—yet the volunteer system has many obvious disadvantages."

First Infantry Passes Inspection.

Adjutant General Laurence W. Young, of the North Carolina National Guard, has received the report from the War Department in the recent annual army inspection of the companies comprising the First Infantry, and it is the finest report, he says, that has ever been made in any military organization in this state. The inspection was by Major Hunt, of the United States Army. The report says the conditions were most satisfactory and gratifying to the War Department and show the companies thoroughly equipped for service and the men and officers well up in their training.

Timber Industry Can Be Restored.

That north Carolina can be restored to its former importance as a naval stores center, and that a movement looking to this phase of the timber industry will be started at the Southern Forestry Congress, which meets in Asheville next month, is the opinion of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist, who is in Asheville in the interest of the congress. "The congress is really an event of national importance," Doctor Pratt declared, "and will bring prominent forestry men in the United States to Asheville.

"As a result of the deliberations of this congress, there will be definite recommendations made as to future legislative action governing the forest fire waste, the regulation of cutting timber in lands to remain forest and the reproduction of forest growth. It has been asked regarding the benefit to be derived by the men of eastern Carolina from attending this meeting, and in reply have told them that North Carolina was once famous for its naval stores, and by proper care and conservation, can become so again.

Raleigh, June 19.—South Carolina's Plateau, Alabama, showed the rate of infection of any place, which was 1.7, and the Valley, Mississippi, showed the least, which was 40.9.

Another interesting fact that developed through this study of malaria conditions in the South was that one out of every 7.6 persons examined was found to be a malaria carrier, that is, he harbored the sexual forms necessary for infecting a malaria-bearing mosquito. It was also found that the percentage of infection among the whites was only 8.08 per cent as compared with 20.6 per cent for colored.

Scruggs, Rutherfordton; Bobbitt M. Tuttle, Weldon; Andrew E. Weatherly, Greensboro; William W. Wiggins, Coats; Lowry R. Wilson, Gastonia; Victor K. Overman of Elizabeth City led the class.

Mandamus Against Court Clerk.

For the first time in the history of North Carolina court practice, a mandamus is issued against the clerk of the Supreme court to stop him from certifying to the court below a ruling opinion of the court in a case before the regular time under the rule of practice, which would be the first Monday of the month for all cases decided 10 days prior thereto.

Convention of Electrical Inspectors.

Insurance Commissioner James R. Young is planning for a convention of electrical inspectors to be held in Raleigh during the month of July at which time he hopes to have a large number of the men who superintend the wiring of buildings and work of kindred character. It is Mr. Young's purpose to have the inspectors of cities and towns as well as those representing power companies. It is not intended to organize these workers.

DAINTY PUDDINGS.

Boil a cupful of water and pour into it six tablespoonfuls of corn-starch, mixed with a cupful of fruit juice; cook until clear, add sugar to taste and fold in the whites of two or three egg whites.

Beat the whites of six eggs to a close firm meringue, add six tablespoonfuls of sugar and add the prunes. Bake half an hour in a deep buttered dish, covered for 20 minutes so that the souffle has risen to its full height. Send to the table immediately with a sauce made of a cupful of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored.

Rhubarb Pudding.

Roll out a thin piecrust and heap on a cupful or two of chopped rhubarb and a half cupful of raisins. Roll up and place in a deep dish. Add a cupful of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a cupful of boiling water. Place in the oven and bake an hour. There will be sauce enough to serve with the pudding of the juice and sugar.

Date Pudding.

Take a third of a cupful of softened butter, add a half cupful of sugar, one egg beaten, a cupful of milk, two and a half cupfuls of graham flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a little salt and a cupful of dates, cut fine. Steam two hours in a covered mold. A tube mold is better.

Caramel Rice Pudding.

Wash a cupful of rice and cook it in salted water (one cupful) until it is absorbed. Add a quart of hot milk and cook until the rice is soft; then add two well-beaten eggs. Melt three-fourths of a cupful of sugar until a light brown; cover the bottom and sides of a pudding dish with this caramel. Turn in the rice and cook in hot water for half an hour. Turn upside down on a serving dish and let stand ten minutes, and it will slip out easily.

DIFFERENT SAUCES.

The art of making and serving an appropriate sauce is one which should be cultivated as many plain dishes may be made most appetizing by a fitting sauce.

Drawn Butter Sauce.

Cook together a tablespoonful of butter and a tablespoonful of flour until brown and dry. Add a cupful of boiling water, cook two minutes, stirring well; add salt and pepper to taste. Using milk and adding it before the flour is brown makes a white sauce. With half cream and half white stock flavored with mushrooms and a dash of lemon juice it becomes Bechamel; cut out half the flour and add the yolks of three eggs, lemon juice, onion and another tablespoonful of butter for a Hollandaise; double the proportion of flour and it furnishes a thick sauce for delicate croquettes.

Brown Sauce.

Cook a half a tablespoonful of flour in a tablespoonful of butter until well browned; add a tablespoonful of chopped onion with other vegetables if liked; cover and simmer until soft. Add one cupful of water or stock, a half teaspoonful of salt, six peppercorns, a half a bay leaf and simmer gently ten minutes. Strain and serve.

Oyster Sauce.

Parboil and drain a half pint of oysters. Add cream to the liquor to make one cupful, prepare as white sauce adding the oysters at the last.

Lobster Sauce.

Prepared the same way, using stock instead of cream and mincing the lobster before adding it to the sauce.

Bread Sauce.

Crumble fine stale bread crumbs in a saucepan with a half cupful of cold milk and six cracked peppercorns. Let simmer five minutes, then add a half cupful of cream, a teaspoonful of salt, but do not stir; simmer until all is absorbed. This is excellent to serve with roast birds.

Turks Care Little for Stage.

At Kadi Keul, the ancient Chalcedon, is situated the one and only Turkish theater in or near Constantinople, a rickety, wooden construction capable of accommodating, however, a large number of onlookers. Performances are witnessed only by men, are given three times a week, and take place in broad daylight.

"His Own Lawyer."
Over and over again, the wisdom of the adage, "A man who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client," and the understanding that inspired the injunction, "Physician, heal thyself," are established in the courts. Every lawyer is familiar with many instances in which the wills of distinguished jurists have been set aside because they were improperly drawn, and it is a matter of pretty common knowledge that few doctors can diagnose their own ailments.

Another exemplification now appears in the conflict about the will of the late Dr. Austin Flint. He was, perhaps, more frequently employed as an expert witness as to testamentary capacity than any other alienist in the country. Questions of mental fitness, of intent, of motive and of the other attributes of a "sound-disposing mind" were before him constantly. Yet he drew his own will so ambiguously, so obscurely, that his executors have been compelled to invoke the aid of the court to determine what the learned testator meant.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Find Tetrabelodon's Bones.

A fossil declared by scientists to be the lower jawbone of the prehistoric tetrabelodon, one of the earliest species of elephant of which there is any record, was on exhibition here. It was found in a nearby mine.—Baker (Ore.) Dispatch to Portland Oregonian.
