Mr. B.—Yes. The Tompkins objected to Chorkins being so economical.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles cause many annoying symptoms and great inconvenience both day and night.

Unhealthy kidneys may cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results may be expected; Kidney Trouble in its very worst form may steal upon you.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are among the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease may constantly undermine the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, try taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the famous kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

Attending Prayer Meeting

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.
Dean of Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is.—Hebrews 10:25.

The weekly prayer meeting has been called the pulse of the church, but it is more; it is really the heart itself; it is the ideal church in worship; it is the church gathering of the Apostolic days.

There were two forms of public worship among the Jews in Christ's day, the temple and the synagogue. The first was ritualistic and select in the sense that the priests and Levites conducted it. The second was simple and democratic in the sense that all the people took part in it. There was only one temple and that was located in Jerusalem, but there was a synagogue in every town where as many as ten male Jews resided. Its order of service consisted merely in the reading of a portion of the law and the prophets, the chanting of a psalm and an extempore prayer. Then the meeting was thrown open, as we now say, and the people (the men at least) were at liberty to take part.

The Christian church is built, not on the model of the temple but the synagogue, as we see from Paul's first Epistle to the Corinthians where, at chapter 14, he is correcting certain disorders that had crept into the assembly because of the liberty thus granted to the people.

A Popular Gathering.

Our text applies to such a gathering as this. That is to say, the writer has in mind not a formal service, such as is represented at a Sabbath gathering in one of our present churches, but a popular gathering of the people where the meeting is thrown open for all to exercise their spiritual gifts. It is just such a gathering as a prayer meeting always ought to be.

(1). He enjoins such an assembling of ourselves together as a duty to be obeyed. We ought not to forsake it, just as in other places God tells us not to commit murder, not to steal, not to be guilty of adultery, not to bear false witness, so here we are not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together. In other words it is a command that Christians cannot escape.

(2). It is a privilege to be enjoyed, for the context tells us that this by prayer we have "boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus," and that we have "an High Priest over the house of God." This being the case, what blessings are we being denied if we thus forsake the assembling of ourselves together!

Some of these blessings are of a very practical every-day sort. The Continent tells of a business house in Chicago which asked a country correspondent to recommend a man for a responsible position. The reply was, "A young man passes my house every Wednesday evening on his way to prayer meeting at precisely a quarter of eight. I like the looks of that. Shall I inquire further about him?" The result was a position at a salary larger than the young man ever dreamed of receiving. The editor added what is entirely true, that the prayer meeting habit is a good asset. The prayer meeting young man is likely to have the right basis of character. There are hypocrites there, but that is an evidence of the genuine.

(3). It represents a need to be supplied, for the context says, "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works." The relation of our Christian experience in the prayer meeting and the exhortation and appeal that accompany it, express our consideration for one another as brethren in Christ, and the result is stimulating unto love and to good works. It is thus that we are able to hold fast the profession of our faith.

There was a man, the father of a family that attended my church at one time, who resisted all my appeals to win him to the Savior, and his wife told me he had resisted similar appeals from her former pastors. By and by on his death bed he accepted Christ and witnessed a good confession before his family and friends.

One day I asked him what was the cause of his conversion, and found that he attributed it to no sermon he had ever heard, but to the testimony of an elderly woman in a prayer meeting in the country town where he lived more than 40 years before.

He resided with an aunt who compelled him to go because she would not leave him alone in the house during her absence. He hated to go, but he had to go, and there he heard the testimony of this woman from which he had never been able to get away. Now that he was facing eternity it had moved him to receive and confess Christ.

Let me urge you to stand by your church's prayer meeting, and to do your part to make it of vital value.

PROUD OF THEIR MODEL SON

Of Course He Was Young, but Just Then His Habits Were Absolutely Irreproachable.

"Ah, well, wife," said John Rumbles, the honest farmer, "though our corn was stricken with quinsy this year, and our pigs all got the ear disease, and our cabbages were all hollow, and our wheat had appendicitis, we have the consolation of knowing that we have a model son. Just think, Roland has never smoked a cigarette in his whole life."

"Nor anything else, for that matter," replied Susan, his honest wife, "and he would no more think of taking strong drink that he would of flying."

"True," asserted honest John, with a sickly smile. "And the regular hours he keeps!"

"Yes," put in honest Susan, eagerly, "To bed right after supper every night regular as clockwork."

And for a while John smoked in contemplative silence, while Susan knitted away in her easy chair.

"But, of course, there's this," said John at length. "We can't tell how he'll be later on. We must remember he's only six months old."

"Ah, John, we mustn't borrow trouble. We have enough already, goodness knows," snickered Susan.—Detroit Free Press.

Obedy Orders Strictly.

A tired column of troops clambered down a rocky ledge and went into camp beside a delightful little pool of water. The commanding officer immediately placed his sentry at the pool. Soon more soldiers scrambled down the ledge, and a tired lieutenant quickly prepared for a plunge into that pool. But he was met with a sharp command from across the pond:

"Halt!"

"What are your orders?" said the lieutenant.

"Sir," came the answer, "my orders are to prevent all officers, soldiers and natives from bathing in that pool. The water is reserved for the coffee for supper."

"Why didn't you tell me before I stripped?"

"Sir, I have no orders to prevent any man from stripping."

Self-Sacrifice.

Marjory and Janice were having luncheon at a small table, while the guests were being served in the dining room. At 12 Marjory and her mother returned home, Marjory announced that she hadn't liked the salad.

"Why, Marjory," said her mother, "you ate all of it."

"Yes, I know I did."

"Why did you eat it then?" questioned her mother.

"Well, because I didn't want to make you ashamed of myself," replied the child.

Formalities Discouraged.

"Politeness is always desirable," "It used to be. But now when you say 'please' you are simply wasting the telephone operator's time."

Incorrigible Flirt.

A newly married couple have just moved into a bungalow in what the real estate people call "a new development" near New York. The benevolent land company runs an electric car from the property to the railway station. This car, which (like the Toonerville trolley) meets all trains, is manned, as usual, by a conductor and a motor-man, both of whom are naturally on very friendly terms with the patrons. The other day the bride's mother came to visit her. She noticed that her daughter often waved a greeting toward the electric car as it passed the house. "Why, Gladys," said the old lady, "do you know all the conductors on this line already?"—Exchange.

Confirmed Suspicion.

Uncle Mose was one of those omniscient persons who always refuse to acknowledge either astonishment or ignorance. When the circus and the sideshow came to town and the presiding dignitary called for someone to go up on the stage, Mose was pushed forward. Presently the magician was taking various wonderful articles out of Mose's garments. Lastly, he extracted a pair of white rabbits from Mose's bushy wool.

"Weren't you surprised at the rabbits, Mose?" asked his master, afterward.

"No, sah," Mose answered. "Fact is, sah, I'd been suspecting 'dey's some rabbits up there fo' some time."

Final Stroke of Diplomacy.

Big sister was going to have a few of her school friends in for the evening, and little brother, whose regular bedtime is 7:30 o'clock, invariably, was anxious to meet them. During the day he tried all sorts of blandishments upon his mother, who seemed obdurate. Being an affectionate and persistent little fellow, he usually wins his way to what he wants. This time, however, all things seemed to fail, and he was discouraged. After a little meditation, he brightened up, ran to his mother, and said: "Mother, the reason why I want to stay up tonight is to let those people really see there are some children in this house."

Domestic Turkey.

Dr. W. T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park, hold this view of the turkey: "In view of the fact that the wild turkey so closely resembles the domestic turkey of the best sort, I am strongly of the opinion that the domestic turkey has come down from the wild species without any cross-breeding whatsoever. Between the wild gobbler and a first-class domestic gobbler, about the only difference discernible is that the domestic bird has light-gray upper tail coverts, and the same feathers of the wild bird are colored like those of the remainder of the back."

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate through the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Drink plenty of water."

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, g. e. Anuric at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will know that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

KNOCKOUT FOR MR. BROWN

His Better Half's Story of Experience With Lottery Certainly Not Flattering to Him.

Mrs. Brown has a special horror of lotteries, and at all times and places she embraces every opportunity of holding forth with vehemence concerning this pet abomination. Her indignation will therefore be imagined when, one evening, her worthy spouse came home and proudly announced that he had joined a goose club. For something like an hour she poured the vials of wrath on her unfortunate husband's head, while he endeavored meekly to bear it all.

At last the warmth of the attack proved quite too much for the long-enduring John, and he decided that the time had come for him to fire up in return.

"I suppose, my dear," said he, endeavoring to be sarcastic, "you were never in a lottery, were you?"

But, alas for the speaker! Mrs. Brown turned upon him with withering scorn.

"Once, John, and only once," said she. "They say, as you know, that marriage is a lottery. Well, I went in for that, and I myself won a goose!"—London Tit-Bits.

Unfair Competition.

Bill Stubbs had long enjoyed the distinction of being the homeliest man in Steubenville, and it was, therefore, something of a shock to him when one of the natives came to the store where they were accustomed to congregate, with this announcement:

"Boys, there's a homelier man than Bill over to the depot. A fellow by the name of Cobb that gives lectures."

Without a word Bill started across the street and was gone some time.

"Well," asked the native when Bill returned, "Dye give up?"

"Tuh!" Bill replied, in disgust, "he's a professional."—National Sunday Magazine.

She Countered Neatly.

Three young chaps were eating in the dining room at one of Pittsburgh's pleasure parks, and incidentally were trying to flirt with the pretty waitress. After devouring everything in sight they decided to have some ice cream and cake.

"What kind will you have? Devil's food, plain or nut cakes?" asked the waitress.

"Give me devil's food," said two of them, and the other asked for walnut cake.

"Two devils and one nut," cried the bright young girl.

NEWS OF RICHMOND

Richmond, Va.—"I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with the best effect. I had a very serious cough and cold with a high fever; the cough was exceedingly harsh and so violent as to give me an irritating sore throat with hoarseness and a compressed feeling in my lungs. The cough reduced my strength and I had to stop work. At the same time I was suffering from indigestion and had to live on stale bread and milk. My liver also was in a very inactive condition, as well as my bowels. These symptoms readily yielded to the 'Discovery' to my great pleasure and comfort."—MR. JOHN H. EANES, 638 S. Laurel St.—Adv.
