THE PUBLIC AT INTEREST

It is not alone the newspapers of the country which are at interest in the increasing cost of newsprint paper. That newspaper enterprises are being badly hit by the vast increase in the cost of paper is a heavy burden upon them, and it means that the weaker will be forced to the wall unless the public bears part of the pressure on finances of the publishers. And so the public is concerned in the exorbitant charges being made for print paper.

Already newspapers throughout the country have found it absolutely necessary to advance the subscription rates of their papers. It is certain that other papers will have to do the same thing. It seems that it will not be long before it will be necessary to increase the prices charged advertisers in order that newspapers may be able to stem the tide of the incoming waves of high prices.

What has come shows that in a larger degree the public, the men and the women who buy newspapers, will be called upon to meet the increased cost of publication. So it is that the public is at interest in the matter of the newspapers securing relief, in developing some plan by which the cost of newsprint paper be reduced. In all of the States the newspaper men have been casting about for ways and means to meet the situation, but as yet nothing is in sight except retrenchment in every department of newspaper work, the elimination of the entire free list, and close attention to the waste of paper in every way.

The Trade Commission on December 12 again takes up the matter of the print paper situation and the newspaper men are to be represented in the hearings before that body, an endeavor to be made to discover why the paper makers have arbitrarily advanced the price of print paper. Plans are being made to carry to Congress the appeal of the newspapers for relief, and a call is to be made to the country at large that the people urge upon Congress such legislation as will aid in restoring conditions to the normal. Every man, every woman, who reads a paper is interested, and from all portions of the country letters should go to the Representatives and Senators in Congress asking that some action be taken which will be of value in ending the exorbitant prices for newsprint paper, for this is certainly in restraint of trade. It has been the habit of the people to call upon the newspapers for aid. Now the newspapers call upon the people to aid them, and in so doing to aid themselves. — Exchange
