

DRIVE MALARIA OUT OF THE SYSTEM

BABEK for That Tired Feeling

A GOOD TONIC AND APPETIZER

The Politest Man. Vice President Marshall declares that the politest man lives in Newark, Ohio.

"I'm sorry, but I'll have to bid you good night," the man said. "I've got to go home now."

To Drive Out Malaria And Build Up The System Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC.

Same Old Lectures. On a certain occasion Professor Brander Matthews of Columbia university, speaking jokingly of his age, said he trusted that he was not so old that the students could play on him the trick he once saw tried on a senior professor in his own college days.

"Professor Blank," he said, "was our most venerable instructor, and he could be just a little irritable at times. Once, noticing that a member of his class who sat right under his eye never took any notes or paid the slightest attention to his lectures, he stopped abruptly and demanded: 'See here, young man, what do you mean by coming into my classroom day after day and never taking notes?'"

"I have my father's," was the student's complacent reply. "Youth's Companion."

What Ailed Smith. A plainly dressed man, who introduced himself as Mr. John Smith, walked into a doctor's office in a Texas town, and, having explained his symptoms, asked the doctor how long it would take to cure him.

"You will require careful treatment under my personal supervision for about two months before you are able to resume your labors in the bank."

"Doctor, you are fooling yourself. I am not Smith the banker, but Smith, the street car driver."

A Sad Memory. Availing herself of her ecclesiastical privileges, the clergyman's wife asked questions which, coming from anybody else, would have been thought impertinent.

"I presume you carry a memento of some kind in that locket you wear?" she said.

"Yes, ma'am," said the parishioner, "it is a lock of my husband's hair."

"But your husband is still alive," the lady exclaimed.

"Yes, ma'am, but his hair is gone."

"There's a Reason"

SMALL GEESE FLOCKS ON GENERAL FARMS

TOULOUSE AND EMDEN ARE POPULAR BREEDS.

Geese can be raised in small flocks on general farms, on pasture or non-productive land, and do not require any material amount of grain. Low, rough pasture land, used for pasturing other stock and containing a natural supply of water, offers the best conditions.

FIGHT AGAINST TICKS

Battle in South on Insect Must Be Kept Up During War.

Elimination of Pest Will Make Possible Greater and More Profitable Development of Beef and Milk-Producing Cattle.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.) The South's battle against the tick must not lag. It is not work which may be dropped during the course of war.

Faced by the war demand for more meat, let us take advantage of an opportunity which lies close to hand. Let us recognize that it is our definite duty to turn our abundant grasses, our cheap and available concentrated feeds, and our mild climate to good milk and butter.

Not only will the elimination of the tick make possible the greater and more profitable development of our native cattle; it will make possible also the bringing in of better beef and milk-producing stock, which now cannot live under the attacks of ticks and the deadly germs of cattle fever which they transmit.

The tick works for our enemies by keeping down the supply of three of our most important foods. Let us recognize this pest, therefore, as an enemy also. And let us wage against him from today on, without interruption, a war of extermination.

RICHEST PLACE FOR GARDEN

On Too Many Farms Soil is Never Rich Enough to Grow Finest Quality of Vegetables.

"Rotate the garden crops but not the garden spot," is the good advice given by Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon. On too many farms the garden is never in the same place more than two years in succession, with the result that the land is never made rich enough to grow really fine vegetables.

GOOD HOT WEATHER MOTTO

Start Early and Work Late, If Need Be, But Take Good Long Rest After Midday Meal.

"Start early and work late, if need be, but rest a good long while after dinner," is a motto the farmer should keep in mind this hot weather. It doesn't pay to bolt meals or to begin work too soon after eating.

DON'T CROWD CHICKEN FLOCK

Huddled Heap of Frightened Fowls at Market Has No Appeal—Give Plenty of Room.

Chickens look better when they are not crowded. A huddled heap of frightened chickens at the market has no appeal. Put those same chickens in a small crate with plenty of room, and they at least will not look sick.

COLT DURING FIRST SUMMER

Care He Receives Determines to Large Degree His Efficiency When He Is Matured.

The colt is the work horse of tomorrow, and the care he receives during his first summer determines to a large degree his efficiency when mature, according to Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

GIRL OF 14 SOLDIER'S WIFE

While Her Husband Fights in France Young Bride Will Go to School in This Country.

A fourteen-year-old schoolgirl became a soldier's wife in Brooklyn recently, thus following the example of her mother, who became the bride of one of Uncle Sam's men in khaki 14 months ago.

Mattie Lee Hudsbeth of Douglas, Ariz., was the latest bride, says the Brooklyn Eagle. The soldier boy who became her husband is David Eugene Henry of Spring, Tex. The bridegroom is only twenty-two, and a member of the Twenty-second infantry, now stationed at Fort Hamilton.

The girl's stepfather went abroad with General Pershing and is now "somewhere in France." His wife planned to join him and came East. While waiting passports here her daughter met Henry, with whom she became acquainted in Arizona two years ago.

While the bride's mother is absent in France her daughter will remain here and will attend school.

Its Aspect.

"Yours must be a war garden." "What do you mean?" "I notice it is full of flags."

Sometimes you can pick out fools by their questions and wise ones by their answers. And sometimes you can't.

One-Sided Recognition.

They passed on the street without speaking, but their eyes had mutual recognition and challenge. She was accompanied by a female friend, and he had a male companion. When they had passed the girl said:

"That was poor Jack Jurgens. He didn't speak, but you noticed his look, didn't you? Poor boy, it hurts me to think how he has never got over my refusal to marry him. Of course he was all broken up at the time, but I thought he would soon get over it. He's thinner, isn't he? I do hope that he hasn't plunged into dissipation. He couldn't trust himself to speak, could he? Oh, dear!"

And the man was saying: "Did you see how that dame gave me the eye? I suppose I should have spoken to her, because I can't help thinking I've met her somewhere—her face is familiar, but I can't place her."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Theory.

"Does your husband subscribe to the theory that kissing transmits germs?" "No; he thinks that germs are mostly transmitted by money, and is very careful not to hand me any."

IN BED FOR WEEKS

Mr. Smith Was in a Bad Way, But Doan's Restored Him to the Best of Health.

In April, 1916, Louis Smith, 90 New St., Hackensack, N. J., said: "Words fail to describe the misery I endured from kidney complaint. In my work I have to do a lot of heavy lifting and this weakened my kidneys. At first I only suffered from a slight backache, but almost before I knew it, I was all bent over like a man a hundred years old."

"I began to grow worse as the days passed and finally I had to take to my bed where I remained for weeks. My head pained terribly and my back just throbbled. I was always dizzy and it seemed as if everything was whirling. Little black specks came before my eyes and I also suffered from painful and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. Everything seemed dark and dreary."

"Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me and I am enjoying the best of health now."

"Sworn to before me." E. M. Johnson, Justice Peace. On March 19, 1917, Mr. Smith added: "I will never forget what Doan's have done for me. Whenever I catch cold on my kidneys, I can depend on Doan's to fix me up all right."
