A Quiet Marriage.
On Sunday morning last Mr. J. R. Manning of Bethel, N. C., and Miss Sadie Chesson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Chesson of near Westover, this county drove into town and were quietly married at the Methodist Parsonage at seven o'clock, by Rev. B. T. Hurley, only a few intimate friends being present.

We wish them a happy married life.

The week beginning with Monday, October 8th and ending with Saturday, October 13th, will be Red Cross Week in Plymouth.

Everybody is urged to co-operate with the Ladies' Auxiliary in their efforts to make it a big success. A special appeal is made to the children to eat less candy, fewer ice cream cones, and see fewer movies—in other words, to save their pennies, nickles and dimes for Red Cross Week. They will be given work to do also. Parents are asked to help get the interest of the children aroused. Now, if ever, is the time to teach them the spirit of unselfishness and self-sacrifice.

Plans and other announcements will be made next week. Mrs. JAS. W. NORMAN, Chm.

Engagement Announcement.

On Monday afternoon last Mrs. R. P. Walker delightfully entertained at her home on Main Street.

The living room was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers, and three tables were arranged for bridge. After very interesting games refreshments were served by little Miss Margaret Chesson Doster, daughter of her house guest, Mrs. F. J. Dosier of Tarboro, N. C., and little Miss Margaret Ross Walker. Later the guests were invited into the adjoining room to try their fates at the wheel of fortune. On the center table, which was banked with goldenrod and fern, stood little Miss Margaret Ross Walker dressed as Cupid, turning a spinning wheel, on the spokes of which were tied heart-shaped folders containing fortunes for each guest. Mrs. Walker read the fortunes as she took them from the wheel, and the last announced the engagement of Miss Sadie Saunders Chesson to Mr. Needham Bryan Stevens, the wedding to take place on November the seventh.

Miss Chesson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Chesson of Plymouth, N. C., and Mr. Stevens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stevens of near Goldsboro, N. C.
