Judy Canova Usual Uproarious Self in Her Newest Comedy

"Sleepytime Gal" Showing At Plymouth Theatre Thursday Only

With a super-abundance of laughter, good humored gaiety and light brightest Judy Canova stars in "Sleepytime Gal", is showing today only (Thursday) at the Plymouth Theatre.

Judy Canova is more than just an actress, or just a comedienne. She is symbolic of the entire American way of life—full of good humor and courage in the face of any adversity. Her type of humor springs from the soil itself; it is as typically American as ham and eggs. Her troubles, and the bizarre complications in which she finds herself enmeshed, are as real to her fans as their own and she has the faculty, rarely achieved by a comedian, of moving her audience from laughter to profound sympathy in a split second of time. Charlie Chaplin is one of few other comedians whose tears are as effective as their laughter.

Tom Brown adds to his laurels in the top male role, that of the engaging bell hop captain whose love for his fiancée (Mildred Coles) goes him onward in his attempt to make a radio Prima Donna of Judy which will result in financial return to her backers. Cooperating with the brash bellhop in this enterprise are three engagingly wacky chefs, Popadopolis, Petrovitch and Brazumimum, played respectively by Billy Gilbert, Fritz Feld and Jay Novello. To this culinary trio goes credit for many a hilarious comedy sequence.

Other members of the cast who acquit themselves well are Harold Hubert, Ruth Terry, Skinnay Ennis, Jerry Lester, Jimmy Ames and Elisha Cook, Jr.

Al Rogell directed under Associate Producer Albert J. Cohen.

'Down Mexico Way' Latest Gene Autry Film Booked Here

Plenty of Action, Comedy For Western Fans Saturday Only

Blazing guns, fast getaway action, comedy galore, hit tunes, and Public Cowboy Number One, Gene Autry, is the neat cinematic package which, under the title of "Down Mexico Way", will be here Saturday only at the Plymouth Theatre. Produced by Republic, this is no "ordinary" western, but a lavishly produced saga geared for topnotch entertainment.

As the title might suggest, "Down Mexico Way" has an instance of true Pan-American cooperation as its theme. Gene and his boisterously funny pal, Frog Millhouse—always played by Smiley Burnette in the entire Autry series—have gone south of the border into Mexico in search of Gibson and Gerald, two phoney motion picture producers.

They ultimately discover the two phonies in the act of swindling Don Alvarado, a wealthy citizen, by promising to produce a picture locally. With Don Alvarado's daughter, Maria Elena, on his side, Gene persuades the don not to turn over any of his money unless Gibson and Gerald put up an equal sum, but Gene enlists the aid of famed Mexican police, the Rurales, to capture and bring them to justice.

Fay McKenzie, whose dancing feet and golden voice won her a Republic contract after scoring heavily in the stage musical, "Meet the People", plays Maria Elena, the feminine lead. Harold Hubert steps out of his usual characterizations as a "heavy", to do the comedy role of Pancho Grande, a reformed and genial ex-

Edentonian Orchestra Is Secured for Free Opening Dance at Beach Friday

L. W. Gurkin, owner of Albemarle Beach about seven miles from here on Albemarle Sound, announced Monday that everything was in readiness for the gala opening there tomorrow night (Friday) with a free dance. Music will be furnished by the Edentonian Orchestra.

In addition to the dancing the entire facilities of the beach will be opened for the season. Bathing and boating will be available from now on, and Mr. Gurkin has several cottages for rent to any who wish to spend their

Highway Traffic Shows Big Drop

Raleigh.—Automobile travelers took their last fling at pleasure driving on the week-end of May 9-10, according to official figures computed by Statistics Engineer James S. Burch of the State Highway and Public Works Commission. However, April 15-16, first week-end to feel the pinch of gasoline rationing saw traffic take a tumble of about 45 per cent.

"Magic-eye" traffic counters on eleven important highways made the count. The only exception was from a counter near the important cotton mills of Cleveland County where the meter showed but a 13.7 decrease. However, this was lopped off a 25 per cent decrease already shown the preceding week-end from the '41 figure.

bandit. Topping the supporting cast are Sidney Blackmer, Duncan Renaldo, Arthur Loft and Ruth Robinson.

Autry Westerns In Special Class

Republic has brought the formerly humble western into the "Class A" group, with its new policy to expend $300,000 apiece on two Autry super-specials per year. The first of these, "Melody Ranch" proved the success of the experiment, and "Down Mexico Way," which shows here Saturday at the Plymouth Theatre, is expected to follow through.

career. Bromberg has rarely played the same characterization twice. In "Under Two Flags," he was a commander at a French Foreign Legion Post. In "Four Men And A Prayer," he portrayed a revolutionary leader, shortly after finishing a part in "Girls' Dormitory," in which he was seen as a mathematics teacher. Too, one of his best performances to date was as the railroad detective in "Jesse James".

Currently in "Hurricane Smith", Bromberg is cast as a crafty gangster. Middleton has the title role as a young rodeo performer, while Jane Wyatt is his newspaper-woman-sweetheart. Featured also are Harry Davenport, Henry Brandon, Rod Bacon, and Frank Darien. Bernard Vorhaus directed.
