

"That's Jim Smith's Building—

and I'll bet five dollars it isn't insured."

He was correct. Jim Smith had "put off" the matter of insuring his property and it was the same old story—"total loss."

A Fable For Pacifists

By Samuel Hopkins Adams of the Vigilantes.

IN time of General War among the Insect Tribes the Bees remained at Peace. That they might conduct their Pursuits undisturbed, the Honey Bees chose as their leaders certain King Bees of Courage and Prowess to guard their Interests, their Lives and their Honor. To these Guardians came Savers from among the Tribe of Ruthless Soldiers, saying: "Henceforth the Air is forbidden to your Wings, for there are Spread our Webs for our Enemies."

"But the Air is our proper Province," protested the Chosen Leaders of the Bees. "Shut out from it how shall we continue to exist in Prosperity and Honor?"

"That is nothing to Us," replied the Ruthless Spiders. "Whoso disobeys our Orders we will destroy. Be warned."

"This thing we will not Endure," said the Bee Leaders, and they set about spreading their Wings and sharpening their Stings for Combat.

But as they prepared to fight there arose from among the Mass of Honey Bees a clamor of Pacifist Buzzers, crying out in many voices (some of which echoed the Spider accents):

"It is not the will of the tribe that we go to war. Make no movement until opportunity is given for all to vote upon the question."

So the Chosen Leaders were bound to inaction, awaiting the vote of the Honey Bees, whose interest and lives and honor they guarded.

When in the course of tribal events the vote had been registered the Pacifist Buzzers were overthrown by the resentment of an angered tribe, and the word went out to the Chosen Leaders: "Our honor has been assailed, our will is for war, go forth and fight."

But the Chosen Leaders did not fight.

To Cleanse Fur of a Cat.

Take a large cupful of granulated corn meal, add pinch of fine grape seed. Place cat on apron or other cloth. Then rub meal gently and thoroughly through the fur, gathering the meal up and repeating three or four times. This will heal and leave skin perfectly clean and the fur soft and luxuriant. Will also remove fleas.
