Look for Santa Claus in Our Window

He Has Promised to Spend the Day With Us and talk to the boys and girls, and will have a few things to give away. He has lots of things to tell you, so don't fail to come and see him. Now, boys and girls, don't disappoint Santa.

In front of the store we will have a SANTA CLAUS POST OFFICE BOX for the little children. Write Santa what you want him to bring you, drop the letter in the box and we will forward the letter at once to Santa. Don't use any stamp; we will furnish the stamp ourselves.

We still have a few Single and Double Barrel Shot Guns, Pistols, Cartridges and Shells, Boys' Base-balls, Bats and Mitts, Flashlights, Hunting Coats, Hats, Caps, etc.

Where Santa Loads His Sled

Old Santa scratched his frosty head,
And pulled his sunny beard and said,
"Where shall I load my Christmas sled?"

I want a place that has fine toys
Of every sort for little boys,
And tricks that make a harmless noise;

And dolls for little girls, too,
Dolls blonde-haired with eyes of blue,
And dolls that will not break in two.

And bowls and plates of China ware,
And fancy work, exquisite, rare,
Such things as most please ladies fair;

And booklets full of rhymes and scenes
With pictured Christmas evergreens,
And handsome Christmas magazines.

Why there's a place—I do declare!
Brevard, Broad Street, two doors from where
Folks get their mail—they've got things there!

I've searched the country o'er and o'er,
But now I'll hesitate no more,
Oh, reindeer, to
