BOHANCUS IS STILL UNCHANGED

Editor Brevard News:

I come again in my feeble way, to try to answer two articles that are unsurpassed by their logic or brilliancy. I would rather they would come one at a time as I could answer one better than I can two or four, as at the first.

"Bohancus" seems to irk the ire of a few by his assumed name. "A. P. B." admits that he has the right to use it although it is high sounding, I want to assure them they can easily find out who the writer is, and I also have the same rights they have to hide behind a "Nom Deplume."

I am going to pass up Miss "A. P. B." as it is a repetition of what has already been said, and there is nothing to it and therefore can't be answered.

Clubby Woman, she first came "A Club Woman," I am satisfied there is always to be a club in it, refers "in the Main" to my letter being a restatement of my former one. I want to deny that charge as any unbiased suffergette can see she makes an error in that charge. I am going to ignore the famous poodle dog and the rooster, and as to my opinions I will express them in print as long as they will publish them free and when they refuse I will pay them to do it.

Woman voting will not change the face of politics any. As all the men's wives will vote as their husbands do, just like they belong to the same church.

There will be a few women who will make their miserable excuse they have for a man to vote as she wants him to vote, same as she makes him do other thing except as to the black, chocolate and tan.

Does my good friends, the suffergette want the same condition to exist in North Carolina, as did from 1894 to 1900? Do they want their little sisters, the young school narms going to the office of a "high yaller" or a coal black for a certificate to teach school down in Eastern North Carolina? Do they want to see as many "Niggers" in the North Carolina Legislature as were in 1897.

Suffergetts have forgotten that the first Act of the Legislature of 1901 was to send a committee to the state, institution for the blind, white children to have a "high yaller's" name chiseled off the corner stone of that institution and the scars of that chisel are still in evidence as a mute reminder that Col. James Young, a gentlemen of color, was a director of that institution and had the right to visit, go through, and into the rooms, examine the clothes and the condition of the children, whom the heavy hand of God had been laid upon.

That within itself is enough to make the blood boil and the flesh crawl of any Anglo Saxon.

Get equal suffrage, and you will enfranchise enough women in North Carolina to bring about these conditions. A Democratic Register can't say to one of them "high yaller's" and coal black ladies, "Explain the Constitution satisfactorily to me" She will say, get out my way you white trash lemme dar. And she is going to get there.

There are enough black men who can vote and who do vote and whom you can't keep from voting to have colored office holders in over twenty counties in North Carolina. And I will say, to those whose who want it to come on with banners flying and your sounding brass and tinkling cymbals. I can stand it if Sarah Jane and Polly Ann can.

As to Judge Clark, a small guy like myself couldn't afford to attack anything he has to say, as he must have said that years ago. As far as I know there is no organization against equal suffrage, and the liquor interests and elements are a thing of the past, and I, who am against equal suffrage with both teeth and toe nails, and every other way. I helped to and every other way, to rid North Carolina of the liquor curse and many more whom I can name did likewise, and I was not influenced by any woman or man. I did it because I thought it was for the good of the people and my Country, who couldn't resist the temptation to spend their money for liquor when their poor miserable wives and children needed it at home.

All along in my articles I have wanted to refrain from mentioning the conditions some twenty years ago. What I have said is as true as preaching, and a matter of history.

Some guy got this off, "History repeats itself." I would come all around promising to wear a dress and roll a baby carriage if the negro didn't come back and "Liza and Ida" would again sit in the galleries of our Legislative Halls and look down on George Washington Abraham Lincoln Jones, the gentlemen from Craven or Wake.

It has been said, and well said, that "None but women and fools indulge in newspaper controversies," and I also plead guilty of being a fool, that has never given up.

In conclusion I want to add, "The hair of dogs, The fur of cats, The eye of bats, The toe of frogs."

BOHANCUS.

THE PRAYER CORNER

I do not believe that any true American can fail to accept with enthusiasm that which has been adopted at The Peace Conference in Paris. In my judgement the fears which have been expressed in the United States Senate and in some newspapers are unworthy of any patriot.

The Covenant ought to be adopted 'con amore', first because the distinguished representatives, who have been discussing these matters at the center of things must be better able to judge the matter comprehensively than any private individuals at long distance; secondly, because it seems to me far more commendable to suppose that the generations to come will be more able to deal with any difficulties which may arise than we of this generation; thirdly, it is most unworthy of the American spirit of democracy to be thinking only of ourselves and not the general good.

—Bishop of Pittsburg

It is a false patriotism and a perverted nationalism which denies our obligation to assist in maintaining throughout the world those principles upon which our national life exists. "Liberty enlightening the World," has been the recognized symbol of our nation's mission to mankind. If we refuse now to translate that idea into an acceptance of practical obligation, we shall deny the fundamental principle for which our country has stood from the beginning of its history.

—Bishop of Albany

A Prayer For The World
 O, God, our Creator and Governor, at whose word the earth came forth from darkness into light; we beseech Thee to pour Thy Spirit into the hearts of all men that they may cease from violence and turn themselves to creature wor. Let Thy lights shine upon the counsels of their hearts, that selfishness may be rebuked and that those who sincerely desire the good of mankind may be known and followed. Grant that all nations may perform their several parts in making Thy Truth to be known and join them in a strong Covenant of Peace.

which shall prepare Thy Way and hasten the coming of
 through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

FRENCH BROAD CAMPERS MAKE TRIP TO ASHEVILLE

A trip by boat to Asheville was made by several French Broad Camp boys last Saturday. About twenty-five of the boys who are in the camp this year made the trip down the French Broad. This boating trip has become an annual feature of each season. The trip last Saturday was made in record time and without any serious mishaps. After spending several hours in Asheville the boys returned to camp by motor and the boats were brought back in trucks.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS MONDAY NIGHT

The regular meeting of Connestee Lodge No. 237 I. O. O. F. which takes place next Monday night will be featured by the election of officers. At the same meeting the Connestee Lodge will be consolidated with the Rosman organization of Oddfellows. This is to be one of the most important occasions of recent months in local fraternal circles and all Oddfellows are requested to be present Monday night.

BETTER SERVICE TO TOXAWAY

Beginning July 30 the Southern Railway Company put in effect a new schedule between Brevard and Lake Toxaway. Train no. 5 which leaves Brevard at 11:40 A. M. will continue through to Lake Toxaway and return to Brevard at 3:27 P. M. This service will be on Wednesdays and Saturdays only and will continue throughout the season. The new schedule will give those who wish to visit Lake Toxaway the opportunity to do so in one day. The trip to Lake Toxaway is a very popular one with visitors and residents of the town when they plan for a day's outing and the schedule recently inaugurated by the Southern was put on with the special purpose of accommodating these people.

WOODLAND PLAYERS COMING TO BREVARD

Miss Hortense Neilson, who is a well-known interpreter of Shakespearian roles, is coming to Brevard at an early date. She is said to have with her a company of very exceptional players. They will give two performances here and will probably present "As You Like It" and "The Merchant Of Venice."
