Wilson Buried as All the World Except Germany and Italy Mourns.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

700DROW WILSON'S death, which occurred on the morning of Sunday, February 8, cast a shadow of gloom over the entire country. For three days, while the body of the great idealist lay in , the family home in Washington, the business of the nation was almost at a standstill, for congress was in recess. On Wednesday afternoon the remains of the twentyeighth president were laid to rest in the crypt of the National cathedral, and for one minute the nation stood sllent and facing the east. Everywhere, in America and in foreign lands, flags were at half staff, and in many cities memorial services were held. It was an impressive tribute to one who, as the years pass, will be given yet greater recognition for his devoted work for humanity.

Only in Germany and Italy was the cribute refused. Germans hate Mr. Wilson's memory because they believe he led them to surrender by false promises. Italians cannot forgive him for his refusal to permit them to grab Flume and Albania as spoils of war. The German embassy in Washington had the unenviable distinction of being the only one whose flag was not flown at half staff until the afternoon of the funeral.' This was in harmony with instructions from Berlin, but it was said in that city that Ambassador Wledfeldt might be recalled because of the incident.

The services for Mr. Wilson in his home were private, attended only by badly timed interview in which he President Coolidge and the relativest tells of his recent discovery of "a seand close friends. Then, through the slight city the funeral procession moved slowly to Mount St. Alban, where stands the unfinished Protestant Episcopal cathedral. In the Bethlethey had found little to aid in the re-, able personages of this and other hem chapel gathered a throng of notcountries, and all about the altar and the casket were heaped the many of Chattanooga. Accompanied by Lloyd George's statements. The forthe members of the family, Mrs. Wilson entered the crypt, and as the final part of the burial service was recited there came from without the music of taps, sounded by Staff Sergeant Witchey of the Third cavalry, on the same bugle he used in sounding taps at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier on Armistice day of 1921. The call was echoed by another bugle far across at the shrine at Arlington.

the provisions for storage tanks at points where the naval experts thought they should be located. In conclusion he said: "I affirm that the leases were legal and did carry out the expressed wills of congress. They prevented the further loss of millions of dollars' worth of oil. They placed oil on the coast and in the Hawaiian islands, where it could be reached quickly in case of emergency. They greatly increased the power of the navy to defend the United States, which in its essence is its principal duty."

Albert B. Fall having refused to estify further before the senate committee on the ground that he might incriminate himself and that the committee" had lost its authority to continue the inquiry, the committee de cided, on advice of Special Counsel Strawn and Pomerene, not to permit him to testify unless he waived im-munity. This presages drastic action against Fall later. Subpoenas for many other witnesses were issued and it was said the committee was to bring about , further startling disclosures.

William G. McAdoo arrived in Washington and it was understood that he would be given the chance he asked to explain to the committee the nature of the services he gave to Doheny in return for $150,000. No one doubts that those services were entirely legitimate, but McAdoo's best friends do not deny that his candidacy for the presidential nomination has suffered a severe blow. In similar case is Theodore Roosevelt. His connection with the oil affairs was of the slenderest, yet it is said that his gubernatorial boom in New York state is waning fast. Not justice nor fairness, but unreasoning public senti-ment rules in both instances.

VENIZELOS has resigned as premier of Greece; turning that post over to Kafandaris, who formed a new ministry, but the venerable petriot is still dominating the policies of the government. In order that Queen Marle of Rumania may not stir up trouble on the ground that her son-in-law, King George, has not been given a square deal, Kafandaris has rejected the suggestion of Henry Morgenthau that the status of the Glucksburg dynasty be settled before the plebiscite is held to determine the form of government.

PRIME MINISTER MACDONALD of Great Britain says the British ecognition of the Russian soviet government is absolute and without guibbles. He also says both Russia and Germany must be admitted to membership in the League of Nations and that he believes France will consent to this. Concerning British relations with France, he says the "hesitating and negative attitude" of the British government has been abandoned. Already, at his suggestion, the French government has agreed to quit its support of the separatists in the Palatinate and the Rhineland. This automatically answers a strong protest sent last week by Berlin to Paris complaining of the French ald to the separatists and demanding that conditions in the Palatinate be re-established in accordance with the treaty. Germany also asks the withdrawal of the customs measures in the occupied territory. Italy and Russia signed, a commercial treaty on Thursday and Mussolint thus recognized the Soviet government. - He will soon appoint an ambassador to Moscow.

Fort Towson, Okla .- "I used Cardui for years," says Mrs. M. C. Ragsdale, of this place, "and I know it did me more good than any medicine I ever used

"I used to suffer with womanly trouble that weakened me until I was a mere shadow, nervous, and could not eat or sleep. I did not feel that I could live.

"It seemed that nothing I took helped me till I heard of Cardul and began to use it. It strengthened me as it was recommended to do. It regulated and built me up till I was like another woman."

Cardul is a safe, mild-acting exfract of medicinal herbs and contains no harmful or deleterious ingredients. One of its chief ingredients has been in use for hundreds of years for the reatment of certain female troubles. It is a scientific medicine, made in a scientific way.

Thousands of women have written to describe how Cardui has relieved them of pain and suffering, and helped them to build up their health and strength.
