

WEEKLY TELESCOPE NEWS

ITEMS GATHERED FROM OVER STATE AND NATION

Atlanta, Jan. 4—New Year's week ran Christmas week a close second in the number of traffic fatalities in the Southern States. The death toll for the week just ending was 61, while the previous week witnessed a death toll of 70 persons in traffic. There were 279 injured last week on the highways as against upwards of 400 the week previous. These figures were revealed by a survey made in eleven states. North Carolina led the death column with fourteen killed, her nearest competitors being Florida and Mississippi, with eight each.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 6—Charles E. Welch, famous as a manufacturer of grape juice, died at his winter home here this morning after a short illness. He came here from his summer home in Westfield, N. Y., last week, driving down with his chauffeur. It is supposed that something he ate caused his sudden illness, resulting in his death.

Raleigh, Jan. 7—Three practical short courses in agronomy subjects are offered North Carolina farmers during January and February by the State College of Agriculture. These short courses will deal with the grading of hay, cotton classing, and soils and fertilizers. None of the courses will last over three days and all will be given without charge to the farmers attending. All will be taught by specialists in the department of agronomy.

New York, Jan. 7—The Metropolitan Museum of Art in this city will receive the bulk of the 40 million estate of the late Frank A. Munsey. This is the largest gift ever made to a museum of art in the world, and will probably make this great New York Museum the first of such institutions.

Washington, Jan. 7—It is to be regretted that General Pershing must come home for medical treatment before concluding his present mission in South America. Serious difficulties have come up in the Chilean and Peruvian controversy, in the course of which General Pershing seems to have lost his health.

Washington, Jan. 6—The administration has decided that the United States will participate officially in the preliminary meeting at Geneva in February to arrange for the League of Nations disarmament conference. Hugh S. Gibson, the American minister at Berne, Switzerland, is to represent this country. The president has been considering the personnel of the delegation to this conference, and it is his intention to select a bi-partisan mission which shall be thoroughly representative of the country's best thought.

New York, Jan. 8—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise startled the world recently by declaring that Jesus was not a myth as he had been taught, but a real man. He declared the teachings of Jesus comprise a code of ethics unparalleled in any writings of history.

Raleigh, Jan. 8—At Governor McLean's request, the warrant charging the executive with exceeding the speed limit in Nashville, N. C., on December 31, will be withdrawn and another will be issued for Hugh Davis, the governor's chauffeur. The chief executive stated that he was not riding in the car at the time of the alleged violation, and that therefore, he could not be personally "guilty of the offense charged."

New York, Jan. 8—Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt was married yesterday to Earl T. Smith in the drawing room of her mother's Fifth avenue home. After the ceremony a large reception was held in the drawing room from which the improvised altar had been removed. They left for an unnamed place in the south for a month's honeymoon trip before returning to their East 64th street home, the gift of the birds' father.

Baltimore, Jan. 9—A large fire in the downtown district swept through three buildings here today. The four and five-story structures were occupied by clothing and tapestry manufacturing concerns. The buildings destroyed by fire and water were valued at $150,000.

New York, Jan. 10—Anthracite miners and operators after nearly a five hour session today failed to reach an understanding and adjourned until the following morning. It was the first Sunday's session ever held in the long history of hard coal wage conferences.

Washington, Jan. 11—Announcement is made that the Department of Justice is conducting an investigation to determine whether there is in existence any combination of banking companies which is restrain-ing trade in violation of Federal anti-trust laws.

Washington, Jan. 12—The resignation of Representative Langley, Republican, of Kentucky, was received and accepted today by the House. It was tendered in a letter after the Supreme Court had refused to review his conviction for violation of the prohibition laws.

TEST THE CREAM SEPARATORS

Reports from more than 700 Cow Testers in charge of Cow Testing Associations in 30-odd states from California and Washington to Vermont and Virginia reveal that one of the biggest leaks on the average dairy farm is poor skimming by out-of-date and "orphan" cream separators that leave part of the cream. Hundreds of official testers report losses running into thousands of dollars annually when they first get to work in a newly organized association. It is hard to run a separator by hand at the proper speed to get all the cream regardless of how good the machine may be. In the first place, only new machines should be purchased and they should be bought from local dealer, who is on the job to represent manufacturers who turn out good equipment and stand back of it with reputations and service.
