

EVERETT FARM BOUGHT BY SYNDICATE

FARM NEWS

By L. A. AMMON

Need Breeding Stock

As things now stand, it looks to me that we will need some more White Leghorn breeds to set apart breeding pens. Mr. Yongue has an order for four thousand chicks, which will about take all his eggs. That leaves us with only one other large pen, and one medium and one small one. If orders should be received from outside we will be up against it. The incubators take eggs next Saturday and Monday, and the same days each week for the rest of the season. Just now we have orders for most enough to fill the first third of one machine.

Seed Potatoes

Look out for your seed potatoes. Soon be planting time, and seed are scarce. Let's have as large an acreage as possible, with the understanding that they will be shipped during August and September. At this time we will average the best price over a number of years. Then too, we can sell odds and ends of truck in mixed cars with the greater part being potatoes.

Cattle Sold

Several feeders contracted their fat cattle for future delivery during the past week. Cows delivered in March were sold at six cents, steers at eight cents, fat work oxen at six cents at the farm.

Sick Cows

Seems to be an unusual number of our best milk cows going off feed. Some from eating iver, some from eating too much, but the majority seem to be victims of just plain constipation. This trouble weakens the cow, and if not relieved in short order Bossie takes cold. Stand with heads out and low, with nose or eyes running. Treat them the same as for people allowing for the extra weight in proportion. Salt, kerosene, and ginger, make good with most cases. Some fail to come to appetite at once, and these should be given some form of powder in feed. The usual stock powders are good home remedies.

The thing to do is to not feed too much of constipating feeds, such as cotton meal and hulls, and especially hulls. Hulls are a binder for heavy fed cattle, and were never intended for cows receiving medium to light rations. One-half gallon of meal per day is enough. Shorts for rest.

Present Owners Expect To Develop Property

Purchase Price Is Around $500,000

The Everett property, known as Engadine Farms, consisting of 3,000 acres, six miles from Brevard, two and one-half miles from Davidson River, one of the best farms in Transylvania County and home of the South's leading shorthorn herd, owned by R. W. Everett, of Brevard, was sold Tuesday for approximately one half million dollars.

Purchasers of the property are: Jake Wells, R. D. Young, Grady Pritchard and K. G. Morris. The deal was handled through the office of Jackson and Morris, real estate dealers of Hendersonville, and E. P. McCoy, of Pisgah Forest.

Plans announced, call for the development of the property into a high class restricted residential subdivision, and for the creation of an 18-hole golf course. An 80-foot boulevard, two miles and a half long, will connect the property with the main state highway running between Brevard and Hendersonville. About $100,000 will be spent on the initial development program. Work is to start within 30 days.

The sale of the property includes all the stock with the exception of the pure-bred cattle, which probably will be sold in early summer at auction to purebred breeders, possibly in Knoxville or Chicago. This herd of shorthorns won a number of first prizes at different stock shows and state fairs throughout middle and eastern United States last summer.

The buildings on the property are worth around $200,000, including a stately mansion, several cottages, two huge stone barns, built of gray stone quarried on the property, two silos with 120 ton and 200 ton capacity, and other modern out-buildings.

The Brevard Community Hatchery, located on the new High School grounds, will be ready for custom hatching Monday, February 15.

This hatchery is modernly equipped in every respect. Two Buckeye Mammoth Incubators, the newest models, each holding 12096 eggs, are the kind of machines that will render efficient service to this community. These machines hatch the baby chicks out into pure fresh air, three large electric fans keeping the dead air driven out of the hatching compartments.

In each machine there are 108 hatching trays. Of the 108 egg trays, only 36 are placed in the incubator each week. The quota of trays for next week for one machine is now practically engaged. A tray in the new model Bucky Incubator holds 112 standard size eggs. The price for hatching is $4.00 per tray or ten trays to one person for $35, payable when eggs are delivered to the hatchery. ### C. OF C. TO PUSH PUBLICITY PROGRAM

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, Secretary Alexander was authorized to proceed with the work of preparing the 1926 advertising literature.

Considerable more advertising will be used this year than was used in former years, and the organization authorized an order to be placed by the secretary for 10,000 booklets, which will be the principle literature distributed by the Chamber of Commerce. This booklet will be supplemented from time to time during the season by additional advertising.

It is expected that the booklet will be ready for distribution by the first of March.

The directors also authorized the initial purchase of 250 "Glad Hand" road signs. These signs will indicate the number of miles to Brevard from places of posting.

The committee appointed at a previous meeting to make a thorough canvass of the housing situation reported much encouragement, an dit appears that the facilities for accommodating visitors will be much more adequate than that of last year.

W. E. Breese was appointed official representative of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce to be the guest of the Hendersonville Chamber at a complimentary dinner to be given Colonel Wade Harris, editor of the Charlotte Observer. The dinner will be given in Charlotte, February 13, by the Hendersonville Chamber of Commerce.

The function honoring Col. Harris is prompted by the wonderful spirit that he has shown to Western North Carolina in the Charlotte Observer.

The subject of a modern commercial hotel of approximately 50 rooms was brought before the meeting, and the favorable discussion which followed would indicate that Brevard will have an up-to-date fire-proof hotel within the year.

The general dirty condition of the streets and alleys of the town was a subject for agitated discussion, which resulted in the appointment by a committee to call upon the Board of Aldermen in special session in effort to find a remedy and devise plans whereby the streets may be kept clean. The parking situation was also discussed with a view to having regulations made to relieve the congestion which was apparent last year.

Judge Forsythe Farm Purchased

Announcement is made of the purchase of a 200 acre tract of land, known as the Judge Forsythe place, by J. H. Townshend and George Morris, prominent business men of Memphis, Tenn., on which property will be established a summer camp for boys, Camp Chickasaw, by name. The camp, when completed, will represent an investment of approximately $60,000, it being the purpose of the owners to expend at least $25,000 on improvements. Mr. Morris, one of the owners, will also be camp director.

The camp site is situated one and one-half miles from Brevard, adjoining the Brevard Country Club and golf course, and overlooking the broad valley and the French Broad River, with a river frontage of almost two miles. The property is bounded in the north by Sugarloaf Mountain, and partially on the east and west by the mountain which provides an ideal watershed with numerous fresh water springs, and is bounded partly also on the east and west by the French Broad river and entirely on the south by the river. The river at this point is about 80 feet wide, with sufficient depth for canoeing, but shallow enough not to be dangerous. It is claimed that Chickasaw Camp will be the only camp around Brevard to be provided with a stream for canoeing.

Work on the camp is now in progress, and it is the intention of the owners to have the construction work completed and everything in readiness for the opening of the coming summer season. When completed, the camp will include 12 cabins, each with two compartments and accommodating eight boys; a dining hall with a seating capacity of 200; a gymnasium, equipped for basketball and other indoor sports, also a moving picture machine; a large concrete swimming pool, with chlorinated water supply, will insure a constant supply of fresh, clear water. Numerous fresh water springs on the property will provide an abundance of water for all drinking and cooking purposes. Tennis Courts, baseball diamond running track and provisions for all athletic activities will be located in the valley. The two-story home already on the property, the library and all outhouses are in good condition and will stand as at present located. R. H. Morrow, contracting engineer of Brevard, is in charge of all camp construction work.

The camp, it is claimed, will be situated not only in the most beautiful section of Western North Carolina, but will be, when completed one of the most thoroughly equipped and modern of the many camps that have been established in recent years. Notwithstanding the many summer camps in this section, Camp Chickasaw will be the first with a direct personal appeal to the boys of the Memphis territory. The name "Chickasaw" is taken from the name of a tribe of Indians formerly located near Memphis.

The location of this camp has a history that goes back more than half a century. The late Judge A. Forsythe, a former South Carolina planter of considerable wealth, in searching for a summer home, selected this site as the most altogether desirable in Western North Carolina, considering the scenery the most picturesque in the entire Blue Ridge section.

THE PRAYER CORNER

FELLOWSHIP WITH GOD, THE FATHER

Our fellowship is with the Father. May I share with my readers a beautiful thought from my reading on "Fellowship with God."

Our fellowship is with the Father. Ah, if we could but grasp that one truth, how would all life be elevated and inspired; how it would cease to look dim and mean and not worth living; how it would catch and reflect the glory of the encircling heaven. For this fellowship is Eternal Life.

Half the systems of human philosophy and religion have been devised to rear up some ladder of endless rounds between earth and heaven, to bridge, by some intermediate agencies, the fathomless cleft which seemed to separate man from God. There is but ONE Ladder; it is the Son of Man, on whom angels ascended and descended. There is but one bridge; it is that bridge of the Divine Humanity with its one vast span flung by God Himself over the immeasurable void.

When we separate ourselves from God by wilful sin, we may well despair, for then we are the most miserable and deplorable of all the creatures which God has made; but when we attain, as we may attain, to fellowship with Him, then we may feel that there is grandeur in the beatings of the heart, for then life is immortality.

And this fellowship with God, which lifts us up from the dust to enthrone us among the stars, also gives sanctity to the being of others. Just as we must often feel deep shame at our own unworthiness, so there is in human life an aspect so mean and ugly that at times we seem almost driven from our belief in our honor, for all but the few among our fellow men, especially when we look at the worldly and Godless side of human nature. Belief in man and hope for man and love to man are restored only by fellowship with God.

Union with God is to our fallen nature what sunlight is to the dull and miry world; what a reflection of the blue heaven is to some muddy wayside pool. Raised, forgiven, loved, enabled ourselves, we see our brother men also in the light of that ideal and transforming splendor; we see them walking in the air of glory, redeemed and sanctified; we learn the meaning of those lines—

Glory to God from those whom men oppress,
Honor from God to those whom men despise.

Fellowship with the Father is only possible to us, because it is possible to all, and that possibility is a thing so glorious that it exalts the whole nature of mankind into a redeemable and saved thing.

PRAYER FOR FELLOWSHIP WITH GOD THE FATHER

Our Father God, we thank Thee that we may have fellowship with Thee. Oh, how it elevates and inspires life, how it catches and reflects the glory of the encircling heaven, for fellowship with Thee, our Father, is Eternal Life.

We strive to rear up some ladder of endless rounds between earth and heaven, to bridge by some intermediate agencies the fathomless cleft which seems to separate man from Thee.

Show us, that there is but one ladder, the Son of Man; that there is but one bridge, the bridge of the Divine Humanity, with its one vast span flung by Thyself over the immeasurable void.

When we separate ourselves from Thee by wilful sin we are the most miserable and deplorable of all Thy creatures, but when we attain, as we may attain, to fellowship with Thee, then we feel there is grandeur in the beatings of our hearts, for then life is immortality.

And this fellowship with Thee, our Father, as it lifts us from the dust, to enthrone us among the stars, gives sanctity to the being of others when we look upon the worldly and Godless side of humanity, our belief in and honor for human nature fails us. It is only by (continued on editorial page)
