MOTION PICTURES ARE SUPPLEMENTING CLASS WORK IN B. H. S.

The past month the class in vocational agriculture had special study in selection of dairy cattle, swine and poultry production. In the study of how to improve the dairy herd the boys learned that a prepotent bull was the greatest factor. In the poultry production they learned the importance of pure bred flocks, properly selected, housed and fed. To make these lessons more impressive, the boys this week have had the opportunity of seeing motion pictures that illustrated the lessons just studied. The films are furnished by the U.S. Department tions are letting down the price, prizes t obe offered at the Western Chicago, Ill., is seriously considering of Agriculture. The motion picture machine is owned by the vocational department of the Brevard high school.

The film on the scrub bull as compared with the pure bred bull made a forceful impression on the boys as to the value of having a good sire to head a dairy herd. Another film showed the food value of milk and that it was good for adults as well as for children. The films on poultry showed the proper methods of culling, housing and feeding the flock. They also showed how a county was put on the poultry map. In this picture were some splendid suggestions as to how we might help put our, county on the map in dairying, swine and poultry production.

Motion pictures will be used in connection with the class room instruction in agriculture during the
