CREAMERY WOULD BE PROFITABLE IS BELIEF OF OFFICIAL

1,000 Additional Cows would Be Needed Within a Year's Time—Skim Milk for Pigs

PROFIT OF $100 PER COW PER YEAR IS POSSIBLE

Meetings To Be Held at School Houses Over County in the Near Future

W. L. Clevenger of Raleigh, met at the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening with a group of citizens who are interested in the organization of a creamery in Transylvania county. This meeting was held following a discussion of the subject at last week's directors meeting of the chamber, at which a committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities of such an enterprise. Sufficient interest was manifested in the subject to warrant Chairman C. E. Lowe extending an invitation to Mr. Clevenger to come to Brevard for the purpose of explaining working plans of the successful creameries that are operating in this state.

Mr. Clevenger is conversant with every detail of the creamery business from the preliminary steps of an organization to marketing the finished product, and his interview convinced the business men who attended the meeting that a creamery operating in Transylvania county under efficient management could be made a profitable enterprise. He contended that business started in a small way would show the farmer profits that would justify greater interest, and that within a few years one thousand additional cows would be contributing cream to the creamery with an average profit of $100 per cow per year, thus bringing to the farmers of the county $100,000 additional annually, with skim milk at home on which to feed pigs, etc.

This is a business well worth investigating, the business men declared, and the Chamber of Commerce committee composed of C. E. Lowe, Thos. H. Shipman, Jas. F. Barrett and Julian A. Glazener have undertaken to arrange for meetings in every school house in the movement and to create sentiment in favor of the organization of a creamery when it is believed enough cream can be obtained to make the operation profitable.

MONTCLOVE OWNERS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

For the purpose of going into detail regarding the continuous plan of carrying out the improvements of Montclove, Brevard's favored residential section on the links of the Country Club properties, an important meeting of local and out of town capitalists was held on last Tuesday in the offices of William E. Breese, local attorney. At this meeting, which was called for the purpose of discussing the letting of contracts for water mains and light lines, grading and the completion of sanding and graveling the streets, much favorable comment was heard. The out of town members of the board were especially delighted to note the degree of local interest and pride in Montclove and expressed themselves in a manner which showed their keen appreciation of Brevard's pride in this beautiful section.

Out of town members of the board of directors of Montclove attending this meeting were: E. E. Groves, secretary-treasurer of the Groves Manufacturing company, Gastonia; H. C. Case, Florida capitalist of Fort Myers, Fla.; W. A. Coleman, former mayor of Columbia, S. C.; D. G. Ellison, stocks and bonds, Columbia, S. C.; T. B. Pearce, wholesale merchant, also of Columbia, S. C.; W. B. Dunsen, attorney, was represented by proxy by Hugh Pinnix, Gastonia and Brevard.

These gentlemen readily agreed with the local member of the board of directors, that Montclove, on the links, according to a natural course of events, its scenic splendor, natural beauty of contour and the fact that the social and exclusive elements of country club life so forcefully enters into the surroundings, will within a very short time bring forth an era of permanent and beautiful home construction in Brevard. According to reports given out by officials of the company, there is to be no let up until all permanent improvements promised the residents of Montclove have been installed.

The golf course came in for its share of compliments from the visitors who were loud in their praise of its condition. They were also outspoken in their belief and prediction as to its future popularity and worth to the community. By consensus, it was pointed out, courses which are famed for their popularity, and in instances, as old as ten years, are being in no better playing condition than is the Brevard Country Club's course. "There should be no trouble in securing members to increase like this," said one, "and I am confident that all Brevard will rally to the support of such a wonderful thing as has been accomplished here. Nothing," said another, "of more importance to Brevard, from a tourist point of view."

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD IN COUNTY

Survey Made Over Entire County Gives Belief That a Good Yield Will Be Made

(By L. A. AMMON)

The editor has asked for a few lines regarding crop conditions, so here we go:

Last visit to Boylston section showed work up to time, and spring crops looking very good. Mr. Taylor's potatoes were among the best of the early plantings. Mr. Will Byrland feels that his truck crops and corn will be the best in years. Clover and manure much the cause. Mr. Gordon King has no kick coming except that the freeze in April killed his very promising wheat and rye. Mr. Tom Hollingsworth feels well pleased with his spring work.

Blantyre section shows no increase in crops, but reports are the best. Hay crop cut short by early dry weather. Corn looking good, and truck crops extra good.

Penrose section has the best all around crops of grains that we have. The freeze and rust has not hit them so hard. The Talleys have some of the best wheat in the county. The corn crop here is bursting itself to outdo the rest of the county. Potatoes look good, and prospects of an increase in all lines.

Little River, like Penrose, boasts of good crops as a whole. Potato crop not in the increase as in other parts of the county, but their plantings look like two hundred to the acre. Corn crop extra good and growing fast. Fall truck indications small at present. Clover and soy beans are increasing in this section, and the future looks bright for big yields.

Davidson River will not lay down to any section. Some of them will show hay, corn, oats, rye, etc., with any section. I would put Mr. T. A. English's oats ahead of any I have seen, and I believe he will dig an acre of potatoes with any man in the county.

Brevard and neighborhood are all feeling fine over the nice rains, and the best crops in years as a whole. More truck than usual and it doing extra well. Clough Farm is willing to talk corn with John Bishop or any other man, and they have over a hundred acres. Out Shipman is not lagging behind regardless of the extra work on his hands. Mr. H. L. Allison and neighbors are feeling fine over their crops as a whole.

Conestee section is doing more farming than usual, with a good scattering of truck crops, and all looks extra well. Raxters, Bagwells, Whitmire, and Glazener were feeling jubilant last time seen.

Selma to Cherryfield section is in line with the rest, and much hard work has been done to prepare good seed beds, and the results are good crops. Not much increase in any one crop.

Cherryfield, the potato section, has suffered mostly from the frost. Mr. Berryman planted ten acres of potatoes to corn as the frost killed the potatoes dead to the tubers. Others have planted small lots to corn. The rye crop was hard hit, and Mr. Jimmie Whitmire thinks there will not be enough new crop rye to seed with this fall. Much activity in truck and if the cotton growers over the South have any money to buy with, this truck line will be busy this fall.

Middle Fork is increasing its truck, and many new spots have been added to the small fields. The better highways is the reason. Some talk of late cabbage, and about all I have heard.

Rosman section has some corn that will rate with the best for its age. Good sod land is always hard to beat. No increased forming noticed. Gardens of the workers look good, but had a severe setback with frost.

Lake Toxaway section shows in-

J. M. PATTON BOOSTS PROPOSED INDUSTRY

If any one doubts the great value of the sugar beet industry, let that one talk a few minutes with Mr. J. M. Patton and he will return home an enthusiastic supporter of any movement looking toward the introduction and establishment of that industry in this section. Mr. Patton will tell him of the great sugar beet industry of Colorado. He will tell him of the good sized city out there called Olathe, Colorado, which a few years ago was just a cross roads in a farming section. Mr. Patton had the only store at that time. The government and representatives of the beet sugar factory came there, just as they are coming to Brevard now, and all of the farmers in that community signed up to grow the sugar beet, and today Olathe has a great big town, employing large numbers of men in the beet sugar factory, while the farmers all about for miles and miles are living in absolute independence on the money they received for growing the sugar beet.

Mr. Patton is of the opinion that this Sylvan Valley will grow more sugar beet to the acre by far than will the fields of Colorado, and he is doing all he can to arouse the interest of the farmers in this great opportunity that is now facing us.

BEAN BEETLE FIGHT URGED BY AMMON

Late Beans Have Promise of Clear Field and Good Prices—Same With Potatoes

(By L. A. AMMON)

Bean beetle is now apparently all out, and many report that they are now able to keep up with them. Let's fight, so we can produce acres of late beans. The entire United States crop of beans and potatoes looks short till weather conditions change. Late beans look good for money makers. Entire truck business is light this year.

Talking to a farmer about growing sugar beets, he stated that he was not interested in this crop, as he was enjoying seeing his corn, oats, rye and hay crops grow. Passing his place later and seeing one of the county's best pieces of rye, corn, oats, grass and clover, and an acre of potatoes I will match any other in the county, one could understand why the farmer was so interested in what he was growing. But as to dairying, that was different, and Mr. Farmer was at once interested.

In covering the county, I thought I would try to hand out some honors as to who has the best corn, etc. After seeing the various fields of our best farmers, I have decided to say that every one has fine corn and all other crops except grasses and grain. The beautiful rains so characteristic of this valley have made a garden of Eden out of the valley, and one can't pass up or down the valley without feeling like a young calf having his first spell of ruminating. Things look so refreshing, and the atmosphere feels like growing weather, and all put together, you feel that a pessimist could not live in this county.

Uncle John Bishop has another claim to the first cabbage. Harley Merrill of Little River, had a full meal three days before, and did not reach his patch. Mentioning such things, Frank Shuford allows he might claim the first apple pie from 1927 apples. Few have enough for a pie. C. C. Yongue has corn in tassel, tomatoes four inches in diameter. Alright for the first beans next week. F. H. Holden brings in 3 new potatoes weighing over a pound.

The fertilizer plots and acreage at the County Farm has been finished, and now we are to see what fertilizers do the best there. Some others have been started on other farms.

County Farm will soon receive two females and one male Hampshire hogs. Also two for R. R. Fisher, and a spotted Poland China for Norton Surret, of Penrose section. Come on fellows, and let's do the high blood business a little more. Plenty of room for good pigs.

The Progressive Farmer insists that we name our best farmer. Give the County Agent your notion anytime you see him. Means crops, homes, care of tools, family, and everything pertaining to farmers' lives.

The creamery question is being studied just now, and when all the information is in, action is expected. Same for sugar beets.

FACTS ARE DEALT WITH AT KIWANIS MEET LAST FRIDAY

Welfare and Treatment of Summer Tourists Stressed as Being Big Factor in City's Growth

ESTABLISHMENT OF INDUSTRIES IS URGED

Sugar Beet Growing and Creamery Would Solve Problems of the Farmers

Plain facts were dealt face up at the meeting of the Kiwanis club last Friday night. Boarding houses and hotel proprietors of the city and county were special guests of the club, as were the real estate dealers of the town. Most helpful discussions and questions of vital importance to this section were features of the program.

C. C. Yongue was in charge of the meeting, and in stating the purpose of inviting the boarding house people and the real estate dealers to meet with the club, brought to their attention several facts that have great bearing on the future of this section. Mr. Yongue, in addressing the boarding house operators, asked them to cooperate with one another. If the tourist applies at one place for board and the place is not exactly what is wanted, then see to it that the tourist finds another boarding house that more nearly meets with that particular person's desires.

Mr. Wm. E. Breese was the first speaker introduced by Mr. Yongue, and he too urged a close cooperation between the boarding houses and hotels. Addressing the real estate men, Mr. Breese urged that they use their influence in getting proper valuations placed upon property offered for sale, valuations that carry on the face value the fact that the piece of property is really worth the money being offered for it. Mr. Breese urged the merchants present to see to it that their clerks met the tourists in such a manner as to give that tourist a most favorable impression, not only of the store he was in but of the town in general. Mr. Breese stressed the importance of creating the impression that people could get better real estate values here than elsewhere in the country, and better board than anywhere else for the same money, and that they could get just as good merchandise
