

CREAMERY TAKING FORM OF REALITY

A summary of the activities of the business men of Brevard during the past week in connection with the establishment of the produce warehouse and butter fat station by the Y. & B. Corporation of Charlotte, shows real progress. This information was given out by the Chamber of Commerce at Wednesday noon.

Following a meeting of Brevard citizens with the farmers of the county, held at the Court House on July 29th, a committee of three well known men of Brevard, Oliver H. Orr, Julian A. Glazener and L. A. Ammon went to Charlotte and made careful investigation of the Y. & B. Corporation from every available source. The reports brought back favorable and justified the keenest interest of the business men who sponsored the undertaking from its inception more than two months ago. The business affairs of the Y. & B. Corporation are in excellent shape, according to the report of the men who made the investigation. The large retail business operated in seven stores in Charlotte is flourishing under efficient management. The corporation is paying 8 percent dividends on the preferred stock and building up a surplus. These stores provide an outlet for the large quantities of produce handled from various sections of the country, and it is through the Charlotte stores that the Y. & B. Corporation will market its produce brought in Transylvania County. The butter fat that is brought to the buying station in Brevard will be shipped to their creamery in Hickory for the present, and when the cream shipments are in sufficient quantity to justify a creamery in Brevard, the Y. & B. Corporation plans to erect a modern, up to date plant.

After a number of conferences during the past two weeks, J. A. and D. R. Yarbrough representing the Y. & B. Corporation presented a proposition to the business men of Brevard and that appeared fair in every particular and which within a year would become a big asset to the county. Mr. Yarbrough's proposition is as follows:

I, J. A. Yarbrough President of the "Y. & B." Corporation of Charlotte, N. C. pledge the honor of myself and company to establish a store in Brevard, N. C. within two weeks after the citizens of Transylvania County have subscribed to $12,000.00 worth of our preferred stock bearing 8 percent dividends. Also to build a suitable creamery when the farmers produce from six to ten thousand pounds of butter fat per month, and will sell it to us.

We pledge the store to buy Irish potatoes, beans, cabbage, rutabagas, turnips, carrots, etc. in excess of what is being grown in the county, at the present time. Also buy properly dressed, and many other eggs, chickens, dressed hogs, veals and things too numerous to mention. To pay cash and the prevailing market price.

I, and the "Y. & B." Corporation, will claim the privilege of selling seeds, spraying instruments, insecticides, and such other things as are usually handled in such stores.

Signed
J. A. YARBROUGH,

P. H. Bailey of Charlotte also connected with the Y. & B. Corporation is assisting Messrs. Yarbrough in the canvass of the business men in the sale of the 8 percent preferred stock. These men have met with success during the short time they have been calling on the business men of Brevard and it is thought the entire allotment will be taken up within a few days and the produce buying warehouse and creamery shipping station opened by September 1st. Every encouragement is being given this enterprise by the business men of Brevard and similar attitude is expressed by the farmers of the county who have had his position explained to them. His movement is without doubt one of the foremost steps ever taken in Transylvania County.

At the time of going to press the following men have subscribed to the 8 percent preferred stock in the Y. & B. Corporation in accordance with the proposition as stated above: Thos. H. Shipman, J. H. Picklesimer, O. H. Orr, Brevard News, S. M. Macfie, H. A. Plummer, B. W. Trantham, C. C. Yongue, W. S. Ashworth, J. H. Tinsley, J. L. Whitmire, W. McK. Fetzner, Jerry Jerome, J. W. Noble, Houston Furniture Co., Dr. J. N. Land, Fred Johnson, A. B. Owen.

KITCHEN CABINET FOR ONLY $1 DOWN

For the first time in the history of Brevard Hoosier Kitchen cabinets are being offered at one dollar down, balance on time. The Houston Furniture Company, which succeeded the well known Medford Furniture company, handles the Hoosier cabinet for Transylvania county. Mr. Houston, who comes here from Canton, is extremely anxious to make the acquaintance of all the people of the county and is introducing this exceptionally fine sale of the Hoosier cabinet in order to make his acquaintance with the people.

MRS. KING WINS $5,000 DAMAGES

Sued Town of Brevard For Water Rights—Shipman-Fisher Case Being Argued

Mrs. Esther King won a $5,000 verdict against the Town of Brevard in Superior Court here this week. This is possibly the most important case that has been decided during the present session.

Mrs. King was suing for water rights in the city reservoir matter. Ralph Fisher was attorney for Mrs. King.

Wednesday's court session was engaged in hearing of the Carolina Mountains Realty Corporation case, in which Ralph Fisher is being sued, and in turn he is suing Shipman et al. It is expected the case will consume several days of the court session.

THE PRAYER CORNER

THE PRIVILEGE OF LIVING
In my reading this week I found some delightful thoughts on the above subject, which are well worth thinking about in this vacation time.

It was said of Sir Walter Scott that he enjoyed more in twenty-four hours than most men do in a week. Such happiness may not be the only recommendation necessary to establish a man's character, but other things being equal, it should count heavily in his favor. Goodness which is not radiant has something the matter with it. Goodness which however impeccable, makes life seem cramped, pinched, restrained and unhappy is not real goodness. Such good people are often exasperating nuisances. One who has to deal with them understands the little girl's prayer: "O God, make all the bad people good—and make all the good people nice."

That happiness is a test of character can be seen from the fact that no relationship in human life comes to its best until it flowers out in the sense of privilege. Even the relationship of teacher and pupil in a school is not fulfilled so long as the instructor by discipline is forcing stolid children to their work. Only where intellectual curiosity is set on fire, where boys and girls with awakened minds are eager for their tasks, has the relationship come to its own.

In home life also happiness clearly is a test. Often marriage sinks to burdensome obligation—no more two people, true to a legal arrangement, but not delighting in a joyous fellowship, laboriously keep vows which once they swore to. There are folks live together who would not be married to anybody else for all the world. If the government should annul all marriage vows it would make no difference to them. They are a family because they love to be.

As for friendship, it is not enough to speak of that in terms of duty, obligation, responsibility. One must speak of that in terms of privilege. If friendship meant to anyone no more than duty to which he dragged himself with reluctant steps, we would pray to have him leave our circle. We wish none there save those in whom all sense of obligation is underlain and lifted as by a rising tide with the sense of privilege in being friends.

Happiness, therefore, is a real test of the fitness and success of our relations. A man who has carried that inward victory so far that he is happy about life as a whole, and has become what Browning called "A happy tempered bringer of the best, Out of the worst," is rendering the world one of the greatest services possible to man. "We need not care," said Stevenson, "about happy people, whether they could prove the forty-seventh proposition, they do a better thing than that, they practically demonstrate the great theorem of THE LIVEABLENESS OF LIFE."

O God, in whom we live and move and have our being, make us glad for the privilege of living; make our goodness radiant. We would be happy. Open our eyes that we may see that no relationship in human life comes to its best until it flows out in the sense of privilege; that only where intellectual curiosity is set on fire, where boys and girls with awakened minds are eager for their tasks, has the relationship of teacher and pupil come to its own; that only in homes where folks live together who would not be married to anybody else for all the world, who are a family because they love to be, is there a happy home life. Make all our homes happy homes. Show us that it is not enough to speak of friendship in terms of duty, obligation, responsibility, that we must speak of it in terms of privilege; that there are no true friends but those in whom all sense of obligation is underlain and lifted as by a rising tide, with the sense of privilege in being friends.

Enable us to see that happiness is a real test of the fitness and success of our relations; that those who only who have carried that inward victory so far that they are happy about life as a whole, and have become happy tempered bringers of the best out of the worst, are rendering the world one of the greatest services possible to man. Jesus, our Lord and Saviour, who has taught us by word and by example the true liveableness of life. Amen

SIN WRECKS HOMES AND DIGS GRAVES SAYS CYCLONE MACK

(By J. O. B.)
The McLendon meetings now being held in the big tent are coming up to their usual standards. In Brevard, as elsewhere, there is always an anxious crowd of eager listeners awaiting the messages of this powerful exponent of the Old Time Gospel.

Cyclone Mack, inimitable in his characteristics, force and power, appeared on the platform promptly at seven-thirty last Sunday evening. The evangelist was introduced by James F. Barrett, who representing Mayor T. W. Whitmire, spoke briefly of the wonderful work which Rev. B. F. McLendon has done in the past and predicted a great spiritual awakening here, because of his coming. Rev. M. F. Royal, recently returned missionary from China, said the opening prayer. A short service was held with an estimated crowd of twelve hundred people in attendance. After speaking in the highest terms and praise of the Moody Bible Institute and its work, Mr. McLendon urged his hearers to go with him in a body, and attend the final service of a two weeks institute, just closing at the Brevard high school.

Monday evening the services were well attended. The choir, under the leadership of John H. Jones, is fast filling up to its capacity and promising to be all that has been predicted for it. The sermon, which the evangelist dealt out to his hearers in a direct-from-the-shoulder manner, was well received and many loud "Amen's" were heard from all parts of the big tent. His closing prayer was one which read: "I've convinced even the most hardened sinner, that the knowledge of the presence of lost souls was the agonizing burden of the evangelist's heart. Looking to the God that he worships, his plea for help, for a genuine revival and a renewal of vows, will long linger in the ears of hundreds who heard him, forever establishing in their minds, the faith that he places in an unseen and undecipherable source of Divine assistance that comes—only from prayer."

Tuesday evening's services saw a marked increase in both the audience and choir, with evidence of a more and fuller appreciation of what is to be expected in a spiritual way as the meeting progresses. So forceful was the delivery, so eternally true was the doctrine of Mr. McLendon's Tuesday evening service, the News giving its readers as much of this sermon as possible. From his text, the words found in James 4:3 he delivered a masterful message these words:

"Ye ask and receive not because ye ask amiss that ye may consume it upon your lust or pleasure."
"Sin has wrecked every home that has ever been wrecked, it has broken every heart that has ever been broken and has dug every grave that has ever been dug," were among the assertions made by the noted evangelist in the course of his remarks.
Lack of liberality toward the poor Mack's attention and his utterances and God's work received "Cyclone" along this line were very plain. His sermon follows:
James 4:3, "Ye ask and receive not because ye ask amiss that ye may consume it upon your lust or pleasure."
Sixteen years ago when I was converted, I did not know but one verse of scripture, "If ye love me, keep my commandments." I did not know where that was found, whether in Genesis, Revelations, or John. Immediately after I accepted Christ, I bought me a little Bible, a red pencil, a blue pencil, a brown pencil, and all other colored pencils and I began to mark the verses and write on the margins. One of the first doctrines I began to study was the doctrine of prayer, I read over there in I Chronicles 7:14, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." I also read where God said thru Jeremiah, "Call of me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not." I read where David said, "Delight thyself also in the Lord and he shall give thee the desires of thy heart." And one of the first things that Jesus said when he left heaven and came to earth was, "Ask and ye shall receive."

Meetings Were of Outstanding Value to This Section—Effort Will Be Made for Its Return

The Moody Bible Institute, which closed a two weeks service in the auditorium of the high school here last Sunday evening, brought to a close a series of lectures on Bible literature of outstanding value. The News regrets that more people did not avail themselves of the opportunities which were offered the people of Transylvania county by the eminent and able Bible instructors having this service in charge.
It is hoped that the Institute will return next year at which time a fuller realization of its value and good to the people will be more thoroughly appreciated and patronized.

CHARLES MILLS DIES AFTER BRAVE FIGHT

(Milan Exchange, Milan, Tenn.)

Last Tuesday night, Aug. 3, Milan lost one of her most valued young men, in the death of Mr. Charles Mills. He had been ill only a few days when it was deemed necessary to carry him to Jackson where his case could be handled under better conditions in the infirmary. For a brief while his anxious friends had hopes that he would win in his fight against the disease, but Tuesday his case took a turn for the worse, and at one o'clock Tuesday night he died. His mother, Mrs. Mary H. Mills, of Brevard, N. C., was at his bedside when the end came. The Fields undertaking establishment brought his body back to Milan and prepared it for burial. The body is at the Fields' home, awaiting the arrival of his brother, J. T. Mills, of El Paso, Texas. Mr. Mills and his mother will accompany the body back to Brevard, N. C., where burial will take place.

Charles had been in Milan only a few months, with the highway department as a civil engineer, but during those few months his exemplary conduct and christian character had won for him a large place in the hearts of the people. He attended services at the Baptist church. His membership was with the Baptist church at Brevard.

He had conversed with the local pastor on spiritual things, and had a great hope for the after life. Tuesday night when he was suffering most at the hospital his mother said to him: "Son, if you should have to go away from us, would you be afraid?" Charles answered: "No, mother, I am not afraid to die. Of course I would like to get well and stay with you, but I think sometimes it would be rather nice just to shut my eyes and go to sleep and not have to suffer any more."
The cause of his death was meningitis.

AGENT BUSY ON MARKET PROGRAM

(By L. A. AMMON)

For years the farmers of this county have had to go into the woods, and cut and hew or split out so many cords or number of pieces of wood in order to make spare money with which to pay taxes and buy the bare needs of life. No one offered to buy other products any and every day. Only Saturday three men came to me wondering where and when they might sell a few chickens, and others wanting to sell potatoes before they rot in the ground. This situation is to end if all will do their part in taking the $12,000 in stock offered by the company making the offer to put in a stove and creamery. A start has been made, and our bankers were the first to put their names on the dotted line. Putting your name there will help give you the market needed all these years, and it will be anxious to buy what you have and the more you have to sell the more money you will make per year. It is a mutual undertaking, and you have never had such a proposition made you before.

Just think what a difference you are coming to town, load on a few potatoes, cabbage, onions, turnips, carrots, beans, a fat dressed hog, a coop of chickens or a basket of eggs, take it to the store and get your money, and then buy your needed things and save a few cents for that bank account. Looks like a four year dream of mine coming true, and it is up to all to do their part.

While working on this marketing project, I am not making plans for or attempting to do much else till it is over or ended. It will last in places, but the good for the future will be plenty to repay.

After this week, the family will be at home and the old telephone will be of use, so let her ring. The second weighing of pigs at John Merrill shows that he has a considerable more than one dollar per bushel for corn feed. Pigs eight weeks old can be started, and I would be tickled to help you start another ear anytime.

Prof. Newman of the Progressive Farmer, was in the County last week, judging the farmers which most people said were the best in their section. The judging was on an all-around farming basis, and straight corn farmers had no chance. Little River's name was dropped because more than one man was responsible for the good farm. Merrill boys, Mr. T. A. English, H. L. Allison and Jimmie Whitmire were the ones visited. Some very interesting stories of these men and their farms were heard. How they had paid for them, and why they liked the farm, and how they had made two blades of grass grow where one did grow.

The actual winner of the honor of Master farmer of the county will be announced several weeks later and a good write-up is to be made.
