New York, Oct. 24.—The sweater and jersey cloth mode is one of the smartest in Paris at the moment.

Heavy jersey cloth, non-stretchable and of a texture resembling some new and flattering tweed is used for an autumn sports ensemble by Chanel. The jersey is woven in two dark shades of bottle green, which is used for the sports frock, combined with green satin, and for the long sports coat combined with light, almost cream colored fur. This is typical of the new use of the new jersey cloth, so different from the undependable sagging and unsympathetic fabric that jersey cloth started out to be.

Striped jersey is being used with plain fabric with extraordinary smart effect. O'Rossen, uses a wide, almost two-inches, striped jersey in shades of beige and rust, horizontally for the blouse of a three-piece costume. This blouse has a "crew neck" cut around the base of the throat, is absolutely untrimmed, and the stripes are used horizontally. The skirt and coat are of brown tweed, the coat is lined with the jersey used vertically.

Wool Jersey is Youthful

This all-woolen type of costume is extremely practical at this season, because it is light and warm and may be worn without furs. What is more, it has a youthful ease that makes it wearable for almost any daytime occasion.

For country club wear, or for motoring a black and yellow heavy woolen diagonal weave fabric is used for a perfectly straight coat, lined with jersey in the same shade of yellow and dark brown. An overblouse of the jersey uses the fabric with the stripes on the diagonal, and has a belt with a Galalith buckle. The skirt matches the coat.

There is an air of perfect simplicity about these costumes that makes last season's jersey sports costumes look like something out of the gay nineties. There has been a curious refinement and definite sophistication going on in sports costumes. Each small accessory that goes with these costumes must harmonize in spirit and material. The lizard bag from Hermes, the one with the "zipper" top that has become a classic, antelope slip-on gloves in beige, or natural chamois gloves that slip on, reptile shoes, or combination kid and reptile, simply cut, of the oxford type, or the simple one strap type, these are the logical complements for this type of costume. And always beige stockings; not a pink beige, but a tan beige.

Sports Jewelry

"Modern" jewelry, made of gold and silver, combined in simple modern designs, like the jewelry of Dunand; or jewelry of silver and semi-precious stones, is smartest with the clothes. Pearl chockers and earrings are often worn, particularly by American women, but they are not as smart as the newer stones and metal jewelry.

I have seen so many costumes of this type with the small skullcap hat with ear-laps, or the beret and its variations, but these are really all wrong. The simple felt hat, like a man's hat, with a grosgrain or narrow felt band is much smarter. The brim of this hat may turn down all around, like a cloche, but never may the hat have any suggestion of dressiness.

Some of the houses in Paris are knitted in modern design in shades of brown and beige, dark green and light green, yellow and brown, and shades of red, to be worn with jersey clothe or crepe skirts under tweed or jersey coats.

GIVES ITS SERVICES TO ALL IN STATE

Sanatorium, Oct. 26.—An Extension department the services of which are available free of charge or at cost to every person in North Carolina is maintained at the State Sanatorium, Sanatorium, N. C. The purpose of the Extension Department is to educate people in the state in the principles of the prevention, early discovery and cure of tuberculosis.

Two clinic physicians, specialists in the diagnosis of the disease, who hold diagnostic clinics free of charge in any county in the state, do the Extension Department's most important work. Discovery of tuberculosis early is of prime importance if the disease is to be cured. Recently the finding of tuberculosis in childhood has been stressed. A diagnostic clinic is held at the Sanatorium every morning except Sunday from 8 to 11.

Literature treating of the prevention, early discovery and cure of tuberculosis, in language simple enough for the layman to understand is available through the Extension Department free of charge. A post card addressed to the Extension Department, Sanatorium, N. C., requesting literature on tuberculosis, with your name and address is all that is necessary to secure this literature.

Supplies for the prevention of the spread of tuberculosis are sent postage prepaid at a little less than actual cost to any person ordering these supplies. Assistance and advice are given free of charge to any doctor, nurse or citizen of the state, dealing with any problem of tuberculosis from the building of a county sanatorium to the diagnosis of a case of tuberculosis, and a symptom of the disease.
