

Rosman Section Of Brevard News

H. F. WRIGHT, Manager--Rosman, N. C.

ROSMAN SHOULD DO SOME ADVERTISING

Being conveniently situated, and beautifully located by the hand of Providence, Rosman should justly find her way to the very forefront of the coming little mountain cities of Western North Carolina.

Nature has endowed her with every needed resource, with a healthful climate, pure water and fresh air. Her beautiful hills and sublime natural scenery, makes this one of the most attractive sections, not only of North Carolina, but of the entire Southland. The rich, fertile French Broad valley, with her millions of crop-yielding treasures that nature has stored away, invites the scientific farmer to only give a test, and untold riches will be poured into the laps of such ones.

Rosman and Transylvania county need more industrial plants. We have the railroad and highway transportation facilities, in easy reach of all the country's markets—the county treasury needs the additional taxes such institutions would bring. The people need the employment, and the financiers need the profits that would be derived.

Mercurizing plant would give Rosman a mighty lift. A furniture factory would help out greatly. Lake Toxaway should be rebuilt at an early date. Thousands of dollars are being kept out of Transylvania county every year that would come to us if the Toxaway Lake was in operation.

The reader may wonder, how can these things be, and what is the sign of their coming? The first thing in order is to put on an advertising program. The second thing is, keep on the advertising program. The third thing, never cease boosting and advertising. Advertise continually and wisely by so doing, the giraffe that is squeezing the vitality out of progressive development here will be unloosed and this section will come into her own immediately.

On December the sixth Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore welcomed a fine boy into their family circle. His name is Jesse Burt Moore, being named for Dr. J. B. Wilkerson. Mr. Moore states that "If our new son will be as good a man as his name, I shall be happy."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rogers recently visited relatives at Salem, S. C.

M. GLAZENER SERIOUSLY ILL

L. M. Glazener some days ago suffered a partial stroke of paralysis. At first his condition was not thought to be serious, but now little hope is entertained for his recovery. The entire community was shocked at the news of the illness of this good man, and more especially when it became known that he was seriously ill.

Mr. Glazener was born and reared in this neighborhood, and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. The children of Mr. Glazener have all been notified of his condition and all of them rushed to his bedside.

WORK BEGINS ON NEW BRIDGE HERE

On Monday morning of this week, actual construction work begun on the bridge over the river. The new bridge is to take the place of the one now used over the river at Mr. D. L. Glazener's store on highway No. 283.

A short section of the highway will be built to connect the highway with Maple street at this point. This brings the public travel over 283 right into the heart of town. The people here are much elated over the new bridge and the improvement it will bring to the city as well as the traveling public.

CYCLONE MACK AT LANCASTER, S. C.

The following is clipped from The Baptist Courier, which will be of much interest to the readers of The Brevard News. The Courier is the Baptist paper for South Carolina:

"Evangelist McLendon is in a meeting with the Calvary Baptist church of Lancaster, and the large crowds that are attending his meeting are so great that they have had to build a tabernacle to accommodate them. Brother McLendon is in the habit of staying more than a week with a church, and he will be sometime longer with this church. The entire community and its vicinity are responding to his messages."

MINISTER MISSES THE CHICKEN

For many weeks Mrs. L. P. Owen had been threatening to invite the Baptist parson to take a chicken dinner with her. A short while ago, she informed the minister that she only had one other fryer and if he would take breakfast with her, she would kill this last chicken on the following Sunday morning. The minister, thinking Mrs. Owen was only joking, did not go down for breakfast. Upon inquiring on Monday of this week how the chicken was doing, he was informed by Mrs. Owen that the chicken, her last fryer, was had for breakfast on the above mentioned Sunday.

So don't anyone get alarmed that the parson is now going around with his hat pulled down over his eyes, and of a sad countenance, as though his grandpa was dead, for he only misses that chicken and is disappointed and grieved.
