

Weekly Fashion Article

BY LUCILE BUCHANAN

Fashion Editor of Harper's Bazar

New York, March 19.—The other day I got a letter from someone who had, it appears, been intently reading these weekly fashion articles. She said, among other things, "The fashions you have been writing about are all very well, but WHAT shall I wear for spring?"

Which was rather a blow. I have been under the impression that these articles were so helpful. I know that the tendency for lady fashion writers is to get entirely too technical, especially this season, what with the new slightly altered silhouette and the increased femininity of the mode. We get to talking about irregular hem-lines and companionate ensembles and our public becomes baffled instead of enlightened. So I decided this time I would plan a spring wardrobe, and say exactly what coat goes with what dress and why, and where to wear it, given the opportunity.

This Will Help
We will begin with street clothes. They are the most important phase of the spring mode.

If you have been yearning for a tailored suit and wondering if you should get one, this is your chance. A tailored suit with a rather dark gray men's suiting, straight jacket, finger-tip length, and a lighter gray skirt, with a fine invisible stripe is extremely smart this season. This is worn with a white satin blouse, made with a rather complicated neck-line that has a scarf cut in one with the side of the neck of the blouse and tying at the sides in a narrow-looped bow. The blouse is monogrammed in gray and black.

Worn with this costume is a tiny close-fitting gray hat of the cut-over-one-eye-brow type, and a double scarf of gray fox. Grege reptile shoes of the doublestrap or modified oxford type.

Another evening frock extremely good this season, is the Chanel frock of black chiffon, made with narrow godets floating from the skirt and bodice.

If you wish an evening frock that will do duty again and again, one of those frocks you "live in," get one of ecru lace, made in tiers.

Flowered chiffon, made with a semi-bouffant silhouette, with most of the fullness on the sides, and the design of the fabric rather large and vague, is very smart, too.

Another, almost inevitable costume for this spring is a frock made of very finely patterned crepe in shades of beige, or blue and gray, or in gray-green, to be worn under a full-length light wool coat, with scarf-attached, lined with the print of the frock. The frock is made in one of the new tiered modes, achieved by row upon row of finely pleated frills.

If blue and gray are the predominant colors in the print, a dark blue coat is smart, if the frock is beige a darker beige coat, and if green, one of those delightful new greens that are so good this spring.

And do be very careful about the hat. The print and cut of the frock is "busy" enough; the hat should be very simple and exactly matching either the coat or the important color of the frocks.

For lunching out in smart places, you will like a straight little cloth coat made with an elbow length cape banded with beige or grege fur, but with no fur at the neck-line of the coat. Under this a black crepe frock with a "V" neck-line and a few flat godets in the skirt is extremely smart. A tiny black hat with one jeweled or marcasite pin is suitable with this. Beige ankle-strap kid and reptile shoes and the simplest of beige gloves.

Wear A Lace Evening Frock
For evening, you will want a lace frock, one of the Louiseboulanger type, say of bright green lace, bunched in the back and at the hips.

FOREST WARDENS HOLD MEET HERE

Seven District Wardens And Others Attend Convention at Brevard Court House

On Saturday, March 17, a forest warden meeting for Transylvania county was held in the Brevard court house. Despite the inclement weather, seven of the nine district wardens of the county attended, in addition to several deputy wardens.

The primary object of these warden meetings, which are held annually in each cooperating county, is to bring out in a sort of round-table discussion the various problems of each of the wardens in their work. Different sections of a county have different fire hazards to meet, different types of people to work with, and different methods of accomplishing the desired results. To talk about these variations, to learn what methods are best under given conditions, and to get the individual opinions of all the wardens is the great aim of such a meeting.

Ranger Dunn of the Federal Forest Service, stationed at Pisgah Forest, was present, and contributed much to the general discussion. The meeting was presided over by District Forester W. K. Beichler, of Asheville and had been arranged locally by County Game Warden Elam Galloway. In addition to a discussion of the fire problems, there was a great deal said relative to fish and game work, it being emphasized that all Forest Wardens are also fish and game wardens. Considerable time was spent in describing the proper way to fill out report blanks that are necessary in the work.

The following district wardens were present: E. R. Bishop, Cedar Mountain; Fred Fisher, Balsam Grove; J. F. Galloway, Rosman; C. W. Owens, Cherryfield; D. R. Holliday, Blantyre; Glad Whitmore, Brevard.

Notice To Taxpayers

This is to inform you that under the law enacted by the Legislature of 1927 for the state, there can be no extension of time by the County Commissioners for the payment of taxes beyond the 1st Monday in May.

The law specifies that the tax collector "shall on the first Monday in May report in full the uncollected taxes for the current tax year, and the county commissioners shall thereupon order sale of all land for taxes where the taxes have not been paid to be made on the first Monday in June."

The law provides that any county commissioner who fails to perform any duty herein imposed shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. It also provides same penalty for the tax collector for failure to carry out the provisions of the law, and, in addition, makes him liable under his bond for all damages resulting from his negligence.

It is not the wish of the Commissioners nor of the Tax Collector to press anybody, but we have to obey the law; therefore it will be necessary to make settlement of your taxes sometime before April, as I have to prepare my delinquent list in April in order to be able to report the uncollected taxes the first of May.

I can see no advantage any one can gain by letting his property sell for taxes, as this adds advertising cost and 20% penalty if he redeems it, and he has to pay cost and penalties if he allows the county or some one who purchases the land to foreclose on the property in order to get a title.

It will be expected that persons who carry on a business for which a special privilege or license tax is required will secure the county license before June 1st, as it is a violation to carry on the business without having the license posted in one's place of business. See Sections 182 and 183, Revenue Act of 1927.

Yours very truly,

W. B. HENDERSON

TAX COLLECTOR.
