VOL. XXXIII.

BREVARD, NORTH CAROLINA, OCTOBER 25, 1928

No. 43

ELECTION RETURNS TO BE SHOWN HERE

Brevard will have the same advantages of news of election returns that any other town or city in North Carolina enjoys on the coming election night.

Through arrangements made by the Clemson Theatre, the Brevard Battery company and The Brevard News, full and complete returns of county, state and national election news will be thrown upon the screen here at the same time it is displayed in the largest city of the state.

Vernon Clement is to furnish the machine and operate it for placing the returns upon the screen, which is to be placed on the north side of Main street, at the fire department building. The machine will be placed in the upstairs room over the Brevard Battery company's place of business, and Walter Hart will have charge of getting all the information over radio that comes from the various election headquarters. The telephone will be in constant use, as a means of gathering the information about the election.

The Brevard News has signed with the Western Union Telegraph company for the full service of that great organization, and the same election returns that go to cities like Charlotte and Winston-Salem, will be thrown upon the screen here in Brevard at the same instant that it is given to the public in the larger cities of the state.

The Clemson Theatre, the Brevard Battery company, and The Brevard News herewith invite every citizen of the county and all visitors in the county to be the guests of these firms at the election returns party to be held on Main street, in Brevard, on the night of November 6th.

Town authorities have agreed to stop all traffic on Main street to the corner to the end of that block for the night, so the people may have the street as a "standing ground" for the time that the election returns are being thrown upon the screen.

KU KLUX OFFICIAL ASSAILS DEMOCRATS

Dr. W. Earl Hotalen, Ku Klux Klan lecturer, spoke at the Brevard High School building Monday night to a crowd that almost filled the room, and throughout the two hours of his address, the speaker presented reason after reason why the democrats of the South should vote against Alfred E. Smith, cast their ballots for Herbert C. Hoover, and thereby save the democratic party from complete annihilation, which, the speaker averred, would result in the event of Smith's election.

"The democrats, that is the Smith democrats or Smithocrats, are fighting me all over the state because I am the man who told the South about Tammany's connection with, and its control of, the negro vote," was one of the statements made by the speaker. "We democrats can no longer throw up 'nigger' to the republicans, as we once did, because we have gone into the negro voting business ourselves," said Hotalen.

The Klan speaker declared it to be his intention to return to this section as soon as the campaign is over, and enter suit against E. W. Ewbanks, of Hendersonville, for charges which the speaker said had been made against him and which are utterly false, according to his assertion.

Reasons given by Mr. Hotalen for his outstanding campaign in opposition to Governor Smith, were first, because Smith is catering to the negro vote; then Smith is foreign in nature and by environment to the true American ideals, and furthermore he is a Catholic. Mr. Hotalen took these subjects one by one and used each as an argument against the election of Smith for president.

The Klan speaker addressed a packed house at Toxaway Saturday night, giving practically the same speech as that delivered here. At the conclusion of his Toxaway speech Phil B. Whittaker, Chattanooga lawyer, spoke for about thirty minutes in refutation to some of the statements made by Hotalen.

MRS. M'KEE DEFENDS SMITH'S CANDIDACY

Mrs. E. L. McKee, of Sylva, state president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and recognized as one of the most influential democratic women of the state, addressed the voters of Transylvania county at the court house Tuesday afternoon, speaking under the auspices of the Transylvania County Women's Democratic Club. The president, Mrs. Hugh R. Walker, presided over the meeting, introducing Hon. W. E. Breese, who in turn introduced the speaker of the afternoon. The majority of the audience listening attentively to Mrs. McKee's message on the political issues of the day was composed of women.

Mrs. McKee stressed party loyalty, appealing to the women voters to be a democrat out and out and to cling to the principles of the party, declaring that she had no patience with the independent voter who contributed nothing to the strength of either party. She urged her hearers to think well before deserting the national democratic party, asserting that the "very moment the democratic party dies nationally, that moment it will begin to disintegrate locally."

Tammany Hall was defended as the best friend of the southern democrats, the speaker further asserting that "Tammany Hall's record is as clean and wholesome as the minutes of a literary society as compared with the republican corruption of the past eight years in Washington."

It was deplored as a shame and an embarrassment that the religious issue should be injected into a political campaign in America. Mrs. McKee expressed the opinion that each individual is entitled to his own religious faith through whatever doctrine, whether Catholic or Protestant.

Other political issues were dwelt upon, including tariff, immigration, farm relief and the race question. Mrs. McKee pleading with the women voters to support in the presidential election the democratic nominee, Alfred E. Smith, whom she termed, "The greatest living American."

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Jim Zachary and family.

FELIX ALLEY SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD

Hon. Felix Alley, Waynesville attorney and democratic orator, spoke to a packed house at the court house Saturday night. W. E. Breese, county executive chairman, presided at the meeting and announced previous to introducing the speaker that reports had reached his organization that the sheriff of the county had deputized several citizens for the alleged purpose of safeguarding the county. Chairman Breese said that such action was unnecessary and that he as chairman would pledge every member of the democratic executive committee of Transylvania county and all the democrats of Transylvania county to keep the peace and guarantee perfect safety to this fellow Hotalen while in the county, although he, Hotalen, is a liar and a perjurer.

Mr. Breese then introduced Mr. Alley as a great orator of the mountains for democracy, and for nearly two hours the man, who as a boy played over the hills surrounding Cashiers Valley, held the big crowd spell-bound under his eloquent plea for democratic support in this national campaign and election.

Mr. Alley declared that he is a Methodist and there are two things the bishops, the elders and the preachers in the Methodist church cannot make him do, to wit, stop voting the democratic ticket and leave the Methodist church. He declared that by all the powers that control his being that he was born a democrat and a Methodist and vowed by all he considered holy and good that no human agency could divert him from continuing to be a democrat and a Methodist.

The orators showed by his powers of reasoning that it is necessary for the south to remain in the democratic colony, making prediction that once the democrats of the South break the rules and faith of their fathers that tremendous will be the penalty that will be paid then to the powers of privileges which has made the republican party the great party it is today.

LEGION MAN SPEAKS FOR REPUBLICANS

Allan Adams, Greensboro attorney and American Legion officer, spoke in the county court house last Thursday evening, under the auspices of the republican veterans organization. Mr. Adams was introduced by D. E. English, Brevard attorney, who issued a warning to the county election officials that the people of Transylvania would not stand for any unfair treatment at the hands of the registrars or election officials. Mr. English charged that some registrars had been taking names written on scraps of paper instead of having the books with them and placing the names of those presenting themselves on the registration books according to law.

He introduced Mr. Adams as the first man in his community to volunteer in the recent war, and after the Armistice had been signed and Mr. Adams received his compensation check he gave it to the American Legion to be used for the wounded and sick veterans. The Greensboro lawyer won the admiration of all people present when he stated that insofar as he was concerned he believed the veterans of the World War and their interests will be safe and safeguarded in the hands of either Herbert Hoover or Alfred E. Smith. Mr. Adams said that some misrepresentations had been made about the republican administration's attitude toward the returned soldiers and scored Max Gardner for statement the candidate for governor had made concerning treatment accorded the veterans. Mr. Adams called attention to the fact that the democratic party was in power from the time the Armistice was signed on November 11, 1918 until March 4, 1921, and if the soldiers upon return to their native land found any mistreatment awaiting them, or lack of interest among the powers of the nation, then the democratic administration headed by Woodrow Wilson must be held responsible. He denied, however, in the name of the war president's memory that the returned soldiers met with the conditions that had been described by Wilson's own followers.

Mr. Adams gave figures from the records in proof of his conviction that the republican administration had been faithful in the extreme to the veterans of the World War, and urged his comrades to return that party in power in the November election.

GRIL SCOUTS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

An interesting meeting of Laurel Troop Girl Scouts was held in the Primary building Tuesday afternoon, October 16. The meeting was opened with the Formation Ceremony, which was led by Mollie Snelson, leader of the Minnehaha patrol.

Miss Juanita Puette talked on the first two scouts laws, namely, a Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted and a Girl Scout is loyal. Miss Puette told in a very pleasing and impressive way of the ideals and standards of scouting, which should be so high and sure that one would not dream of doubting the honor or loyalty of a Scout. She left the impression that a scout even more than ever should realize her responsibility and the privilege it is to be a Girl Scout.

Several interesting stunts were given by the Wise Owl patrol, under the leadership of Louise Gillespie.

The scout meetings are held each Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 in the scout room, and the members and leaders of the organization extend a cordial invitation to the mothers and interested friends to attend some of the meetings and learn something of what the Girl Scouts are doing.

It is requested that any data or information concerning the early history of Transylvania county be sent to Miss Bertie Ballard or Miss Eva Call.

WEAVER COLLEGE OUTSCORES B. I.

Brevard Institute lost to Weaver College freshmen on the latter's grid Wednesday, Oct. 17, by the score of 7-0 the only score coming in the last minute of the game. The game was pronounced one of the most spectacular ever played on the Weaver gridiron.

Weaver College freshmen team, on their home field, with plenty and splendid equipment were held for three full quarters of the game to a disadvantage. The Institute men, owing to lack of practice, and a wet field, fumbled several times.

Weaver was penalized numerous times for "off side" plays, but certainly manifested the best of spirit. The line plunging of the Weaver backfield was great, though their kicking and passing was not far superior to B. I.

Paula Hernandez, Billy Atwell, "Kinky" Roberts and Jack Wilder played super ball. Roberts, Atwell and Paula made long runs. But for a step out of bounds, Paula made a 60 yard gain. He ran interference for Atwell for another 50 yard run.
