MRS. MCKEE'S COMMITTEE WORK TO BE INTERESTING.

Mrs. E. L. McKee, state senator from this district, is chairman of one important committee and a member of several other committees.

Other committee appointments coming to Mrs. McKee do not seem to match up so well. She is a member of the committee on conservation and development.

Another committee appointment coming to Mrs. McKee is that of membership on the elections committee. Much of her "big majority" in the recent election was given to her through violation of the election laws by election officials and ward-healers.

Interesting news will be coming out of Raleigh before long, for nearly half the time of the legislature has expired, and the real work is just now beginning.

GHANDI LEAVES THE PRISON, ACCLAIMED KING OF INDIA.

Ghandi, leader of India's millions who are struggling for self-government, was released from the prison where he has been an inmate for many months, and returned to the scene of his activity at the time of his imprisonment by the British authorities.

Ghandi's release from prison and his return to his home was the result of a great victory won by India over Great Britain in recent conferences.

"I am going, but I will be back here in jail with you soon," were the parting words of Ghandi to his fellow-prisoners.

In no other nation in the world is there a leader as great as Ghandi. History is replete with the records of the achievements of men who had armed forces at their command to enforce their demands.

THE WAGE EARNER COMES AT LAST INTO HIS OWN.

This depression, panic, stagnated period, deflated era, or whatever one chooses to call it, has served many good purposes, among which is one that is especially appealing to us.

Up until a few years ago the general thought was that working men ought to be content with moderate wages, small wages, or whatever you have. Even the merchants took sides with the bosses when labor struck for higher wages.

Now, bless Moses for his inauguration of the movement for the toilers, even this Christian nation has come to its senses, and men and women are urging adequate pay for those who labor.

Here is the lesson that has been learned by this brilliant United States: A working man who receives $8 a day, working full time, spends $48 a week with the various business places of his community.

These figures are taken because of a condition that existed in Asheville ten years ago. The carpenters of that sorrowful and tear-dimmed city were receiving a dollar an hour. Effort was made to reduce that wage to 75 cents an hour.

But the Asheville merchants finally saw the light of day, and are now working hand in hand with the working men for mutual advancement and community progress.

It is good that the country has at last realized the importance of the twenty-five million wage earners of America.

BATTLE ROYAL RAGING IN THE N. C. LEGISLATURE.

Things are warming up down at Raleigh, with the proposed school law and highway control changes as the principal issues of warfare. The proposition to place responsibility for operation of the six months' school term upon the state, thereby removing all of this cost from land, is, perhaps, the most interesting question.

Hot debates are the order of the day on these questions, with the representatives from the eastern part of the state almost solid in their support of the proposed school law.

Great is Ghandi.

operation being left in the hands of the finance committee. "Raleigh bosses the schools—then let Raleigh pay the bills," seems to be the tenor of the argument for adoption of the proposed measure.

Governor Gardner is making strong bid for adoption of his highway program, that is, to abolish the present state highway commission and all county road boards, and substitute therefor a highway department to have complete charge of all public roads in the state.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

(The Charlotte Observer)

Josiah Folsom, of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, comes forward with the interesting statement that real wages on the farm exceed the average full-time earnings of laborers in some of the representative industries.

As farmers must compete with employers in other industries for labor, Mr. Folsom comments, they must pay wages which roughly correspond, especially if they are located in the vicinity of industrial districts.

Other factors of importance that are often overlooked, says Folsom, are the periods of unemployment or partial employment to be expected in many industries, and the training and skill required in many trades.

The farm-wage rates, without board, reported by the Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates of the Department of Agriculture are, in each geographic division, decidedly lower than those for common labor.

The survey revealed that, striking an average for the country, wages and perquisites, totalled $76.78 a month for non-casual hired farm laborers, the perquisites being calculated at farm values.

PRAISES BAPTIST HOSPITAL

Editor The Brevard News Will you give us space in your paper to express our thanks to all who support our Baptist State hospital?

The hospital was founded by the Baptist denomination at Winston-Salem in 1921. Built in 1922 and 1923 opened June 1st. This hospital has 35 doctors on the staff representing every department of medicine; 45 nurses, 7 graduate and 38 student nurses, and can care for 100 patients.

Last year they spent $45,500.00 for charity. To help them meet this tremendous demand they received from the denomination on Mother's Day $15,500, and from the Duke Foundation $8,750, a few small donations supplemented these offerings but over $19,000 had to be taken from their operation account.

This year up to June 1st, 45 per cent of the patients were absolutely proving but is by no means adequate. The present organization must be strengthened, with an enlargement of personnel and equipment and with particular attention to the need for an increase in the number of agents, and with a reinforcement of the Customs Bureau.

6. A statute authorizing regulations permitting access to the premises and records of wholesale and retail dealers so as to make it possible to trace products of specially denatured alcohol to the ultimate consumer is essential.

7. Legislative provision for the easier prosecution of petty offenses should follow logically after the recent amendment of the Jones-Stalker Act.

Comment upon the few remaining paragraphs of the Commission's conclusions and recommendation must be reserved.

The report of the Commission gives evidence of a thorough comprehension of the situation and courageous sincerity in dealing with it. It is a contribution for which the country should be profoundly grateful, pointing a way to constructive effort on the part of all reasonable men and women to the end that the common good may be served.

BREVARD SPLITS IN ETOWAH GAME HERE

The Brevard Blue Devil quintet defeated the Etowah five on the Brevard floor Tuesday night by the score of 22-17, the girls losing 35-8.

Boys' Game

The Brevard boys showed up well and easily overcame the invaders. Coach Tilson has developed a fast passing, fast running team this season, and the boys are setting a fast pace.

Morgan and Batson tied for high honors in Brevard's scoring, while Dalton led his teammates.

Girls Lose to Etowah

The Blue Devil maidens lost a hard fought game to the Etowah sextet, the game following the boys' brilliant win. Final score was 35-8.

The Etowah team was in prime condition and set a fast pace that the home team could not follow. Of no avail semed the efforts of Nicholson, Johnson and King, stellar players, against the fresh material that was continually thrown into the game by the Etowah coach.

charity. We know they are doing a great work, for seeing is believing. One of our neighbors, Mrs. James Garren, went there on the 7th of June, in such a condition that death stared her in the face. She had two major operations and came from there the 16th of July.

Is it not worth while that we, the chosen of God, urge the people to support in this worthy cause? Let us talk about it, pray about and preach about it. And let us make our offering more in the future than it has been in the past, that the needy ones in our land who come without money or price, may find means to supply their need.

gradual recovery. This plan, it is believed, will ultimately result in full payment to all depositors of the funds that were in the bank at the time of its closing.

Following is a communication addressed to the bank group by the depositors' committee when submitting the plan for consideration:

"Mr. T. H. Shipman, President of Brevard Banking Co. and the Directors and Stockholders of said Company, Brevard, N. C. Gentlemen:

"We, the undersigned committee, selected and appointed at a mass meeting of date Jan. 26, 1931 for the purpose of formulating some plan whereby it might be possible for the Brevard Banking Company to reopen, subject to the approval of the State Corporation Commission and the Chief Banking Examiner together with the officials and stockholders of said bank as well as the depositors of said bank; after careful and serious consideration of all matters pertinent to the occasion we have formulated and respectfully submit for your consideration the plan hereon outlined on the reverse side of this sheet. Be assured that it is our plan and purpose to lend our services and cooperation to the fullest extent possible for us so to do as a representative body appointed by representative depositors of said banking institution.

"Please give our tentative plan your most careful and serious consideration and we urge upon you that you report to us without delay as to your approval or disapproval of our tentative plan herewith submitted.

"Respectfully, and respectively submitted, Depositor's Committee of the Brevard Banking Company Appointed by the People by
