Getting Close

"What is your name?" an east side school teacher asked the new pupil.

"It's on my report card," replied the boy.

The teacher glanced at his card. "I'm afraid it's indistinguishable, isn't it?" he asked.

"No," said the boy. "It's Ingram."

Modern Building

Irate Landlord—What does this mean? This is a new house, and I find the door torn off!

Tenant—Well, you see, I just tied the dog to the doorknob and a cat went by.

State Rich In School Houses, Having $110,000,000 Invested

Raleigh, Aug. 5.—North Carolina had 5,835 schoolhouses valued at $110,421,315 during the school year 1929-30, of which 3,460 houses were for white children, valued at $98,946,273, and 2,365 were for colored children, valued at $11,475,042, the July issue of State School Facts, just issued from the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, shows.

While the white school houses decreased from 5,115 to 3,460 since 1904-05, the appraised value of school property increased from $2,712,112 to $98,946,273 in that 25-year period, in which the average value of the white school houses increased from $530 to $28,597, and the average value per child enrolled increased from $8.34 to $162.92. In the negro schools in the same period the number of schoolhouses showed a slight increase, from 2,261 to 2,365, while their value increased from $470,806, average value per school house $208 and average value per child enrolled $1.16 in 1904-05, to $11,475,042, average value per schoolhouse $4,852 and average value per child $44.20, for 1929-30. The 3,460 school buildings included 3,104 in the county systems, valued at $52,736,972, and 356 charter schools, property valued at $46,209,301, for the white schools, and of the 2,365 negro school buildings, 2,186 are in the county systems, valued at $4,800,496, and 179 are charter schools, valued at $6,674,546.

Eleven counties, the report shows, has in excess of $1,000,000 invested in public school property for white children, including Buncombe, Forsyth, Gaston, Johnston, Guilford, Catawba, Rutherford, Rowan, Mecklenburg, Harnett and Wake.

Transylvania county, in its white school system, had 28 houses, the total property value being $534,466, an average of $19,088 for each building and an average of $215.86 for each pupil enrolled. In the negro system, the county had 8 houses, valued at $12,371, or an average of $4,124 for each building and an average of $63.12 for each pupil enrolled. The county is fourth in white and seventh in negro school property valuation per pupil.

PENROSE PEN POINTS

The ice cream supper sponsored by the ball club was considered a success Friday night in spite of rain and mud. The team can pay out of debt from the proceeds. Everyone has the thanks of the team for any help rendered. Penrose ball team has improved much and needs your further support in every way.

Summer tourists are stopping with the following in this community: W. L. Talley, A. C. Lyday, C. F. Woodfin, L. F. Lyday and John Wilson.

Strong winds accompanying the heavy rains blew down corn and cane crops in this section and will do some damage. Rain is making a good crop in the valley, and doing pastures good.
