FORGIVING AND FORGIVEN

Then Came Peter to Him and said: Lord how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, till seven times, but, until seventy times seven—Matt. 18:21-22.

I am moved at this time, to give my readers some thoughts on FORGIVING AND FORGIVEN they are needed by us all.

There was a Fundamental Error in the question of Peter, because it implied a right on the part of man, when he forgave another, to withhold that forgiveness. But man has no such right. "What hast thou," asked St. Paul, "that thou hast not received?" In another place he said to the Christians of his day and to us through them: "Ye are not your own, ye are bought with a price." We are not our own to do just as we please, none of our faculties are our own exclusively. Of our external possessions, we are not owners, but stewards, and are just as responsible for the use or abuse of one as of the other.

Sinful man has no right to refuse forgiveness to the man or woman who has offended him, and therefore our Lord answered St. Peter's question with the proclamation of "New Commandment of Love." "I say not unto thee, until seven times but until seventy times seven."

We must always forgive, no matter how often we are offended. However much we may be wronged we must always be ready with a loving mind to forgive the offender when he shows the faintest signs of penitence. The only limit must be the man's or woman's own impotence. That does not limit us, it only limits his capacity of receiving our forgiveness and benefitting by our Christian conduct.

"There's a wideness in God's mercy Like the wideness of the sea; There's a kindness in His justice Which is more than Liberty."

For the love of God is broader Than the measure of man's mind; And the heart of the Eternal Is most wonderfully kind."

We must forgive, if we would be like God, and enter in at last to "The Rest That Remaineth."

A PRAYER

Gracious Father, open Thou our eyes to behold the unsearchable riches of Thy Grace, and increase our faith that we may make them ours, especially the grace of forgiveness. Unite us to Thee in the bonds of will and love and purpose. Out of Thy Fullness which is in Christ, give to each one according to his need. Make us wise with His Wisdom, pure with His Purity, strong with His strength and forgiving with His Love, that we may rise into the power and glory of the life that is life indeed.

Hear our hearts weak and wandering cries, and when Thou hearest, forgive and bless, for His Sake.

Dear Lord, this is my desire, I would grow in grace and forgiveness that I may be like Thee. Wilt Thou not keep my eyes fixed on Thee, not on myself? Wilt Thou not teach me how the little things of my daily life are the measures of growth.

And above all, dear Jesus, make love for Thee the power to inspire and direct me. So shall I gain Thy likeness in some feeble way even here, and at last I shall see Thee face to face when I awake after Thy Likeness. Amen.
