

SEASON OPENED FOR ALL-DEER HUNTERS

The deer hunting season opened Tuesday in North Carolina it was announced by James E. Stearns, deputy commissioner of the North Carolina department of conservation and development.

The season for hunting bucks opened September 15 and will be open until January 1. The bag limit is two in one day and four for each hunter during the entire season. Does may not be killed, as the season for female deer has been closed until September 1, 1933.

Seasons for hunting hoes, squirrels, rails and gallinules opened September 1. The season for hunting wild turkeys, rabbits and fur-bearing animals will open during November.

The North Carolina Game law passed by the 1927 legislature and amended by the 1929 and 31 legislatures makes it unlawful to hunt or trap without the proper license; to take or kill game birds and animals out of season; to take in one day or in one season more than the bag limits; or kill a female deer; to buy or sell any game except rabbits or squirrels; to take game by trap or poison, to hunt by automobile or boat, or to bait for upland game. Fur bearing animals may be trapped in accordance with state laws.

THE HEAVENLINESS OF A LITTLE CHILD

Matthew 18:4,5.

(Be sure to read these two verses.)

Some thoughts that I have been reading impressed themselves on my mind very deeply, especially as I had visited the classes of the 1st and 2nd grades at the Elementary School last week. There were one hundred and forty-one little children in the four classes.

The disciples had come to Jesus with the question, "Who is the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven?" He spoke so often of the Kingdom to them it suggested the idea of power and glory; they could not but wonder who would have the highest place. How utterly strange and incomprehensible must have been the answer Jesus gave to their question. He called a little child, and set him in the midst of them. He told them that as long as they were thinking of who would be the greatest; they could not even enter the Kingdom; they must first become as little children; and then in the Kingdom the humblest and most childlike would be the highest. And who ever should receive one such little child in Jesus' name should receive himself.

How wonderfully applicable to parents is what Jesus spoke to His disciples. In creating a family, with father and mother, God sets a little child in the midst, and in that little child He opens to them the mystery of the Kingdom of Heaven and the spiritual world. He tells them that if they want to know about fitness for its highest places, they must study the child nature. On earth they will find nothing so heavenlike as a little child, and no surer way to the highest enjoyments of Heavenly dignity than in receiving little children in His name, for in doing this they will receive Himself in whom the Kingdom is. There are three lessons parents must learn. I will speak of the first this week.

First—The Heavenliness of the little child: Wherein does it consist? Our Saviour uses one word: Whosoever shall humble himself as this little child the same is greatest in the Kingdom. The greatest will be he who thinks least of being greatest, because he loses sight of himself in seeking God and His Kingdom. The great beauty of childlikeness is the absence of self consciousness. The true child loses itself in that which is around it. The curse of sin is that it makes man, every man, his own centre, even when he seeks the Kingdom of Heaven he is still thinking how he can be greatest in the Kingdom. In the true child self does not yet manifest itself; it lives and is at rest outside of itself in the parent. It loves and rejoices in being loved; it is truthful and trustful to all around, showing itself as it is, counting upon others to be what they appear. This naturalness and simplicity of the child Jesus tells us is something heavenly; the thing in nature most allied to the Kingdom. And the lesson we need to learn is that there is nothing a parent should seek to preserve and cherish more carefully than this heavenly childlikeness. It is the secret of that beautiful calmness and serenity which is the image of the peace and rest of heaven.

The spirit of the world is very opposite with its rivalry and its ambition, its seeking excitement and possessions, it destroys all that is so beautiful and heavenly in the child, to make way for the show and self seeking that are its marks. Especially Christian parents who have the means for gratifying taste and pleasures at their disposal, are in danger of destroying the simplicity and tenderness of the child life by stimulating the desires which are of the earth and draw thither. And so in the midst of a great deal of Bible teaching and hymn singing, the very heart of true religion may be eaten out by the artificial and unchildlike spirit of the homes in which the children are reared.

Parents! Make a study of it to find out what the thought of Jesus' heart was when He spoke so strongly of the need of being childlike, as the only path to heaven and heavenly greatness. Value the childlikeness and simplicity of your little one as its heavenly beauty, realize that the little one, in its tender susceptibility of impressions is all alive to what surrounds it, to the fostering influence of the heavenly life or the withering effect of a worldly life. Believe that between the Holy Spirit who brings heaven down to us, and reveals it within, and the heavenliness of childhood there is a wonderful suitability for each other. Train your children in that Holy happy stillness which keeps the heart open to His workings, (to be continued.)

A PRAYER

Blessed Lord, open our ears to hear what Thou speakest, and our eyes to see as Thou seest. Give us hearts to beat in sympathy with Thine at the sight of every little child, and above all, our Lord, to understand and experience how surely and how blessedly Thou fulfillst Thy promise: "Who soever receiveth one such little child in my name receiveth me."

Lord Jesus, we do ask Thee for a childlike spirit. May the simplicity and restfulness, the love and the loveliness, the trustfulness and trustfulness of the child nature so dwell with us the heavenly childlikeness of our little ones may not be lost, but cherished and maintained through advancing year. Give us to feel very deeply that we cannot truly fulfill our parental calling except as in simplicity and Godly sincerity our walk with God be that of little children.

Blessed Lord, we do thank Thee that however feeble we be, and however far short our attainments fall of what we should be, in receiving a child in Thy Name we receive Thee. Thou comest Thyself to be our teacher and our helper. We pray Thee to strengthen us and all parents in this faith that we may rightly understand that nowhere are Thou nearer or more ready to bless than in the home where children are received in Thy Name, to be saved by Thee, to be trained for Thee. Amen.

BLUE DEVILS BEGIN FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Coach Tilson, of Brevard High school announced that the prospects for a football team this year are good. The high school boys have shown a decided interest in the sport, showing up for practice every afternoon ready to fight a game for the school with the same old B. H. S. spirit that has won the school many a victory and consoled her in many defeats.

The following boys are the players from whom the final eleven will be selected when the "try-outs" are complete: Bill Erwin, Roy Neil, Walter Simard, Walter Clayton, Albert Meese, Max Wilson, Everett Huggins, Joe Schachner, Jack Loftis, John Fickelsimer, Langdon English, Walter Wood, Bud Neal, La Salle Lance, Wend Duckworth, Glenn Shipman and Pug Hinton.

There are only three letter men back for service this year: Bill Erwin, La Salle Lance and Joe Schachner. In all probability Erwin and Schachner will play in the backfield and Lance in the line. A few of the other players have had little experience in high school games though the majority are new men.

Practice has already revealed that the boys know the game and they have the stuff for an unusually good team if they will apply themselves to it wholeheartedly. Though the line will be light it has some fast-steppers and should atone for what it lacks in weight by brain and footwork.

Four games have already been scheduled for the season, Hendersonville, Mars Hill, Canton and Fruitland. The first game has not been definitely set.

The Blue Devil eleven will be announced next week with game schedules to date.
