

REVIVAL MEETING DECIDED SUCCESS

Twenty-eight professions were made in a revival meeting at Dunn's Rock Baptist church conducted by Rev. I. N. Kuykendall. Ten persons were baptized into the full fellowship of the Baptist church. The meeting closed Saturday night after having continued for two weeks.

Services were held at the Turkey Creek Baptist church Saturday and Sunday by Rev. Mr. Kuykendall. Saturday afternoon a big supper was held on the church grounds, and Mr. Kuykendall was "pounded" by the ladies of the church. Over 100 people were present.

Mr. Kuykendall has held eight revival meetings since March, taking 169 members into the Baptist church and many other professions who joined the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

East Fork News

A few folks have missed our chatter and made request that we write again; so here we are. Fact is, there's been so many things happening on East Fork we couldn't afford to take time to write them all, and too, we thought some one might feel slighted and accuse us of partiality. Unless our county was running a daily paper and putting on two or three extras every week there'd be no room for all our news.

Somebody has asked why we did not give it to our present bunch of county commissioners like we did to the bunch before them. Well, for one reason, we've had a change of heart concerning county officers, and especially county commissioners. There is no crowd of men on earth who have to take as much cussing and get so little pay as county commissioners. They are to blame for all the sins and misfortunes of all the folks; for all the bad roads; for all the high taxes; for all the drunken brawls; for all the barefooted youngsters, and for everything else. The old board was cussed for getting money and spending it; for creating new offices; for paying high salaries, and for ever so many things. The present board is cussed for not getting money and putting it into circulation; for cutting wages; for not giving more people jobs—in fact they are to blame for everything past, present and future. So you see folks can't be pleased. Right here and now we're swearing off, not ever going to fuss at the county commissioners any more, strictly let 'em alone. You see we just happened to think they don't need our advice or else they would have asked it long ago. They'll just have to work out their own salvation.

We had just begun to think that all the old election sores and bruises were completely healed, when to our surprise, all at once, up popped a full crop of candidates. Fourteen months before election! We wonder what they want with offices anyway. There's no money to pay officers with and too, we'd like to know how they expect to be elected, with no money to buy votes.

East Fork is one the verge of a nervous break down. Did you know, our roads have been scraped, and what we mean is: they are worked good—honest, it is so. We can't blame you for being so surprised—we are ourselves, and afraid to get a good long breath lest we wake up and find it's all a dream.

We have no Associate Charities on East Fork, neither have we any bread line, and from the looks of our crops we won't need them for a while. Now if we can get just a bit of money to buy our children some school books and a few decent clothes we'll be sitting pretty.

Farmers are busy all day and long in the night hours—taking roughness—and soon their cane is to be worked—up. We're not fussing, for if we didn't have our crops to care for, we'd be on short rations. So we're mighty glad we have a bumper crop of everything.

ROSMAN SCHOOL IS AIDING CHARITY

By J. F. CORBIN

The Rosman School children show fine spirit in cooperating with the Agriculture boys and Home Economics girls in the canning of vegetables for the unemployed last week. The Agriculture boys and the Home Economics girls did the canning but the entire school assisted in bringing in the vegetables to be put up. The grades leading the school were the 3rd, 5th, 6th, and 7th. The citizens who gave money to buy cans with salt, kerosene for fuel, and loaned vessels to use are all to be commended for their effort in helping the less fortunate.

It seems to the writer that during these times when farm produce is hard to sell and so much of it going to waste that our community and some individual farmers are sleeping on a golden opportunity in not starting a cannery. Other communities are doing that very thing. There is nothing complicated about it and any one who will read directions put out by the Government may do it successfully.
