Name Suggested as Candidate for Governor Caused Great Flurry in North Carolina

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—A flurry was caused last week by the Charlotte Observer story from a former State official that Josephus Daniels expects to be a candidate for Governor and would make his announcement Sunday, or some Sunday soon. Mr. Daniels declined to comment on the story. People here believe he would prefer to continue as a "crusading editor," free to attack or approve, to being a State official himself, even Governor.

R. T. Fountain, cornered by newspaper men, claiming his views are now, finally gave four platform planks. He favors quadriennial re-election; full State support of the six months school, with no ad valorem tax; opposes the short ballot, except centralization only for efficiency; against all sales taxes, but considers the luxury tax the lesser of two evils. Also, he is for economy. "That's enough now. Other planks may develop," he said.

D. G. Brummit has been busy making speeches recently, but has said nothing about his possible and expected entry for governorship.

Willis Smith is back in Raleigh, bearing scars but apparently no worse off as a result of his automobile accident near Charlotte a few weeks ago. He is eloquent enough in praise of the hospitality of Charlotte people, but says nothing about his prospective candidacy. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, already announced, is visiting and speaking in several sections of the State. The stage last week was held largely by Maxwell, due to his platform announcement.

MAXWELL IN ROW WITH SCHOOL FOLKS

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—A full-fledged row is on between A. J. Maxwell, Commissioner of Revenue and candidate for Governor, and the school folks, or a school man, Supt. R. H. Latham, of the Winston-Salem schools, which gives every promise of extending to the entire school field. Mr. Maxwell had a good word for the new school law, Mr. Latham answered and criticized it in a public address, and Mr. Maxwell responded, criticizing Mr. Latham.

The subject matter of the controversy is less important than the fact that the row, smouldering for a long time, is now in the open. School folks in general, seem to fear Mr. Maxwell, thinking he is after them, and the break with Mr. Latham, a member of the State teacher body's legislative committee, indicates the war is on. Almost as a body, it is asserted, the teachers will oppose Mr. Maxwell's ambition to be governor. Apparently Mr. Maxwell does not fear them. He may figure he will get more votes from people who are with him on reduction of governmental costs, including schools, than he will lose.

AMERICAN SALES CO. OWNS PUSHELL STORE

Announcement is made that the American Sales company, big operating concern, has purchased the stock of goods in Pushell's Department Store, and will, within the next few days, conduct a sale of the entire stock, including the shoes in the Morris Footwear Department. The management of the sales company says that the stock will be sold just as quickly as extremely low prices placed on the merchandise will sell the goods.

Nathan Morris, formerly owner of the footwear department in the Pushell store, will have charge of the sale for the American Sales company, and will announce within a few days the opening of the sale, he says.

Mr. Pushell, for many years in business here, is now with The Leader, a store in Hendersonville. The Pushell family is moving to Hendersonville this week where they can be with Mr. Pushell in his new place of business.

Judson McCrary handled the transaction for the Pushell store during its transference from the former owners to the American Sales company.

WAKE COUNTY MAN GUILTY OF SHORTAGE

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—Carey K. Durfey, Raleigh broker, has been found guilty by a Wake county jury of embezzling funds entrusted to him as executor of the estate of the late Mrs. Florence P. Tucker. Judge Walter Small, presiding, postponed sentencing until this week. The penalty on the two counts, 10 others having been withdrawn, is a maximum of 10 years each in State Prison. Durfey offered no evidence in the trial.

The charges against Durfey & Marr, stock brokers, including Mr. Durfey and S. Wade Marr, charged with embezzling customers' funds, will come up later.

The grand jury returned 10 indictments against Ed Hugh Lee, former Raleigh tax collector, charging embezzlement or misapplication of $30,000 to $40,000 in city funds. His trial may not be reached this term of court.

JOHNSON MEMORIAL FUND IS GROWING

There is to be no monument of marble or granite erected to the memory of this great Christian statesman, worthy as that might seem to many who knew and loved Livingston Johnson. But his name is to be perpetuated in the Central Building at Meredith College, which henceforth is to be known as, Johnson Memorial Building.

The $200,000 which the Baptist churches of North Carolina are now undertaking to raise is to meet pressing obligations of our Baptist State Convention now due, and resting mainly on the plant at Meredith.

The churches of the Transylvania association, through their delegates to the association which met recently at Gladly Branch, voted unanimously by rising vote, to accept the obligation of raising our quota of $400,000.

The amount asked of each church is not large. And we believe there is not an active church in the association but that can, with comparative ease, raise the amount asked of it, if pastor and people will approach the task with unanimity and with a cheerful and willing mind.

I think it would be well for each church to appoint a committee at once of five or six of its most wide-awake and consecrated young women to see every member of the church and take his or her offering. And it might be well to take the name of each member and the amount of his offering. And we trust this work will be done immediately, certainly within the next three or four weeks.

And let me remind you that this is not primarily an offering to the memory of Livingston Johnson. If it were some of us might feel that the obligation is not urgent at a time like this. But this is an offering to Livingston Johnson's great Master, and yours, and mine. Let us prove the sincerity of our love to Him by gladly giving to His work.

With sincere and earnest solicitation,

J. K. HENDERSON.
