756 VACCINATED AT TYPHOID CLINIC IN COUNTY THIS WEEK

Nov. 6. All citizens who are interested in the health and protection of persons in this county from disease are urged to attend these clinics and receive the full typhoid treatment.

The clinics are being held under the auspices of the State Health Department with John E. Floyd, district sanitary inspector, in charge of the general arrangements.

Dr. Newland and Mr. Floyd were well pleased with the large number of people who desired the treatment. Dr. Newland announced Tuesday that he expected an increased number today, since the vaccination program is more widely understood and several have only recently learned of its value.

The typhoid treatment makes one immune to the typhoid germ either from water supply or from contagion by coming into contact with a "typhoid carrier."

Authorities made a thorough inspection of the water supply in Rosman and Pisgah Forest, searching for any liability of hiding place for typhoid or other germs. When any such locations were found, they were changed in a manner sufficient to guarantee complete removal of any cause of typhoid from that source.

The vaccinations are being made entirely free of charge to the citizens of the county, since it is a state and county movement, the county furnishing the typhoid serum.

County and state health officers urge all county citizens who use springs as a water supply to ditch around and above the spring, turning all the surface water away from it. The spring should be completely and sanitarily covered, preferably by cement. This prevents the water from contamination and keeps typhoid germs from entering the water. All measures should be taken in the individual home to assure sanitary water and food supply.

MORE STRICT RULES MADE FOR BANKERS

Appraisal of Collateral and Financial Statements To Be On File

Raleigh, Oct. 21—All banks, commercial, savings and industrial, in North Carolina, are required to have in their files financial statements, appraisals of collateral and real estate and certificates of title by next February 1, under new rules and regulations issued by Commissioner of Banks Gurney P. Hood, with approval of his Advisory Commission, under authority given by the 1931 banking law.

While the new rules will require extensive additional work on the part of all State banks, they will make it much easier for examiners to determine the status of any bank at any time, thus helping produce stability and helping to protect the depositors. Banks are required to have in their files the following:

Annual financial statements properly certified from those directly liable to the bank in an amount of $1,000 or more, which obligations are unsecured or secured only by endorsement.

An appraisal of all collateral to notes other than notes secured by real estate shall be made in writing by the executive or loan committee of the bank and attached to the note.

All real estate given as security to loans shall be appraised either by the executive or loan committee, or not less than three persons who are familiar with real estate values in the community, and the appraisal in writing attached to the note. This appraisal shall state the amount of prior liens, if any, on the property.

A certificate of title by a competent attorney shall be attached to each deed of trust or mortgage given as security.

mer and trucker had.

Many farmers assert that there is not another business or industry in the county that could operate upon the hap-hazard basis that farmers without a farm agent must operate. Saving in gas and oil, it is said, would more than pay a farm agent the county's proportionate part of the cost of having the agent, to say nothing of increased sales, saving of time, satisfaction in doing business in a business-like manner. The federal and state governments bear the expense of a farm agent except a few hundred dollars each year that the county is called upon to pay, and the matter of assistance in marketing is only one phase of a county agent's important work. Yet in this one item alone, it is pointed out, a farm agent would more than save the farmers of the county the sum that the county would pay to the agent.

Services of a farm agent in preparation of soil, selection of seed, balanced crops, proper cultivation as being studied all the time by experts in experimental stations, and the counsel and advice that can be obtained only in a well governed and closely studied agency, all are at the call of the farmer in a county where there is a farm agent employed.

It is said by farmers in Transylvania county that thousands of dollars worth of farm produce is lost this year on account of there being no systematic method of marketing this produce. Mr. McCall has a host of people with him in his contention that this county needs a farm agent.

TOMATO RECORD IS MADE BY RAXTER

Mr. J. H. Raxter, of Dunn's Rock section, takes the prize in the tomato growing contest, reporting that he gathered 85 tomatoes from one vine this season, and they were real tomatoes, good tomatoes, and of good size, too. To cap the climax, Mr. Raxter said that the vine was a volunteer fellow; that it just naturally, and of its own free will and accord, bobbed up out of the ground and started growing. He said that he was attracted to the vigorous looking plant, tended it at the proper time, and was rewarded with the great number of fine tomatoes taken from this vine.

It is believed that this is the record for the number of tomatoes on one vine, and Mr. Raxter's friends are asking one and all who have better records to come on with their information.
