

FEDERATED CLUBS HOLD SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION HERE

eral numbers, and solos by Mrs. Alex Kizer and Mr. Alvin Moore were greatly enjoyed.

The state president, Mrs. J. M. Hobgood, thrilled the convention with an eloquent address, in which she declared that the nation's extremity is woman's opportunity, and declared that women should rejoice in living in the present times, when the country so needs woman's service.

Mrs. Hobgood asserted that wars will cease when governments so resolve that they shall cease, and called upon the women to petition the government for relief from the heavy burden of national defense.

In eloquent language and with deep feeling, Mrs. Hobgood appealed to the women for re-establishment of the family altar and resumption of the days of prayer.

Mrs. George E. Marshall, second vice president of the State Federation, and chairman of districts, gave an outline of the ideal club districts.

Miss Frieda Hellar, representing the library extension service of the state, explained the system of circulating libraries through rural districts.

At noon the ladies of the Brevard Methodist church served dinner to the visitors, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Graybeal was elected president for the coming year, and Mrs. George Osborne, of West Asheville, was elected vice president.

Brevard Federated clubs, consisting of the Mathatasian club, the Brevard Women's Club, and the Brevard Young People's Club, met in convention here.

The program includes nine out-of-State and about 35 State speakers, the promoters hoping to eclipse in number the approximately 1,000 people who attended the first conference at High Point last November.

General sessions will be held each morning of the two days, beginning at 10 o'clock, while eight sectional meetings will be held each of the two afternoons and an evening of entertainment will feature the night

GOODMAN COMING TO PRESENT PLANS FOR COUNTY FARM AGENT

ployed, Mr. Goodman, it is known here, is especially anxious to have Transylvania county resume its co-operation with the Federal and State government in the employment of an agent.

It is pointed out that the cost to the county is small, as the Federal and State governments pay most of the expense of maintaining the office of county farm agent.

CHARLOTTE TRYING FOR BIG MEETING

Raleigh, Oct. 28—Charlotte is making a strong bid—and with fair chance of success—for the second annual Jackson Day dinner, plans for which are getting under way, according to Tyre Taylor, chairman of the North Carolina Young People's Democratic Organization, under whose auspices the dinner is held.

While plans are immature, it is expected to have several national figures, such as Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York; Newton D. Baker and Owen D. Young, prospective candidates for President, as chief speakers, while other leading Democrats of this and other states may be on the program.

Charlotte is probably the only city with a building, its Armory-Auditorium, with sufficient space for the dinner, since the Raleigh auditorium was burned, and, according to Mr. Taylor, has a good chance of being the host city.

The dinner will probably be in January or March. The dinner was omitted this year because of the long legislative session.

INDUSTRIAL GROUP MEETS IN NOVEMBER

Raleigh, Oct. 28—The second annual State-wide Industrial Safety Conference, under auspices of the North Carolina Industrial Commission, will be held in Charlotte, on November 5-6, program for which has just been issued by Commissioner T. A. Wilson and E. G. Padgett, director of safety.

The program includes nine out-of-State and about 35 State speakers, the promoters hoping to eclipse in number the approximately 1,000 people who attended the first conference at High Point last November.

General sessions will be held each morning of the two days, beginning at 10 o'clock, while eight sectional meetings will be held each of the two afternoons and an evening of entertainment will feature the night

Business and Professional Women Are Proud of Record of Their President

Miss Nettie E. Brogdon, of Greensboro, president of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is supervisor of rural education in Guilford County. At least that is the title that decorates her office door.

But to the teachers in the county schools, from the principals on down to the little girl who is groping her way through her first year of teaching, Miss Brogdon is a sympathetic advisor. The last one of them flocks to her for advice of consolation when a snag is struck in the routine of running Guilford County's schools.

To the women of the State Federation, Miss Brogdon is one of the biggest and finest women in the state. They have her pour oil on the troubled waters, they have seen her struggle with knotty problems and finally work things through to a solution, they have seen her totally ignore petty jealousies and animosities that might otherwise have flamed into serious disturbances—and they have come to admire and love and trust her. She is a real leader among women.

A native of Tennessee, Miss Brogdon was educated at Peabody College for Teachers, where she received a B. S. and a Master's degree. She did supervisory work in Maryland. During the year prior to her coming to Guilford County, she was state supervisor of education in Florida. She has been rural supervisor of Guilford County for the past five years. Her professional experience has also included college teaching. She has served as a member of the faculty of Peabody College for Teachers, Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Western State Teachers College, the University of Maryland and North Carolina College.

Miss Brogdon holds numerous responsible offices in educational and civic groups. She is state chairman of the Supervisors Group this year, as well as vice-president of the Northwest District of the North Carolina Education Association. Numerous times, she has appeared on the program of the National Education's Association's programs, and she was a member of the committee on the rural

MATHATASIAN CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. WILLIS BRITAIN

The Brevard Mathatasian Club met at the home of Mrs. Willis Brittain, Thursday afternoon, October 22 at 3:30 o'clock, with 12 members present.

Miss Florence Kern had charge of the program which dealt with "U. S. Relationship with Nicaragua." Mrs. J. B. Jones was appointed as official delegate to the Federated Woman's Club District held at Brevard Institute, Tuesday.

The Club will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Jones with Mrs. L. B. Haynes in charge of the topic, discussing the "Monroe Doctrine" on Thursday, the 12th of November.

MISS NETTIE E. BROGDON

school child of the the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection.

After serving as president of the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club for two years, Miss Brogdon was appointed state education chairman, an office she held for two years. The State Federation was elated when part of Miss Brogdon's recommendations as education chairman were adopted by the National Federation's education department. This is Miss Brogdon's first year as state president of the business and professional women. She has set as her slogan for the year's work "plan your work, and then work your plan."

W. J. REESE IN BUSINESS FOR HIMSELF AT ROSMAN

W. J. Reese, for many years in charge of the electrical work on the Silversteen plants in the county, has been named as representative in the county for General Motor products, including the line of radios, the Delco lighting systems, and Delco pumps. While accepting this new agency, Mr. Reese announces that he will continue to work on electrical jobs as needed in the Silversteen plants.

Mr. Reese is a native Transylvania county boy, and bears fine record in electrical work of all kinds. His many friends predict great success for him in the new business which is located at Rosman. He says he wants the county people to have the same conveniences that the town people enjoy, and with installation of his plants, such conveniences may be enjoyed by every rural citizen.

YOUNG HENDERSON RECOVERING FROM SUICIDE ATTEMPT

full information of Henderson's act. The highway had been closed, and the only road into that section on top of See-Off was by way of the old Becky Mountain road, steep, rough, and uninviting to automobile travel. Many citizens of the town, learning today for the first time of the near-tragedy, have paid compliments to Dr. Lyday for his many trips over the rough road in ministering unto the young man.

It is said that young Henderson, and a beautiful young woman living nearby were engaged to be married and that a misunderstanding arose which so depressed Henderson that he sought to take his life. It is now reported that the wedding bells will ring as soon as the young man has recovered, and that this certainly is making rapid improvement possible.

DR. BRINKMAN SAYS WAY LEADS TO GOD

"When the people of Brevard and Transylvania, the State and the Nation realize that they are leaving the biggest things of life undone—when a realization comes to the people of this land that God is a revengeful as well as a loving God, then and not until then will prosperity come," said the Rev. Dr. G. C. Brinkman, at the Brevard Kiwanis club meeting last Thursday. "People, generally speaking," Dr. Brinkman told the Kiwanians, "are literally 'laying down' in their support of the Kingdom and its work—both morally and financially. This, in my belief is the chief reason for our economic ills. The people have turned their backs on the Most High, and He in turn is meting out just punishment."

Dr. Brinkman, a superannuate of the Methodist church, who has chosen with Mrs. Brinkman, to make Brevard his home, is recognized as an authority on church questions and things pertaining to theology. He was invited to speak at the club by the program committee, and asked to use as his theme: "Brevard, from a Minister's Viewpoint."

Launching out into his subject, Dr. Brinkman charged that the people as a whole were to a great extent, likened unto the Children of Israel, who in the day of plenty, when things were running smoothly, when the nation was being looked upon as typical of aspired leadership among the peoples of the world—they began to look upon themselves as all-powerful, independent of any leadership but that which was man-made. The precepts of the Almighty were looked on as a task, and so with the people today, a falling off of church attendance and financial support is seen on every hand.

"When we are ready to come back to the footstool of the Galilean, when we are ready to exert our best for the church and the things for which it stands; when we are ready to give of our time, our means, our worship, then and not until then, will the promise given by the Master become effective when He said: 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

BIRTHDAY PARTY ENJOYED WEDNESDAY

Catherine English, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. English, celebrated her 13th birthday with a lovely party at her home Wednesday afternoon from 4:00 until 6:00 o'clock.

Many enjoyable games were enjoyed by the 15 children present, after which the charming little hostess served refreshments of candy, nuts, jello and cake.

The guests were: Jimmie Barrett, Dorothy Allison, Dorothy Schachner, Yvonne Robinson, Wilhelmina Hinton, Ora Holt Long, Pauline Hartsell, Hazel May Mills, Ruth Fulton, Katherine Fulton, Malva Tharp, Betty Loftis, Rachel Hamlin, Jane Whitmire, and Ethelyn Pickelsimer.

IN MAYOR'S COURT

Clarence Bagwell was tried before Mayor Ramsey, Tuesday afternoon for fighting. He was found guilty and fined $7.50 and costs or 10 days on the streets.

EXTRA SESSION OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Raleigh, Oct. 28—Special session of the General Assembly was urged upon Governor Gardner last week by two groups, one of time merchants, interested largely in tobacco acreage reduction, headed by Senator W. G. Clerk, of Edgecombe, and the other, headed by E. G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce interested primarily in cotton acreage reduction legislation.

While many are urging the session, others are just as insistent that the special session not be called, including the North Carolina merchants, who believe business and industry would be strangled by the prospect of another seige like the first five months of this year. Josephus Daniels continues to urge legislative action, suggesting this state is "seceding" from the South, in not following Texas and two other states in reduction of cotton acreage by legislation, or Louisiana and South Carolina, which would prohibit cotton planting.

Governor Gardner heard the two groups, and told them that he would do what, in his judgment, is best for the most people of the State. He said with the children and understand them more when they have worked and talked with the parents. The parents and teachers discuss together the problems of the students and are enabled to perfect many ideas which they may correct any faults the child possesses.

It was announced this week that the Association will sponsor the sale of Forget-Me-Nots, benefit of Oteen Hospital for soldiers on Saturday, November the 7th.

The officers of the Association are: Mrs. S. P. Verner, president; Mrs. Roy Long, vice president; Mrs. A. B. Galloway, secretary, and Mrs. Roland Whitmire, Treasurer. Through this excellent staff of officers, each meeting is arranged with splendid programs of an interesting and instructive nature to both the parents and teachers.

The Library committee composed of Mrs. Oliver Orr, Mrs. J. B. Jones, and Prof. J. B. Jones secured in the name of the Parent-Teachers Association over a thousand books contained in a Traveling Rural Library for distribution over the county schools. Approximately 50 books have been placed in each county school and upon a date to be set later, each school will exchange with another, the process being repeated until all the schools have access to the complete library. This is the third year the Rural library has been used in the county and it has increased in number of books every year.

The library is composed of books for children from the first to seventh grades and it supplies the pupils with library advantages found heretofore only in the Rosman and Brevard schools. It contains books of fiction, science, travel, and other subjects of value to the young student.

HIGHWAY DEPT. HAS BIG CASH BALANCE

North Carolina's general fund showed a cash balance of $875,500.32 on the last day of September, while the highway funds showed a balance of $7,387,553.99, according to the combined statement of the Auditor and Treasurer, issued by Governor Gardner as director of the Budget.

The State's total debt is shown as $179,611,371, which includes $2,502,371 in temporary loans and a funded debt of $177,109,000, of which $109,237,000 is in highway bonds to be paid by automobile and gasoline taxes, and $1,800,000 in bridge bonds, to be repaid from tolls.

he had talked with other governors at the Yorktown celebration the week before, and none of the others have any thought of calling new or other special sessions. While the pressure is great from some sections, Governor Gardner is known to be against calling the legislature together in any times, fearing the result.
