"THE LAND OF FRIENDLY BOYS AND GIRLS"

Editor CHARLES MCCALL Associate Ed. WALTER GREENE This Business of Being An Editor

Two students of Balsam Grove School have learned well the meaning of the word "editor." Being a town editor may be easier than being a country editor.

We have been getting out our little newspaper for several weeks in connection with our English work in school. To make it better, we have decided to offer it to The Brevard News for publication and to the other schools for their criticism.

Of course we have not said much in this issue about our school, but we'll tell you about it in the issues to follow. Our reporters in the several grades have handed in so many personal items that our space was taken up with that. But we believe our folks will be glad to see their names in our paper—so probably we'll please them better by our personal news than we would have by school news.

Many Cattle Driven From Our Section

Mr. John Wilson, from the lower end of the county, drove a herd of nice cattle from our section this week. The animals have been ranging on the government land since last spring. He helped some of our folks by buying some cattle from them. We would be glad to sell some more. Of course we do not know much about the price of beef out in the world, so we usually sell at the price we are offered. One thing we do know, however, and that is—the market man and the cafe man get much more for their beef than we get for ours. But let that be as it may—we're not kicking, and neither are our cows.

Large Crop Being Gathered

Our people have been busy for some time, taking care of their large yields from the farms. Much of the necessities of life have been produced and almost everything is being put in safe keeping for the future. Your writer was down at Uncle Jimmie McCall's one night last week and heard him say that he was getting tired working with apples, and that he had put up 400 bushels of nice apples. Uncle Jimmie has a fine orchard. The 400 bushels does not represent the whole apple crop. We saw a truck from South Carolina haul away several loads. It was not a common South Carolina truck, but a big looking truck.

One thing is lacking on our farms and that is cabbage. There is scarcely any cabbage that we've seen. So we'll resort to deer, bear, wild turkeys, etc., for our soups this winter, and try not to envy the fellow who has those nice looking cabbage we saw elsewhere the other day.

OAKLAND NEWS ITEMS

Lake Toxaway Baptist church was host Sunday afternoon to the Upper District Associational convention of the B. Y. P. U., with the Rosman group having charge of the program. Members of the church and friends were delighted to have the visiting friends and enjoyed to the fullest the instructive and inspirational talks. Among the speakers were Rev. Paul Hartsell, pastor of the Brevard Baptist church, Mayor R. H. Ramsey, of Brevard, Rev. J. E. Burt, pastor of Zion Baptist church, and others.

Mrs. I. S. Sanders and Mrs. Clarence Norton were out Saturday investigating a rumor that a family had moved into our community who was in destitute circumstances. From their report, it is hard to believe that any one could be reduced to such a (I will call it poverty) state. A man and woman and two boys compose the family. The woman is in great need of medical treatment, and the man and boys are in need of work. If we were allowed to express an opinion we would say it is a case for the county doctor and county authorities to look after. Anyone wishing to investigate the circumstances of this family call on either Mrs. Norton or Mrs. Sanders. The family recently moved here from South Carolina, it is reported.

I. S. Sanders and son, Ray, were in Brevard on business one day last week.

Gus Galloway of Greenville, spent Saturday night with his sister, Mrs. Mary Burgess. Kile Galloway returned with his father to Greenville Sunday for a short visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Galloway.
