

PRUNING-KNIFE IS USED BY GOVERNOR

Only 70 Per Cent of Allotment for Expenses Will Be Available

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—Stringent economy is required of all State departments, institutions and agencies for the next quarter in a Budget Bureau memorandum signed by Governor Gardner, as director of the Budget, and sent to heads of divisions by Henry Burke, assistant director, as the old year closed. The memorandum announces that allotments are cut to about 70 per cent of the appropriations made by the General Assembly, which were themselves lower than was comfortable.

The State has paid its semi-annual bonds and interest due January 1, about $6,000,000; recently paid about $500,000 in Confederate pensions, and paid the approximately $3,800,000 a month for schools, largely teacher salaries, and is reaching a low point in balance. Governor Gardner has arranged to refund the $2,300,000 in short term notes on the deficit at the end of the fiscal year, in order to carry on until more revenues are realized.

Revenues the first six months of the fiscal year, just ended, showed an increase of about $1,800,000 over the same period last year, but are short of the anticipated revenues, which were boosted about $4,500,000 for the year to take care of the increase due to State operation of schools, inheritance and income taxes declined, while franchise and license taxes increased. The new merchants license tax, paid by 16,600 of about 25,000 merchants, is $220,000 for the half-year. A drop of probably a million and a half dollars, probably to $5,000,000 is expected in the income taxes due March 15.

Notice

Property owners owing street assessments were given due notice on November 1st that accumulated interest on said assessments must be paid during the month of November and in the case of those who have paid nothing on principal, at least one payment on same must be made in addition to paying interest charge.

We have seen fit to grant a further extension through the present month but all property on which these assessments and interest charges have not been paid will be advertised on the first Monday in February and sold on the first Monday in March as the law directs.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN
of the Town of Brevard

Selica News Notes

Many of our folks are very much encouraged by the organization of the Union Sunday School at the Selica Methodist church. We elected C. R. Sharp superintendent, and J. W. Dickson, assistant superintendent. The rest of the officers are very efficient, and every body is invited to be present every Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

Mrs. Lem Brooks, who has been ill for some time, is still very sick.

The many friends of Uncle Dave Green who reside in this section, offer their sympathy in his bereavement. Mrs. Green died last week at her home near Namur.

The midweek prayer service for January 13, will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Walker Galloway, conducted by Julius Lance.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope Lee and children visited Mrs. John McKinna Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Simpson and Walter Cairnes were callers in our section Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Bentley gave a dance at their home Saturday night. A large number of people attended.

Selica B. Y. P. U. closed indefinitely Sunday night.

Mrs. Crate McCall of Cashiers, was a visitor in our burg last week.

Mrs. Will Price of Brevard, has been spending a number of days with her aunt, Mrs. Lem Brooks, who is in failing health.

Rev. Jack Eldridge preached an interesting sermon at Cathey's Creek church Sunday. Rev. Mr. Eldridge's preaching as supply until a regular pastor is called.

The Stamey Creek prayer service will be at the home of Calvin Stamey on Thursday evening at seven o'clock.

Uncle Lambert Gillespie of Cherryfield, was a church visitor with us Sunday.

The many friends of Mrs. George McKinna will learn with regret of her serious illness.

Ed Barton, who has been away visiting for some time, returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Roxie Dunn visited her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Nicholson of Sapphire, Sunday.

Newton Teague, of Lake Toxaway, and Freeman Galloway of Calvert, were visitors of Clyde Barton, on Sunday.

Frank Gaither, of the Men's Bible class of Brevard Methodist church, made a splendid talk at Selica Methodist church Sunday. His topic was: Seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you. A large congregation was present.

CORN SOLD AS PORK MAKES BIG MONEY

All surplus corn should be converted into pork. Records kept on 13,788 hogs by county farm agents during the past six years proved that corn sold as pork has returned an average of 62 cents a bushel more than its local value.

"Had 25 percent of the corn crop of the past four years been sold as pork at the current price paid for hogs, it would have returned $22,140,20 more than its market value as corn," declares W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at State College. "Again this year, every farm should by all means grow all the park needed for that farm. Many waste products can be supplemented and used as hog feed, but hogs which are intended for either home use or market should be limited to the number sufficient to consume the feed available for them. A market hog pays for its feed only when it is gaining in weight at a substantial rate. When not gaining, the market hog is going into debt for what he eats."

Mr. Shay urges every farmer in North Carolina to keep one good brood sow this year for each 150 bushels of prospective surplus corn. Breed this sow as nearly as possible on the first of May and the first of November. Full feed her pigs a properly balanced ration from the time they are four weeks of age until they are sold. Sell them at a weight of 200 pounds and over during March and April or again in August or September.

The man who can grow corn cheaply and at good average acre yields and will stick to this system year in and year out regardless of the price of hogs or the price of corn will make money for himself and his farm, says Mr. Shay.

NEW CONSTITUTION TO PROVIDE SCHOOL

Warren Would Include Six Months' State Support In New Paper

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—Inclusion of a provision for complete State support of the six months constitutional school term in the new Constitution is suggested by Congressman Lindsey Warren, member of the N. C. Constitutional Commission, in session here Friday and Saturday, adjourning to meet three days soon after March 15.

Representative Warren's suggestion would also provide for a new Board of Education, composed of citizens named by the Governor, and not State officials, as at present, taking the place of the State Board of Equalization. It would be further extension of the "short ballot," which some of the members of the Commission seem to favor. A citizen of the United States votes each two years for a Congressman, each four years, indirectly, for a President and Vice-President, and twice in six years for Senator. "Why should he vote for all State officers?" some of the members ask.

The commission gave out the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Constitutional Commission is as yet only at a stage of hearing suggestions regarding proposed amendments to the Constitution of North Carolina and assembling and weighing evidence, data and opinions regarding these various proposals; therefore be it

"Resolved that it is, has been and will be the policy of the Commission to take no action, favorable or unfavorable, regarding any proposal until our entire program can be considered as a unit, and carefully thought out reports developed on each feature of such a program.

"2. That we request the friendly cooperation of the press in making this attitude clear to the public."
