Synopsis
 Comedy-drama of the sunny South, in 3 acts, by Lillian Mortimer; 5 m., 7 w. Time, 2 1-4 hours. Scene: 1 exterior throughout, the dooryard of Mammy Celia's cabin in the Virginia mountains. Rose, an orphan, has been brought up by her Aunt Hester, an aristocratic but austere maiden lady of the Virginia mountains. The love which the little girl craved has been given her by dear old Mammy Celia. To retrieve the family fortune, Miss Hester has betrothed Rose to Wade Carver, a wealthy but hard-hearted neighbor. Daniel French, from the city, meets Rose by chance, and romance comes quickly. This brings about a quick tangling of the plot and many tense situations, yet a vein of comedy is also provided in delightful fashion. The cast is unusually attractive and will appeal strongly to artistic players. It includes three capital comedy roles: the shiftless old dandy Joe; a gawky, unwilling Romeo; and his more-than-willing ladylove.

PROF. R. L. MOORE TO DELIVER ADDRESS

The Graduation address will be delivered by Prof. R. L. Moore, president of Mrs. Hill College, Friday, April 22, at 8 o'clock p. m., in the Rosman High school auditorium.

AN OMISSION

Mr. Bush of Rosman high school wishes to give Miss LaVerne Whitmire's average for her high school career, which is 97.9. This average was left off in last issue due to error in typing.

ROSMAN TAX RATE REDUCED BY ACTION OF TOWN BOARD

The aldermen and mayor of Rosman held a meeting recently for the purpose of reducing taxes, and as a result enough has been saved to pay the policeman's salary, with the exception of $24. The tax rate was reduced from 40 cents to 25 cents on each $100 valuation. The aldermen and mayor each were reduced from $36 per year to $12, and the policeman's salary from $90 to $50 per month.

This is a saving of $576 per year, and the mayor commends the aldermen very highly for taking this step in saving expenses.

REVIVAL TO BE HELD AT ROSMAN METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday night, March 6, at 7:30, a revival meeting will start at the Methodist church. The Rev. E. E. Yates, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. J. E. Furt, will conduct the revival. The public is cordially invited.

OUTING ENJOYED

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Glazener and family, Coy Fisher, and Victor Sigmore, spent Sunday at Frozen Lake, in Old Toxaway. Dinner was cooked in the old grist mill at the head of the lake. The evening was spent on the lake boating. This lake is the property of D. L. Winchester, and was completed last week. It covers about 12 acres of ground.

More Work to be Done to East Fork Roads

The State highway has sent a road scrape and a steam shovel up on East Fork roads.

The scrape has been working for a day or so and the shovel has been getting sand and rocks out of the river.

This means quite a lot to some of us that come to school. After walking two miles, I catch a bus and ride seven miles over a rough mountain road. It's right important to us that the State keep the roads passable.

BILL DOCKINS, 7th grade.

Skippy

A neighbor of ours has a little dog. His name is Skippy. He is white with black ears and black spots on his back, and is so small that when he barks it sounds like a mouse squeaking. For fun and exercise he plays with kitty or someone's shoes. I claim him for my pet.

HELEN SUMMEY, 6th grade.

Our Chapel Program

The fifth grade is going to give a chapel program in the auditorium March 4. We practice every evening in our room during our study period. Mary Singletary will announce it. There are eight characters in the play called "Billy's Awakening." We also have a stunt and a dialogue. We are trying very hard to make our program interesting to the audience.

GENEVA PETIT, 5th grade.

Signs of Spring

We see many signs of spring as we go along the highways or through the woods. We see flowers of different kinds. The little dandelions and violets are peeping along the paths. The magpies are showing their red buds, and before long they will be in bloom. The daffodils and yellow bells are blooming in the flower gardens. The pussy-willows and alders are nodding in the breeze on the creek banks.

In the mornings the birds wake us with their sweet songs. The Robin Red Breast industriously searches for worms on the lawn while out in the chicken yard an old hen clucks to her fluffy baby chicks.

So by all these signs we know that spring is on her way, and will soon be here.

LUCILLE GALLOWAY, 5th grade.

My Goats

I have two goats, one large one and one small one. They are not gentle. I like to watch them run. They will eat corn, leaves, grass, and many other things.

GERALD ALLISON, 4th grade.

Going A Hunting

One evening I wanted to go hunting with my new rifle. I had not gone very far when I saw a rabbit. I shot at him but he only sat still. It seemed that I could not kill a rabbit at all so I started back home. On my way back I put up a spot and shot at it. I could not hit it easy, but after shooting two or three times I hit the spot in the center. I shot again and missed the spot but I skinned the tree which the spot was on.

A. P. BELL, Jr., 4th grade.

The Mount Vernon Schoolhouse

Long ago George Washington's step daughter married and had two children. Their names were George and Nellie Curtis.

One day George Washington went riding. He wore a pretty blue coat, a red vest tan pants and brown boots. As he came home he stopped at the school house and got his two grandchildren. The little boy had on a purple velvet suit and the little girl had on a pink silk dress.

George and Nellie did not have a tablet to write on. They did not have a pencil like we have. They had a slate and slate pencil. They had a teacher all of their own. He was Tobias Lear.

George Washington loved his grandchildren. They loved him, too.

ALICE GLAZENER, 3rd grade.

Spring

Spring is coming very soon. Then the pretty flowers will bloom and the birds will begin to sing in the spring.

HOWARD LANCE, 3rd grade.

WE HAVE A CLASS NEWSPAPER

We shall give you a copy of our newspaper for the past week.

THE CRACKERJACK NEWS

by Second Grade

February 22

Today is Washington's birthday. A friend sent us a large picture of him. It hangs in our room. We enjoy the picture.

We have been reading stories and poems about Washington. Miss Ballard has told us many things about him.

We shall try to be kind and true like Washington.

February 23

Paul Whitmire is sick today. We miss him. We hope that he will come back tomorrow.

Fazel Barrett, Ora Owen, Lucy McCall, Helen Whitmire and Frances Padgett were luncheon guests of the second year Home Economics class. They enjoyed the treat. The fresh strawberries were very nice.

February 24

We are reading a new book. We enjoy the stories. The pictures are very pretty.

February 25

Yesterday afternoon we were invited to the auditorium. We saw Mr. Wallace, the magician. He did lots of tricks. We enjoyed the visit. Kenneth King was tardy today.

February 26

Today is the last day of this school month. We shall try to work harder next month.

This has been a nice week. We have had sunshine every day.

Norman Morgan is sick today. We hope that he can come back to school Monday.

We saw a funny sight before lunch. We saw the janitor's little boy taking his dog to ride. The dog was standing up in a red wagon. The little boy was pulling the wagon. We watched them until the bell rang.

Miss Waters, had forgotten her lunch.

Jack Edens who was very much distressed over the matter said, "I'll go home and bring you a bucketful." We are very happy in our room, because we have up our new Easter borders.

THE PRAYER CORNER

(From The Files of Long Ago)

SOCIAL RELIGION

Read St. John 15:18-21. 1st John 3:113.

The eyes of the world are upon us Christians and we do either bear in our own bodies the marks of the Lord Jesus, or we do not.

We think too lightly, much too lightly, of the name Christian—This is partly because we do not recognize how much we influence, and what large part of each of us takes in the forming of society. Our religion is a social religion. We are members of a church, which professes to have as its object the redemption of the whole of mankind. We boast that nothing human is alien to Christians.

This is perfectly true, because our Lord is the Son of Man. But this carries with it an enormous responsibility. Our religion is to be applied to the whole of human life. It is not over and done with by private self examination as to particular sins; nor yet by joint acts of worship or good works within the circle of church people.

Just as Israel's prophets were concerned about the sin of Babylon and Tyre, so much more, (because of the incarnation) are we concerned with the life of all mankind.

Again we are not to think that the spiritual life is some narrow affair to be fed by Bibles and Christian ministers and church sacraments. It is the life of the human spirit, trained for better, or for worse, nurtured or starved by every book, poem, play and picture, by music and art, by a thousand influences.

"No man liveth to himself or dieth to himself." We are social animals. We have social minds. We are members one of another. Religion, if it is to be alive (and if it is dead it has ceased to be religion) must be applied by each and by all to the SOCIAL LIFE.

PRAYER FOR SOCIAL RELIGION

O Christ of God, whose name we bear, may we never forget that the eyes of the world are upon us, and that if we would be Thy disciples in deed and in truth we must be childlike and possess the childlike qualities: sincerity, simplicity, humility, and gentleness. By these qualities we shall remind others of Thee, and that is what a Christian is, one who is like Thee.

May we never think too lightly of the name we bear. If we do, it is partly because we do not recognize how much we influence and what a large part each of us takes in the forming of society.

Let us never forget that our religion is a social religion, that we are members of a church which professes to have as its object the redemption of the whole of mankind, for Thou O Christ of God, are the Son of Man, and nothing human is alien to us as Thee.

O give us grace to realize the enormous responsibility this thought carries with it that our religion is to be applied to the whole of human life. It is not over and done with by private self examination or particular sins, nor yet by joint acts of worship or good works within the circle of church people. Just as Israel's prophets were concerned about the sins of the nations without Thee, so much more, because of the Incarnate Son, are we concerned with the life of all mankind.

God grant that we may never think that the spiritual life is some narrow affair to be fed by Bibles and Christian ministers, and church sacraments. Bringing home to our hearts the fact that it is the life of the human spirit, our spirit trained for better or for worse, nurtured or starved by every book, poem, and play and picture; by music and art; by a thousand influences.

Remind us constantly of the momentous saying of St. Paul's, that "No man liveth to himself, or dieth to himself." That we are social animals, and have social minds that we are members one of another, and that religion if it is to be alive, must be applied by each and all of us to our SOCIAL LIFE.

God grant; our Father, for the sake of our beloved Lord and Master who came not to be ministered unto but to minister, and who died for all, that they who live should henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him who died for them and rose again. Amen.
